Republicans in Council at the Grand Pacific.

ADOPT TANNER'S PLAN.

Every Farm Section in the State to Be Organized.

SENATOR CULLOM PRESENT.

Clark E. Carr of Galesburg in the Senatorial Fight.

PROTECTION FOR WOMEN VOTERS.

After listening to a little oratory from the candidates yesterday morning the Republican State committee, which met at the Grand Pacific Hotel, settled down to a hard day's work. It adopted Chairman Tanner's farm section plan of organization, selected Edward Westman as an advisory member of the committee to represent the Swedish Republicans of Chicago and ex-Sheriff C. R. Matson to represent the Norwegians, assured the women that they would have protection at the polls, referred a lot of matters to the Executive committee, which will meet today, heard reports from over the State, and then adjourned.

SENATOR CULLOM SURVEYS THE SENATORIAL SITUATION.

The meeting was satisfactory, the reports good, and from the standpoint of the members of the committee the prospects of the Republican party this year are as bright as the rising sun. Dan Hogan reported that down in the southern part of the State Democrats were making affidavits that they would vote the Republican ticket, and assured the committee that to his knowledge 300 of these affidavits had been obtained in one county, and had been placed in a safety deposit vault to be kept until election day. Senator Cullom reported on the general situation as viewed by a man at the National Capital.

Attendance Is Good.

Every district in the State was represented. Those present were:

First District, T. N. Jamieson; Second, Charles S. Deneen; Third, John R. Tanner; Fourth, S. H. Case; Fifth, M. R. Harris; Sixth, E. C. Hamburg, representing W. T. Ball; Seventh, Henry

Houston Smgleton of Decatur, member-at-large, and also W. C. S. Rhea of Marion were absent, but Mr. Hogan spoke for the Twenty-second District. Secretary C. A. Partridge and Assistant Secretary Charles A. Stone were also on hand.

There was also quite a gathering of prominent State and local politicians, including some of the candidates on the State ticket. Henry Wulff, the candidate for State Treasurer, and S. M. Inglis, the nominee for Superintendent of Public Instruction attended the meeting. Others about the hotel were Gen. John I. Rinaker of Carlinville, who is the Republican candidate for Congress in the Sixteenth District, W. W. Tracy, President of the National Republican League; ex-Lieut. Gov. Ray, President of the Illinois State League; W. I. Griffin of Lee County, Judge J. A. Cornell and William Lorimer of Aledo. Albert Campbell of Effingham, J Otis Humphrey, Chairman of the Republican committee of Sangamon County.

Among the local people were Prof. Lindahl, ex-State Geologist; John Goderholm, editor of the Hemlandet, a Swedish paper; Edward Westman, ex-Ald. Martin, Thomas E. Millchrist, ex-Gov. Hamilton, J. M. Southworth, Samuel Erickson, John F. Scanlan, John C. Spry, John Worthy, Robert Muir, William Thieman, and D. A. Campbell.

Senator Cullom on Hand.

Senator Cullom came in from Washington early in the morning and occupied a suite of rooms on the parlor floor during the day where he received his friends. Little was said about the corridors regarding the United States Senatorship farther than a little gossip which was coupled with the name of ex-Minister to Denmark Clark E. Carr of Galesburg. There is no doubt but Mr. Carr is a full-fledged candidate for the caucus nomination and there was more or less said regarding his recent speech at Galesburg in which he replied to Mr. MacVeagh's speech of acceptance at the Springfield convention. This speech was favorably commented upon and Mr. Carr is regarded as a man who will make a strong showing in the caucus.

The morning session of the committee was devoted to hearing speeches from the candidates. Senator Cullom was first called upon to address the committee. He spoke chiefly on the tariff, but first devoted some attention to the recent acts of the National Legislature, President Cleveland, and the Democratic administration generally, giving the committee something of a report as to what had been going on at the capital. Then he took up the tariff and emphasized upon the committee that this subject was still the principal issue. He held that the passage of the present law, which he said the President had the courage neither to sign nor veto, was a big step in the direction of the Democratic free trade policy and that it meant lower wages to the workingman. He said certain manufacturing interests had already taken steps to reduce the wages of their men and others were preparing to close their shops altogether. He did not paint a glittering picture of the prospects of the party, but said that the indications at Washington seemed to be that the Republicans would be successful in many of the Congressional districts this year as well as at State elections.

Other Words of Cheer.

Gen. John I. Rinaker followed and spoke of the situation as it appeared to him.

Judge Cornell of Aledo analyzed the situation to some extent and said the doubtful votes in this State held the balance of power. Henry Wuiff and S. M. Inglis also addressed the committee.

At the afternoon session a committee composed of Miss A. A. Abbott, Mrs. L. B. Shattuck, Mrs. G. W. Plummer, Mrs. G. F. Washburne, and Mrs. J. S. Crane, representing the Cook County Woman's Educational Association, was given a hearing. It desired to be recognized as an organization and wanted to know what aid could be expected from the committee. After the committee had retired it was decided to assist the movement, and Dr. Jamieson was sent out to inform the committee that the women would receive protection at the polls and that the details attending their voting would be looked after, such as the preparation of the ballots, etc. They were also encouraged to go ahead and organize, but their organization will be kept independent of the regular organization.

Tanner's Plan Adopted.

Chairman Tanner then presented his plan of organizing the party for the fight. It is simply another division beyond the precinct plan. Instead of beginning with precincts the idea is to organize the voters of each section of land. This will not apply to the cities, but will be thoroughly worked in country towns. Much time was given the matter, and after it had been thoroughly discussed for several hours it was adopted.

In reference to the ruling of Secretary of State Hinrichsen that in Congressional and Senatorial districts within judicial districts where the Republicans did not name a candidate at the last judicial district election the Republicans will have to certify their nomination by petition the committee decided to refer the matter to Walter Reeves. He will look up the law upon the matter and write an opinion and present it to the Executive committee. If the Secretary of State is correct

HIS WILL IS TANGLED.

JOHN M'CAFFERY'S TESTAMENT PROVES TO BE A MYSTERY.

Testator Died June 1 Worth $500,000 and from Reading His Last Wishes as Set Forth in His Will the Executors Are in a Quandary — Strange Document Creates Much Comment—A Family History Which Extends Over Three-Quarters of a Century—Where Are the Heirs?

The will of John McCaffery, which was probated June 14, is one of the strangest legal documents ever filed in the Probate Court of Cook County. The testator was one of the oldest business-men in Chicago. He died June 1 at the age of 86, leaving an estate valued at $500,000.

The will is full of surprises and strange provisions. Since its probating an interesting state of affairs has been brought to light. As those who are interested legally and otherwise probe deeper into the mysteries which surround the case the interest deepens. The will, which was drawn by Clayton E. Crafts, will probably be contested. A long legal fight is expected.

The first provision of the will is the naming of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank as trustee and executor and transferring of all property of the estate to the bank.

Then Mrs. Mary Ann Baker is bequeathed $3,000 a year and her child or children given $3,000 a year, with a legacy of $40,000 when they become of age. This to be divided share and share alike.

Then follows a provision for "my son, John McCaffery." He is given the family homestead, an annuity of $2,000 a year, and a legacy of $40,000 to be paid when he reaches the age of 21 years.

Then the testator's sister, Mrs. Ann Brown, is bequeathed $100 a year, payable quarterly.

Next follows a provision by which Thomas Kelly of the Drainage Board, an old friend, is given $5,000.

Some Strange Features.

Then the will reads as follows: "At the expiration of five years from my death said trustee shall divide so much of my estate as is not needed to pay the legacies and annuities and to carry out the terms of this will among my lawful heirs then living, in such proportions as they would be entitled to by law as such heirs if this will were not made, provided that the child or children now the descendents of any such child or children of my daughter Mary Ann Baker, nor my sister, Ann Brown, nor said Mary Ann Baker, nor said Ann Brown shall receive no part nor portion of my estate at such or any subsequent division thereof aside from the annuities and legacies hereinbefore provided for them, but in determining who my lawful heirs are at such or any subsequent division of my estate they and each of them shall be omitted from the list of my lawful heirs and the said division shall be determined the same as though they had never existed.

"After the payment of all the legacies and after the termination of all the annuities above provided for my trustee shall divide the balance of my estate among the same persons or their heirs as are permitted to participate in the first division. In making said divisions of my estate said trustee may convert my estate into money or apportion it in kind as my trustee may deem best."

The next paragraph provides for the care of the vault in Mount Greenwood Cemetery.

Then John J. Mitchell is appointed guardian of John McCaffery.

A paragraph expresses the wish that Clayton E. Crafts be employed as attorney in al matters pertaining to the settlement of the estate and in hurting up the lawful heirs. The witnesses are George A. Philbrick and George M. Stephens.

Codicil Is Added.

The following codicil was added Jan. 5, 1894:

I do hereby declare that I had five children by my first wife, whose maiden name was Dawson, being a son named William McCaffery, a daughter named Nancy McCaffery, and three other children, whose names I do not now remember.

That I had two children by my second wife, whose maiden name was Douglass, being a son named Henry N. Douglass McCaffery and a daughter whose name I do not now remember. These seven children are in addition to those specifically named in my last will and testament to which this is codicil. JOHN MCCAFFERY.

Witnesses { JAS. T. GIBBS, ROBERT BOYD.

While the attorneys and trustees do not pretend at present to see their way clear to an understanding of the will, they think it is quite evident the testator wished the bulk of his property to go to children, some of whose names he had forgotten, to the exclusion of relatives more distinctly in evidence. The main body of the instrument, which was written under the date of Aug. 29, 1892, disposes of but a small portion of the property. The codicil appended a few months before the death of the testator bequeaths the bulk of the fortune to children by two former marriages which the testator states took place over fifty years ago, and of which, it is said, no one in Chicago ever had any knowledge previous to the reading of the will.

At the time of the testator's death it was generally supposed his only immediate heirs were a sister and a daughter, both of whom lived in Chicago. The sister is Mrs. Ann Brown, a widow 72 years old, who lives at No. 1288 West Congress street. She has a large family and all are in poor circumstances. The testator bequeathed to this widowed sister an annuity of $100 a year.

Only Known Daughter.

The only known daughter was Mrs. Mary Ann Baker, wife of W. S. Baker, a Chicago business-man and a former partner of John J. Mitchell, President of the Illinois Trust and Saving Bank. Mrs. Baker died a few days ago and was buried yesterday at Greenwood Cemetery. She was given an annuity of $3,006 a year. Her "child or children" were bequeathed an annuity of $3,000 a year and a legacy of $40,000 to be paid when they became of age. The affairs of the estate were further complicated by Mrs. Baker's death. Her only child is an adopted daughter, 14 years old. Owing to the wording of the will it is considered a question whether this daughter can inherit.

Another strange provision of the will is that of an annuity of $2,000 a year and a legacy of $40,000 which is given to a boy 11 years old, who is mentioned in the will as "my son, John McCaffery." This boy was born not long before the death of the third Mrs. McCaffery. He is now living in the family residence, No. 3616 Western avenue. He is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Howard. Howard is a saloonkeeper on Ashland avenue. Mrs. Howard is a niece of the third Mrs. McCaffery. She was housekeeper for the testator a number of years before her aunt's death and has lived in the family residence ever since. Her maiden name was McCahill and was married to Howard July 8, 1888. The family residence is willed to this boy by the testator when he shall arrive at the age of 21, with free use of the same until that time. To this boy, it is said, will fall the bulk of the estate in case none of the heirs of the former marriages is found. John J. Mitchell is named by the testator as the guardian of the person and property of the boy.

The boy is now at Whitewater, Wis., with Mr. and Mrs. Howard. Concerning him a relative of the family who is not named in the will said last night:

"No one knows who this boy's father or mother is, or at least the circumstances of his birth have never been made public. He appeared first as a small baby at a farmhouse at Seventy-first street and the Grand Trunk tracks, owned by McCaffery. He was afterwards adopted, it is said, by McCaffery."

The Illinois Trust and Savings Bank is named as executor and trustee of the estate. The officials of the bank are much in doubt as to how the estate will finally be divided. Since the reading of the will every effort has been made by at least two firms of attorneys as well as the bank officials to trace the missing heirs. The testator says he was the father of several children by a wife whose maiden name was Dawson. The bank officials have been told these children were born in this country and that half a century ago they went to Ireland. It is believed one of them, a daughter, returned to this country. Whether she is alive is not known. Three of the first family of five are said to be dead. Thus all five are accounted for, with the exception of one, of whom a sensational story is told. W. C. Baker, son-in-law of the testator, says the last time he ever spoke with Mr. McCaffery it was relative to this child, who, he says, was known as Nancy Riley, and who, it is alleged, was kidnaped in Ireland and taken to Scotland more than fifty years ago.

The second wife, whose maiden name was Douglass, had two children by McCaffery. One was a son named in the will as Henry N. Douglass McCaffery, and a daughter whose name the testator could not remember. These were born in North Carolina and, it is said, are both dead. This wife had several children by a former marriage, some of whom are now living. These are being sought for by a number of attorneys and, if found, may be able to throw some light on the whereabouts of that branch of the family.

How Was It Framed?

How the will came to be framed in its present shape is a question which has aroused much interest among interested parties and lawyers. It is said Judge Tuley refused to draw the will in its present form. It is also said several business associates of the testator believe he could not have been in full possession of his faculties when the will was drawn.

McCaffery's relations with his family here, though sometimes strained, were supposed to have been generally pleasant until about the time of the death of his third wife, with whom he lived for more than forty years. Her maiden name was McCahill. She first married a man named McKune, but was widowed before she met John McCaffery. W. S. Baker, the son-in-law, says no legal proofs exist that the testator was ever married to his third wife by religious or civil ceremony, though there will be no difficulty in proving a common-law marriage, as her name appears on hundreds of legal documents and on the court records as "Ann McCaffery, wife of John McCaffery." He also says many legal papers are in existence dated prior to 1850, in which the testator's name appears as "John McCaffery, bachelor." On this and other evidence said to exist the validity of the former marriages may be attacked and the courts asked to set aside the will.

Just before Mrs. Ann McCaffery died, eleven years ago, there was a serious misunderstanding in the family over some proposed disposition of the property. The aged couple, then both over 70 years old, quarreled. The wife left home and went to live with the daughter, Mrs. W. S. Baker. She was taken ill while at her daughter's residence and died suddenly. While the woman was ill her brother, Michael McCahill, came to see her. He said at that time, it is told, he was the only living witness to her marriage with John McCaffery. A short time later he was found, dead at his bench, where he worked as a shoemaker. Mr. Baker has been unable to find any other evidence of the marriage.

Case of the Aged Sister.

There are those who think that the provisions of the will are unjust. The case of the aged sister, Mrs. Ann Brown, is cited by them. They say the old woman was probably the most faithful and unselfish of the testator's friends and relatives. She gave up many years of her life to his service and got little or nothing in return. It was believed by many that in his last hours he would reward her by leaving her a comfortable annuity. In his life he had given her $10 a month. In his will he leaves her $100 a year, payable quarterly. A relative who visited her recently says she is in poor circumstances.

Mrs. Baker's recent death and the long illness which preceded it have prevented Mr. Baker from giving much attention to the estate left by the father-in-law. He is much broken in health and quite unfit for hard work. He has, however, placed the case in the hands of a number of attorneys, and is likely to give notice of an intention to contest the will. The officials of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank say they expect this.

One of the officers said last night the only light thrown on the case by the investigation was the discovery that the two children named in the will as the fruit of the second marriage formerly lived in North Carolina, but it is believed both have been dead several years. There is plenty of evidence to show that some of the missing heirs were living a few years ago. Among the effects of the testator are a number of papers which prove their existence. The evidence, however, is vague, and a long search is expected before any of them can be found.

Crafts May Know About It.

Clayton E. Crafts, the attorney who drew the will, is out of the city. He is said to be in search of one branch of the missing family. He is thought to be in possession of the secrets of the life of the testator. Until he returns nothing can be learned of that side of the case. In the meantime the attorneys representing the estate of Mrs. W. S. Baker and Mrs. Ann Brown are working hard in their efforts to clear up their tangle of evidence.

Much of John McCaffery's life history will probably ever remain a mystery. He was born in Belfast, Ireland, June 22, 1808. He came to America when a boy and spent some years in North Carolina, where he grew to manhood and became a contractor on public works. He went to Virginia and was one of the contractors on the James River and Kanawha Canal. Subsequently he lived in New York, and was a contractor on the Erie Canal. This was all prior to 1840, and during that time he must have contracted the first and second marriages alluded to in the will. When he came to Chicago his life was that of a successful business man. He was always reticent concerning his past, and frequently remarked that the only property he brought to Chicago was the marks of the "spotted fever." His success in business was almost phenomenal. He made money in contracting, in real estate, and in the banking business. He was a director in the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank for twenty-three years, and held the same position with the Grand Trunk road for a shorter term of years.

STARTLING STORY CONCERNING MR. AND MRS. W. K. VANDERBILT.

Dispatch from Paris Says Reports Are Current Among American Friends of the Couple That Normal Negotiations Are in Progress for a Judicial Separation—At Newport, It Is Said, the Rumors Have Been Prevalent Over Two Years.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

PARIS, Aug. 28.—[Copyright, 1894, by the Press Publishing Company, New York World.]—For a month past definitely stated reports have been current among American friends of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt in London and Paris that normal negotiations are in progress between them for a judicial separation. Failing that, it has been said there was a probability of a suit for divorce on the part of Mrs. Vanderbilt. There is no doubt Mrs. Vanderbilt has consulted friends as to the advisability of instituting such proceedings.

The name of Nelly Neustretter, a well-known woman living in Paris, though of Dutch birth, is mentioned in this connection, with what authority is not known. She has recently established herself in expensive apartments at the Café Madrid, Paris, and at Deauville with an elaborate entourage of servants.

The domestic difficulties between Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt reached almost a climax last spring, when the party on the splendid yacht Valiant broke up in the Mediterranean under circumstances which at once widely separated all its members. Mrs. Vanderbilt went to England, where Scott Murray's beautiful estate, Danesfield, near Henley, on the Thames, had been rented for her. Mr. Vanderbilt remained in Paris for the first months of summer, but recently has been at Deauville, returning to Paris last Friday.

In June Cornelius Vanderbilt came to London to interpose his strenuous offices to stop further and especially public proceedings, but was unsuccessful in restoring peace, and returned home. Mrs. Vanderbilt committed her interests to Col. William Jay of New York, who, with Mrs. Jay, has been at Danesfield until last week. He is now at Homburg, Mrs. Vanderbilt being also in Germany. Col. Jay is to be in Paris Sept. 15, as a guest of James Gordon Bennett.

A formal proposition has been made by Mrs. Vanderbilt for a separation on terms of an annual allowance of $300,000, the custody of her children, and the possession of the three houses at Newport, Islip, and in New York.

A man in a position to be cognizant of all the facts states that Mr. Vanderbilt opposed no objection to a separation, but offered much less favorable terms than those asked by Mrs. Vanderbilt. His proffer has been refused by her, and further definite discussion awaits the arrival in Paris of Col. Jay.

Mr. Vanderbilt was seen today at the Hotel Continental, but declined to discuss the matter further than to say no proceedings in divorce had been taken by him.

IT IS NO NEWS TO NEWPORT PEOPLE.

For Over Two Years Talk of the Vanderbilt Affairs Has Gone On.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The talk of the domestic infelicities of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt at Newport extends over a period of two years or more, and as far back as that time the probability of a separation was the gossip of the place. Two summers ago W. K. Vanderbilt turned up at Newport on his yacht Alva, and later was on it when it was run down and sunk in Vineyard Sound. A few months after this Mr. Vanderbilt, who is an enthusiastic yachtsman, went to England, where he remained while his present yacht, the Valiant, was being built. Last summer at Newport the chatter was incessant.

When Mr. Vanderbilt returned to his new yacht gossip was silenced by the announcement of plans for a long yacht trip with Mrs. Vanderbilt and other well-known persons in the party.

Curious stories have reached here of quarrels aboard the yacht, which are said to have resulted in the abandonment of the cruise at an early stage and the entire breaking up of the party.

Mrs. Vanderbilt has told her friends, and is said to have written to them also, that she has no intention of returning to Newport for years, and that the Marble House, which cost $1,000,000 to erect, and which her husband settled on her, would remain closed during that time.

It was a matter of general surprise yesterday to friends of the Vanderbilt family who happened to be in town that the domestic troubles of William K. Vanderbilt and his wife should have reached the point where a judicial separation becomes imminent. It has been no secret for some time that trouble has been brewing. Mr. Depew first heard

ALBERT M'RAY KILLED BY A STONE.

Fight Among Stock-Yards Men Results Fatally—Woman Held for the Killing.

A fight among Stock-Yards employés last night in the rear of No. 4119 Ashland avenue resulted in the death of one man and the injury of three others.

The Dead.

McRAY, ALBERT, laborer, lived at Thirty-fifth street and Ashland avenue, struck on the head with a stone, died while being taken to his home.

The Injured.

CASSIDY, PATRICK, badly bruised about body and left arm cut, taken to County Hospital, will recover.

DUNWORTH, WILLIAM; No. 4119 Ashland avenue, right arm broken in three places; taken to County Hospital; will recover.

GLEASON, PATRICK, badly bruised about the body; taken to Mercy Hospital; will recover.

Mrs. Lizzie Dunworth was arrested. The police claim to have evidence that she threw the stone which struck McRay. The police also arrested Philip McGrath, Michael Hurley, William Dunworth, John Ring, William Ring, and Michael Donahan. The Dunworths live at No. 4119 Ashland avenue, and seemed to have formed a center for all the turbulent spirits. Last night the six men who were afterwards arrested, with those who were injured, gathered in the rear of the house to drink beer. While they were there Patrick Gleason, accompanied by John Marshall, entered, a dispute arose over the strike, and Gleason was accused of being a non-union man and of having taken the place of a striker. This was the signal for a general fight, as Gleason resented the imputation. Gleason was set upon and beaten. Mrs. Dunworth and her brother, Philip Cassidy, who were aroused and ran out, Cassidy thinking Dunworth was in danger, took a hand, and Mrs. Dunworth, it is alleged, caught up a stone and hurled it at the crowd. McRay, who was running up to the assistance of Gleason, was struck. A wagon load of officers came down Ashland avenue. The fighting was stopped and the participants tried to get away. A few of them succeeded and the police are still looking for them. They are particularly desirous of finding Marshall, who was Gleason's companion. Dunworth was arrested, but his broken arm made it necessary for an officer to accompany him to the County Hospital. Mrs. Dunworth denies throwing the stone.

Blunders Made About Hawaii, Silver, and the Tariff.

REPUBLICANS ARE SOON TO RULE.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—And now they have gone, this Senate and House of Representatives—gone, with only three months more of unhappy life left in them. What are we to say? One year of almost continuous session, and what have they done and how have they done it? The Republicans cannot use the language of reproach, of invective, or abuse. The whole vocabulary has been exhausted by themselves speaking of themselves. We cannot hope to equal, in commentng on the Senate, the tremendous and effective words of the President of their own choice. If we were to search the whole dictionary of diatribe we could not equal the charge of party perfidy and party dishonor, made by the President against the Senate and received by the House of Representatives, with its 100 Democratic majority, with cheers and applause.

If we were to comment upon the President and his action we could not use language half so damaging as Democratic Senators used in open Senate with uplifted hands, asseverating the truth of personal betrayal and personal bad faith. If we were to comment upon the House of Representatives and its leaders we should be deemed guilty of gross partisanship if we used even their own words in describing their own actions.

Queer Position for a Critic.

What a condition for a partisan critic to be in—to be obliged in common decency to use softer words about his enemies than they use about themselves. And the enemies are not saints in embryo, beating their breasts and confessing their transgressions to reach the heights of sainthood through the depths of sin. O, no! They are simply earnest men standing by the broken business of a whole country and trying to tell who destroyed it, and having met success we obviously cannot use any language of reproach or of harshness. Earlier and (for that purpose) worthier hands have gathered all those laurels. All we can say is that all the three sides are probably right. The President and Senate have told the truth about each other and the House about itself.

With this simple expression of faith in their veracity let us turn to a slight review of what they have done. There is no doubt that this review will be as distasteful and unsatisfactory to the majority of honest Democrats as to Republicans themselves. Whatever good there has been done has been spoiled in the doing. If the House has yielded to the dictates of a long denounced common sense and adopted proper rules, it was only after all sound precedent had been violated in the attempt to avoid the necessity. If the Congress has repealed the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, it was only done after such long delay as has deprived the country of any advantage the repeal might have given it. Nor has the mystery of the collapse of the compromise and the connection of the President therewith ever been cleared up. Whether he consented to that compromise or not is not for me to say. That is a family secret, but it is no family secret that that compromise was not repudiated until after the Republican members were sounded and it was clear that they would have no part or lot in it. Two such misunderstandings as these between the President and Senate, if Republican, would have caused a sensation as of burned woolen among the people. But the Democracy has limitations as to morality very much enlarged. That party seems to realize what Gen. Butler said in jest, "That nobody was truly unassailable until his character was gone."

That Perfidious Tariff Bill.

The tariff bill of "perfidy and dishonor" has become a law, and an interesting law it is. How a Democratic Senate, believing in the platform of its party, could have passed it, how a Democratic House could have passed it, having a hundred majority, is simply incomprehensible. How the President could have permitted it to become a law is simply an impossible study in human nature. How can the country reconcile this action with its former estimate of him. He was deemed by a very large part of the people as a man of sound common sense and of great will power. The reputation for good sense certainly had a shock in the case of the Sandwich Islands. And business is likely to suffer from the contrast between the letter to Wilson and the surrender to Gorman. I was not one of those who expected such a result. Surrender was in the capitulation. He ought to have handed in his side arms and signed the bill. If he did not consent, then, by both House and Senate, he has been pronounced to be not even a factor in the transaction. Hereafter the President, instead of standing on a mugwump and unreal pedestal, must be reckoned with the rest of them, and the regrets will not all be on the Democratic side.

Wilson's Foolish Measure.

The truth about the Wilson bill is that it was a foolish bill when it went out of the Ways and Means committee, and was made still more foolish in the House. It had neither policy nor practice, and yet it has been erected into a golden calf to be worshiped by party conventions, and that, too, with the consent and approval of their own Moses. The Senate bill does have some regard to the business of the country in spots, but it will prove a failure like the other, though not to the same degree. The strikes in Fall River, New Bedford, and elsewhere over the cotton schedule, said to be the best ever made, show, as a prominent Democratic capitalist put it, that "labor has got to liquidate." Stocks have liquidated—that is, gone down one-half—except sugar. Labor is to do the same. But there will be this difference, stocks are submissive, laborers are not.

Already the free traders are spreading all over the country lying statements of how much cheaper carriage cloth, cashmere, worsted, coatings, challies (but not sugar), will be hereafter because the tariff tax is taken off. Well, those operatives in Fall River and New Bedford will buy none of them this week at least, and the operatives all over the country will buy fewer of them after labor has liquidated. "Liquidated labor" will buy very few carriages to get the benefit of cheap carriage cloth, and will indulge very seldom in union melton coats, and the men who make the equivalent of carriage cloths and union meltons—the product of our woolen mills—will be lucky if they are not "liquidated" into the tramp gang.

Those Threats of Free Trade.

The process of liquidating has begun, and when it is ended, what then? More "liquidation." Does not Wilson, Chairman of the Ways and Means committee, declare the fight has begun to end only in absolute free trade? Does not Mills reëcho the same thing in a bewildering meditation, which seems to indicate that a citadel is outside the city gates, but the tenor of which is unmistakable? Does not the President himself in his latest contribution to the complete letter writer tell us that this act "furnishes a vantage ground from which must be waged further aggressive operations against protected monopoly and governmental favoritism"? The President must have referred to protection to American industry, for he usess the sacred language of his guild. He could not have meant sugar, as in his last published epistle with most lovely but unmistakable circumlocution he exhorted the brethren not to be frightened at that and was as tender to it in a veiled way as he was and is openly for its brother tenant of the same hotel floor, the Dominion Coal company.

Why should we comment on the popgun bills? They sleep side by side in the havens of rest. It is bad to be dead, but it must be disgusting to be a dead humbug. They cannot even hang on to them little shreds of hypocrisy for which they were intended. Mr. Carlisle has smoothed even the hillock on the graves. The world enjoys very greatly the Democratic denunciation of trusts today. And how good all this talk is. The deeds of these people may not be all that the decalogue demands, but their language is. Their votes are wrong, their actions are fatal, but fling out the banner and war cry of "St. Pecksniff and down with monopoly," and the public will forget the sugar trust they did aid, and even the coal trust they tried to aid.

Apt Parallels Quoted.

History does not lack parallels. Said the Rev. Mr. Stiggins of blessed memory: "All taps is vanities," and yet down the reverend throat there coursed its way a "vanity" which had sugar in it. "Warm, my dear young friends, with three lumps of sugar to the tumbler." "I left Baby Charles and Steenie (the Duke of Buckingham) laying his duty before him," said King James of the reprobate Delgarno. "O, Georgie Puglins, Georgie, it was grand to hear Baby Charles laying down the guilt of dissimulation and Steenie lecturing on the turpitude of incontinence." The President clings, almost to weariness, to his free raw material. What is there in it? Nothing but fantasy and delusion. What defense is there for protection at all except in the broad doctrine that this country should do its work and exploit its own resources, or on the broad doctrine that full wages should be paid its workmen? Are not the men who dig coal out of the mines as worthy of encouragement as the people who toil in-mills?

One thing cannot be reiterated too often and I touch upon it again. This country is weary almost unto death of these disputes about tariff. We are above all things weary of this long inaction and uncertainty. We were ready to seize at anything if only it were a finality. "Give us something we can figure on and let us alone" was the cry. But, alas! even that repose is denied us. The leader in the House declares we shall have no rest. The leader in the Senate still talks of storming the citadel, and the defeated President, subdued and, as he says, taking his place among the rank and file, "With one voice proclaim a new agitation and a new crusade."

Free-Traders Not Appeased.

More than that, Mr. Cockran and Mr. Tom Johnson, and all the outspoken brave men who would have fought the act to its death proclaim their undying hostility thereto. Whatever the Democrats think of each other, whatever they say of each other, however much they may differ as to details, they are united everywhere in the struggle for the overthrow of the bill, now become a law after two years of the unhappiest uncertainty. We are promised two years more unless the House be wrested from the grasp of these men, and the hands of Mills and Wilson, of Cockran, Johnson, and the President are staid. But the American people will take care of that—not Republicans alone, but honest, sensible people of all parties and of all faiths. One year and a quarter of such government will suffice for half a century. Men begin to see now that the prosperity of this country was not a matter of course, a thing which happened of itself, but was the result of sensible measures, of a sound system, and a wise forecast. However short the Republican party may have come of perfection it governed on the whole wisely and well, and we shall soon see its like again.

THOMAS B. REED.

ALLISON TALKS ON THE NEW TARIFF.

He Thinks That Wages in Certain Industries Will Surely Be Reduced.

DUBUQUE, Ia., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—An interview was obtained today with Senator Allison, who arrived home last evening. He says of the new tariff it will provide ample revenue, although not large at first, so much spirits have been taken out of bond to evade payment of the increased tax. The sugar duty, though taking effect immediately, will not produce much revenue before the new crop appears, as the refiners of sugar have been importing raw sugar in huge quantities, and large cargoes have arrived during the ten days that the bill has been in the hands of the President. "The bill as it passed the House originally would have left a deficit in the revenues of probably $25,000,000, and would have practically destroyed our industries and created widespread disaster. The Senate bill undertakes to protect many of the larger industries, such as iron and steel, cotton, wool, glass, and other industries, so that by a reduction of wages of workmen most of these larger industries may be able to go on. So in this respect the Senate bill was a very great improvement on the House bill, but I fear the threat of the President, which I find in his letter published this morning, will have a disastrous effect, as it shows that the doctrinaires and theorists propose to continue the agitation. This letter of the President is singular in another respect. The President was advised with and consulted at every step of the progress of the bill through the Senate increasing duties and gave his approval to these amendments as the best practicable way of securing a united Democratic vote in the Senate for the bill. It was well understood the Democratic Senators from the States of New York, New Jersey, Maryland, and Ohio could not vote for the Wilson bill without destroying the great industries of those States, and the Democratic party in those States as well. Hence the modifications in the Senate as respects the great manufacturing industries of iron and steel, glass, cotton, and woolen goods, etc. This bill deals unjustly with great interests and industries, especially as respects agricultural industries, such as wool and the like, and deals unjustly with the great body of toilers of the country, whose wages will be reduced according to the degree of reduction of duties giving protection to them."

WOOL AND SUGAR VALUES UNCHANGED.

The New Tariff Has Little Effect on These Commodities.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—There was no change in the price of either wool or sugar today. A wool expert declared the stock in bond in this country at the beginning of business today was about seventy millions of pounds, of which only about six millions are stored here. There will be no material change in the price of wool until about the 13th of September next, when the great colonial wool sales will be held at London. The prices that rule then will fix the prices for the United States for some time to come. The sugar trust has anticipated the tariff bill and gradually shoved up the price of granulated until it reached five cents per pound. This will bar out foreign competition. Wool was recently advanced in London three pence per pound, and it is firmly held.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—New Orleans accepted the change in the tariff laws very quietly. The principal items affecting New Orleans in the new bill are sugar, bagging, tin, and salt. The Southern Pacific company, which operates a line of steamships between here and Havana, has laid off half of its boats because the American Sugar Refining company has announced its intention to bring in no more sugar until January. The only other industry that is said to be much affected adversely in New Orleans is that which embraces bags and burlaps. The bagging people say it is a question whether their factories will not have to shut down in the face of the admission of the finished foreign product sans duty.

SAGE TALKS OF WHISKY TRUST LOAN.

Morris' Refusal to Sign Prevented the Combine Getting the Cash.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The chief interest in whisky today was from the stock brokers' standpoint, and much less general interest was taken in the dealings than heretofore. The dealings in the stock this morning were conducted by the clique of houses who handle the accounts of the speculative interests in the company, and the general idea prevailed they had the market pretty much to themselves. Mr. Sage again stated that the unwillingness of Mr. Morris to become responsible for the big loan sought by the trust was one element in their failure to get it. An officer of one of the banks interested in the negotiations says: "One of the difficulties in regard to the distillers' loan was the fact that the collateral could not, apparently, be put in such shape as would have enabled lenders of the money to foreclose and sell the goods at once if such action became necessary to protect the loan. There seemed to be some difficulty about giving what might be called a clear title to the collateral."

There was a report in circulation that the Distilling company proposed to test the constitutionality of the government's right to increase the tax on spirits already held in bond. Something was said about a Supreme Court decision which could be interpreted in this way, but it was difficult to find any one who knew about any such decision. It was learned from an inside source this afternoon that the holders of spirits will pursue the following policy with regard to the increased tax: Both the trust and all other dealers who have spirits in bond will combine for the purpose of fighting the increased tax. They will, it is stated, base their case on the ground that inasmuch as they were compelled when they first put the spirits in bond to give notes for the payment of 90 per cent at the expiration of three years at the limit that it is manifestly unconstitutional to raise the tax.

Hundreds of clever operators are puzzling their heads to find out just what percentage of fact and what of bluff there is in the recent doings of the whisky magnates in their play of the tariff bill against the market. The conviction has become almost a certainty that there was a cleverly planned campaign of plunder against the Wall street people by the whisky insiders. The whisky insiders are not, in the opinion of the street, averse to acting on the dog-eat-dog policy. One explanation of the vagaries of whisky prices in the last few days is that there were two sets of insiders. One was Greenhut et al. and the other was Nelson Morris, with such associates as he cared to take in. The latter really held the key to the game as the whisky men were playing it, when the pretense of asking a loan from Russell Sage was gone through with, and Mr. Sage asked two banks to stand ready to honor his checks for cash. This was the chance for Mr. Morris, as the comparatively gilt-edged name in the list, and he played the game with an active stock market at his elbow. First he would sign, and the 20,000 shares, which he might easily have taken in hand from 17 to 24, would have netted about $140,000 profit. Then he pouted and said he wouldn't. Knowing that the pout was coming, he might easily have sold short an equal amount at 24 or 20 and leave his associates, whether fellow directors, speculating brokers, money lender-in-chief, or associate bank officials who knew of the deal, loaded at 23 and upwards, while he could cover his short sales at 19, to which point the stock dropped when his name was withdrawn. This short turn would yield another $100,000 profit.

LITTLE WHISKY TAKEN OUT OF BOND.

Withdrawals at Pittsburg Not So Great as Had Been Expected.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The quantity of whisky taken out of bond in anticipation of the additional tax of 20 cents under the new act, which went into effect last midnight, has not been so great as supposed. Collector Kearns said today he had only received about $2,000,000 in taxes out of $20,000,000 worth of whisky in bond. "The market is glutted," said Mr. Kearns, "but the whisky is in strong hands. The surplus will be worked up in from four to six months, and will not hold out a year."

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Not a gallon of spirits was withdrawn, and the total revenue collections were but $48, the smallest in the history of the Peoria district. Trust officials embraced the opportunity to go to the races, and there was nothing doing around headquarters.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 28.—Two million playing card stamps were applied for at the revenue office here today. Only 30,000 were on hand, and they were distributed so as to go around to all applicants. Not a dollar of whisky tax was paid today, the first time in the history of the office.

MEXICANS LIKE THE NEW TARIFF LAW.

Cattle and Wool Raisers Expect to Reap a Rich Harvest.

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The American tariff law is certain largely to expand with the United States, especially in cattle and wool. The cattle trade with the United States was destroyed by the McKinley tariff, impoverishing many Americans who were engaged in it. The wool trade, which, during 1885 to 1887 amounted to about 1,000 tons a year exported to the United States, and which was wiped out by the hostile rulings of the Treasury Departmeent at Washington and completely annihilated by the McKinley tariff, will spring up again. Cleveland's free raw materials policy has made him the most popular American among Mexicans.

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 28.—In the Mexican Central railway yard in Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, were more than 300 cars of silver-lead ores waiting for the new tariff bill to go into effect before transferring to the United States. Many Mexican silver mines running a high per cent in lead which closed down on account of the Windom ruling will now be opened again, and it is thought another smelter will be erected at an early date.

PREPARING TO MAKE WAGE REDUCTIONS

Tinplate and Glass Manufacturers Ready to Make a Cut.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The tinplate manufacturers will meet in Pittsburg next Tuesday to adopt a new wage scale to conform to the reduction in the tariff. The workmen will be asked to accept a cut of about 15 per cent. The window glass manufacturers, who want a reduction of 30 per cent to meet the new tariff schedule, went to Cleveland tonight. The mixers and teasers employed in glass houses will meet Thursday to take action on a proposition of the manufacturers for a reduction. In other trades the employers are getting ready to reduce wages.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Deputy Collector Woods of this district came to Logansport early this morning and began collecting the two-cent tax on playing cards. The money was given up with a good deal of complaint.

GORE BAY, Ont., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—There is activity among cedar buyers and lumbering firms on Mantoulin Island and the north shore, owing to the passage of the American tariff. A sawmill boom is on and exports to United States ports will be heavy.

LEAF TOBACCO RETAILERS TROUBLED.

It Is Feared the New Law Will Drive Them Out of Business.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 28.—Col. Dalton, Collector of Customs, was under considerable pressure today from importers who wanted to get their goods through the custom-house. It begins to appear the new law puts retailers of leaf tobacco "between the devil and the deep sea." Deputy Collector Willis telegraphed to Washington today asking for a construction of the new leaf tobacco section, and what he received in reply did not throw much light on the matter. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue telegraphed that "retail leaf tobacco dealers under the new law cannot sell to consumers." Since, under the old law, retail leaf tobacco dealers were practically restricted to consumers it would seem that this construction of the new law must drive them out of business.

Resignation of Sir Thomas Galt.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The resignation at Ottawa of Sir Thomas Galt, Chief Justice of Common Pleas, has been announced.

AT HIS OLD TRICKS.

GROVER USES QUOTATIONS, BUT, AS USUAL, GIVES NO CREDIT.

His Phrase in the Catchings Letter Anent "The Deadly Blight of Treason" Cribbed from Tom Moore—Senators Treat the Missive with Contempt—Republicans Confident It Will Help Them in the Campaign—Its Tendency Likely to Disturb Business-Men.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—President Cleveland has achieved a world-wide reputation as a coiner of phrases, through his public papers, but not always without being accused of plagiaristic tendencies. The charge by a certain metropolitan journal that the President has dipped into the encyclopedias for not only his facts but his phrases is well known to most citizens, who may therefore be prepared for the intimation that may be the President's latest literary production—his tariff letter to Mr. Catchings—is not free from the suspicion that the Chief Executive has gone into standard English literature for some of his word effects. The sentence in question is as follows:

> I take my place with the rank and file of the Democratic party, who believe in tariff reform and who know what it is; who refuse to accept the results embodied in this bill as the close of the war; who are not blinded to the fact that the livery of the Democratic reform has been stolen and worn in the service of Republican protection, and who have marked the places where the deadly blight of treason has blasted the councils of the brave in their hour of might.

Readers familiar with the works of Thomas Moore may find a responsive thrill follow the sound of the phrase "the deadly blight of treason has blasted the councils of the brave in their hour of might." In the original letter there were no quotation marks to distinguish these words from any others. Therefore, the following quatrain from "The Fire Worshipers" seems to furnish the inspiration which perhaps has caused the peculiar paraphrase in the President's letter to Mr. Catchings:

> O for a tongue to curse the slave
> Whose treason, like a deadly blight,
> Comes o'er the councils of the brave,
> And blasts them in their hour of might.

It will be noted the letter does not strictly follow the verse, but is a rearrangement of the most striking phrases of the rhyme. Explanation, therefore, would seem to be now in order.

SENATORS DISTURBED BY THE LETTER.

The President's Missive Mentioned by Them in a Tone of Contempt.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The President's letter was the only thing that excited any interest today, and was the one subject of comment at the Capitol, and interest in that even was languid. It was not read with great satisfaction by Senators. The stereotyped reply to a request for an opinion was that they had not read it. This was said in a tone of languid contempt, to indicate that they did not care. Among members of the House there was very general expression of gratification. The Republicans generally dismissed the matter with the suggestion that it was none of their affair, and a few Democrats expressed dissatisfaction, either in terms or by ill-natured silence. But most of the Democrats praised the letter with more or less warmth, and those most given to enthusiasm declared it to be the best letter he had ever written, and one calculated to help them in the campaign. Prominent members of the party, almost to a man, spoke of the letter as surprisingly apt, and worded so as to do the party the most good possible under the peculiar circumstances. They regard the letter as giving them good campaign material, picking out passages which they think they can quote in the campaign with effect. The "challenge to the trusts" and the flings at the "traitors" are regarded as particularly well sounding for the stump. Some of the Democrats who have been most urgent that he should sign the bill read the letter and say they "reckon he did the best thing, anyhow."

Views of Chairman Babcock.

J. W. Babcock, Chairman of the National Republican Congressional committee, said: "I confess I have a great deal of sympathy for the President in the position in which he finds himself. He has been humiliated by his party and obliged to give his consent tacitly to the enactment of a law which is positively against all his convictions on tariff legislation. I can readily appreciate the situation in which he is placed. The letter of the President to Mr. Catchings very positively indicates the disappointment he feels. The admission the President makes that he will not permit himself to be separated from his party to such an extent as might be implied by a veto of this tariff legislation, and that the provisions of the bill are not in line with honest tariff reform, all make it rather embarrassing for Democratic speechmakers, who will find it necessary to say that Mr. Cleveland is still 'a Democrat,' cuckooing the words of Mr. Hill. The plain admission that the President makes in his letter as to the 'communism of pelf, whose machinations have prevented us from reaching the success we deserved,' must indeed be very humiliating to him and disgraceful to the Democratic party, who are responsible for the enactment of this bill. I cannot help but look upon the letter of the President as being an excellent document for the Republicans. The tariff bill, as the President says, is 'full of inconsistencies and crudities which ought not to appear in tariff laws or laws of any kind.'"

Sperry Criticises the Letter.

Representative Sperry (Dem., Conn.), who opposed the Wilson bill, said: "I was in hopes the President would spare his party the infliction of another letter. The tariff bill is distinctly a party measure, and according to the President's letter to Mr. Wilson it is a measure permeated with perfidy and dishonor. If that is a correct description of the bill I do not see on what ground the Democratic party can ask to be continued in power any longer. It seems by the second letter to Mr. Catchings that the tariff fight must be continued. This position must be very disquieting to all the business interests of the whole country. The Democrats this fall are placed on the defensive by these two letters, first in defending a policy of perfidy and dishonor, and second by threatening all the business interests of the country with further attempts at tariff legislation. Every campaign speaker this fall is compelled to defend his party against the allegations contained in these two letters, or else to defend the President against the allegations in the letters themselves. My own opinion of the Senate bill is that there is no perfidy or dishonor in the bill itself or in the motives of Senators instrumental in its passage. It is a more mature and equitable measure than the Wilson bill, and will produce a revenue, and that is what a tariff bill is for. It is to be hoped that the President will not write any more campaign documents for the Republican party pending the coming election."

Wilson Pleased with the Missive.

Chairman Wilson spoke in warm approval of President Cleveland's letter to Mr. Catchings, saying it was strong in expression and in the sentiments set forth. Mr. Wilson further said: "The outlook for genuine tariff reform is very bright. We have taken the first step, and that is always the hardest, and having done that much and done it perhaps perfectly, it will be easy to proceed to a full realization of tariff reform." Mr. Wilson was asked if he considered that the principle of tariff reform characterized the present act, even though the rates were not all that was wanted. "Yes," said he, "the principle is there, and after all the great struggle has been to secure recognition of the principle rather than the perfection of detail. The detail must come by the irresistible force of circumstances now that the principle is established."

"What is there," Mr. Wilson was asked, "in the assertion that a resumption of tariff agitation next winter will bring a recurrence of business unrest?"

"That is wholly unwarranted," said he. "There need be no general bill reaching all industries, so that the legislation will not be such as to affect commercial affairs generally. The tariff rates will remain stable on the very great majority of articles and it will be upon comparatively few that the perfecting of details will be necessary in order that the tariff reform placed on the statute books shall be a consistent whole."

It Pleases Free Traders.

Representative Johnson (Dem., Ohio) said: "The effect of the President's failure to sign the bill and writing a letter will be to intensify and continue the fight against protection—not protection as he puts it, but Democratic protection."

Representative Warner (Dem., N. Y.) said: "The President's letter will meet with unqualified approval from all true friends of revenue reform, and especially on the party policy there outlined and the program of aggressive action, first against trusts and then in favor of free raw materials and in favor of every other Democratic principle, to reach the fulfillment of which the ranks of tariff combination must first be broken."

Said Representative Maguire (Dem., Cal.): "I consider the letter a very valuable contribution to the Democratic literature of the campaign, because it will remove from the mind of the people generally the impression derived from the President's letter to Chairman Wilson that the tariff bill as amended by the Senate was regarded by him as vicious and its enactment perfidious and dishonorable. His present letter specifically points out his objections to the measure, while fully conceding its merit as a great step in the direction of true tariff reform and as affording a new and excellent point of vantage in the fight for Democratic principles."

DECISIONS TOUCHING THE NEW TARIFF.

Important Rulings by Secretary Carlisle and Commissioner Miller.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—Secretary Carlisle has received a number of telegrams of inquiry from customs officers as to the details to be observed in carrying the new tariff act into effect. The replies were of no special interest, with the exception of one which states on the authority of the decision of the United States Supreme Court that imported goods destined for any interior point will be considered as having been "imported" when they arrive at the custom-house at the seaboard, or, technically speaking, the arrival at the exterior port and not the interior port will govern in determining the time of arrival.

In answer to a telegram from the Boston customs authorities Secretary Carlisle has replied holding that no goods which arrived in port before midnight, Aug. 27, are entitled to entry under the new tariff act. This applies to goods under general order for which no entry has been made, and to goods in port entered, and also to goods entered for which permits have not been presented.

Commissioner Miller of the Internal Revenue Bureau has decided that playing cards used as advertisements are not exempt from duty under the new law.

Some days ago Commissioner Miller of the Internal Revenue Bureau telegraphed agents in the sugar districts to separate and identify all sugar made at factories from July 1, 1894, to midnight of Aug. 27. This having been done the Commissioner today gave the agents instructions to withdraw all government control and supervision of sugar factories. This supervision has been maintained heretofore because of the sugar bounty provision of the McKinley act, and now bounties have ceased by virtue of the new tariff bill is no longer necessary.

The Treasury Department has given notice that all custom-house brokers who apply for a license under the new tariff bill will be recognized as such brokers until their applications have been examined and passed upon.

NEW TARIFF ACT IN GRESHAM'S CARE.

State Department to Scan It Carefully Before Having It Printed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—The new tariff act was sent from the White House to the State Department at 9:30 o'clock this morning, where it will be carefully scanned and then sent to the Government Printing Office and printed in the form of an act. How the bill became an act is shown on the official records by the following statement by the President:

> Note—The following named bill having been presented to the President the 15th inst., and not having been returned by him to the House of Congress in which it originated within the time prescribed by the Constitution of the United States, has become a law without his approval. H. R., No. 4,864—An act to reduce taxation; to provide revenue for the government and for other purposes.

The work of putting the new tariff bill into effect now devolves on the collectors of customs of the several ports and on internal revenue officers and until they meet difficulties in its administration little will remain to be done by the Treasury Department.

NEW JAPANESE MINISTER IS PRESENTED

Cordial Speeches Made by the Mikado's Representative and the President.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—The new Japanese Minister, Mr. Shinichiro Kurino, was presented to the President today. The Minister and Mr. Miyioka, the Chargé d'Affaires of Japan, were brought into the presence of the President by Secretary Gresham, and after his introduction the Minister said:

> Mr. President: I have the honor to inform you that his Majesty the Emperor of Japan has appointed me to be his Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the Government of the United States. In graciously honoring me with this mission his Imperial Majesty especially commanded me to express to you his wish for your continued health and happiness and for the prosperity and well-being of the great people whose interests are confided to your wise keeping. The promotion of the friendly relations which so happily exist between Japan and the United States has always been a matter of deep concern to his Imperial Majesty, and he has viewed with pleasure the steady growth of the importance and intimacy of the intercourse between the two nations. These sentiments of cordial friendship to the United States on the part of his Imperial Majesty have also pervaded the minds of his people, so that in assuring you, Mr. President, of my desire to do what I can to draw even closer the bonds which unite our countries, while I obey the first and most important behest of my august sovereign, I likewise express a purpose in the execution of which I shall have the earnest sympathy of my countrymen. The kind coöperation which you and the officers of your government have always given to every effort to promote the cordiality and the mutual consideration which are such marked characteristics of the relations of our countries embolden me confidently to believe that I can rely upon your aid in carrying out this purpose. I now have the honor to hand you the letter recalling my predecessor and my letter of credence.

The President replied:

> Mr. Minister: The friendship which has endured between the United States and the Empire of Japan since the conclusion of their first treaty forty years ago makes it most agreeable to me to receive from your hands the letter whereby your Imperial Sovereign accredits you to this government as his Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary. I welcome the cordial assurances and wishes you express in His Majesty's name and on behalf of your countrymen for a fuller development of the ties of amity that join the two peoples, and for their continued, and if it be possible, closer intercourse, and I can assure you of the earnest coöperation of myself and my constitutional associates toward these beneficial ends. Succeeding as you do to a long line of illustrious predecessors who have won official sympathy and personal esteem among us, I can bespeak for you, Mr. Minister, no less a share of friendly cordiality than they received, and I am glad to believe the large knowledge you have gained of this country and its institutions by your previous residence here will increase your opportunities to further the good relations of our two countries, and to appreciate at their full worth the warm desires we Americans feel for the advancement of Japan in the ways of propriety and happiness.

GO HOME IN SADNESS.

CONGRESS MELTS AWAY IN A MELANCHOLY MOOD.

Never on Record Has There Been a Tamer Ending of a Session—Spirits of the Majority Cast Down Owing to the Tariff Fiasco—Tate of Georgia Carries Off the Honors as a Constant Attendant—Johnson Blocks the Scheme to Print Tariff Comparisons.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—"Died of heart failure" is about as good an epitaph as could be devised for the closing scenes of the second session of the Fifty-third Congress. There has never been a tamer ending of a session of Congress than that of today, not more than three score Representatives and a score of Senators being in at the death. In fact the fear was frequently expressed that the Senate might consider an executive session necessary in order to adjourn and this would have shut out the public from any participation in the closing scenes. Had there been any chance for statesmanship or oratory to be exhibited at the Capitol today this would have been a golden opportunity for Congressmen to show to their constituents the kind of stuff they are made of. For constituents swarmed all over the big white pile on Capitol Hill, and Senators and Representatives alike were deluged with cards for the much-coveted tickets of admission to the public galleries. Every inch of sitting and standing room was occupied in the Capitol galleries today when the noon hour arrived, and the gay colors of the uniforms and trappings of the visiting Knights of Pythias formed a very pleasant break in the somber garbs of the other occupants of the galleries.

It will be an interesting matter for many of the visitors to tell their children and grandchildren how they witnessed the demise of a Congress, but they will not have any very stirring incidents concerning the occasion, for it was without doubt one of the dullest and most monotonous proceedings in a quarter of a century which marked the wind-up today at the Capitol. On the floor of the House there were very few Democratic leaders, Chairman Wilson of the Ways and Means committee, Catchings of Rivers and Harbors, and Sayers of Appropriations being the exceptions. Gen. D. B. Henderson of Iowa sat in the front row with Gen. Marsh of Illinois, interested spectators, but taking no part in the proceedings. There was just a little tariff flurry to enliven the last hours of the House, growing out of the proposition of Mr. Richardson of Tennessee to have the tables of comparison printed for the use of Congress. It was all in vain, however, that he made the appeal for this printing in the interest of campaign speeches. Congressman Tom Johnson of Ohio, fat and jolly as ever, would not be swerved from what he considered the path of duty, which necessitated the presence of a quorum for the passage of the resolution. There were some uncharitable people on the floor and in the galleries who declared that this little scheme of printing tariff comparisons was a clever ruse to prevent the transaction of any business during the last hours of the session. If this was the intention it worked to a charm, for Messrs. Johnson and Richardson stood in the main aisle waiting for the absentees who would not or could not put in an appearance. Fully an hour was consumed in this manner in the House when a proposition was agreed to for a recess.

Meanwhile two carriages were waiting outside the building to convey the committee on the part of the Senate and House respectively to the Executive Mansion with a view to ascertaining whether or not the President had any further communications to make to Congress. It was about 1:30 o'clock when Senators Manderson and Ransom Representatives Hepburn, Holman, and Wilson of West Virginia returned to their respective bodies and reported the President had nothing to communicate to either branch of the National Legislature. There was nothing left to be done, therefore, but to close up and go home, and this program was carried out without any further hitch. During the last few minutes that the House was in session an effort was made to arrange a little junket for a subcommittee of the River and Harbor committee out to California. Chairman Sayers of the Appropriations committee was on hand, however, with a proposition that if the subcommittee wanted to go out on this trip it should be done without expense to the United States Government. "Buck" Kilgore of Texas had objected to the passage of the resolution, but withdrew his objection when his colleague from Texas suggested that the trip be made without any expenditure from the contingent fund of Congress. The objection was renewed, however, by Mr. Baker of New Hampshire, and so the project was abandoned. Representative Aldrich of Illinois had prepared an amendment to the junketing resolution which read as follows: "Provided, further, that this committee be authorized and directed to make a similar examination of the river and harbors at Chicago, Ill., under the same condition as suggested in the resolution."

During the second session, just ended, there were 308 roll-calls in the House of Representatives while Congress was doing business, and a comparison made of these roll-calls shows that Mr. Tate of Georgia only missed two. Mr. De Armond of Missouri carried off second honors with six misses, and Mr. Black of Georgia was third in this respect, having missed nine roll-calls. Congressman Brookshire of Indiana missed twelve calls, thus securing fourth place and a tie with Representative McEttrick of Massachusetts with the same number of misses to his credit. Judge Hunter of Illinois was absent from roll-call fifteen times, and his colleague, Congressman Lane, missed nineteen. In this respect Mr. Lane was only one miss ahead of Congressman Kyle, the red-haired Mississippian, who missed eighteen roll calls. Young Bailey of Texas, who makes it his boast that he will be in the House every business day, missed thirty-four roll-calls. It was reserved, however, for the last man on the list, Mr. Wright, and his colleague, Mr. Sipe, of the Keystone State, to miss most roll-calls, their scores being 270 each. Consequently they answered to their names only thirty-eight times during the second session of the Fifty-third Congress. Owing to sickness and other causes Gen. Henderson of Iowa missed 267 roll-calls, being closely pressed, however, by Mr. Gillett of Massachusetts, who scored 266. Representative Belden of New York, a member of the Congressional Campaign committee, was absent during 261 roll-calls.

LACK OF JOLLITY IN THE HOUSE.

Extreme Dullness Marks the Closing Proceedings of the Session.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—Old campaigners declared the death scene of the second session of the Fifty-third Congress the most placid and uninteresting they had ever witnessed. In the House the resignation of Representative Oates, recently elected Governor of Alabama, to take effect Dec. 3, was presented. The Speaker appointed the following committee to investigate the Ford Theater disaster: Messrs. Maddox (Dem., Ga.), Brookshire (Dem., Ind.), Pigott (Dem., Conn.), Daniels (Rep., N. Y.), and Updegraff (Rep., Ia.). The vote on the resolution to print comparisons of the new tariff law with the present law and the Wilson bill as it passed the House resulted—yeas, 71; nays, 3. Mr. Johnson (Dem., O.) renewed his opposition and made the point of no quorum. Mr. Warner (Dem., N. Y.) and Mr. De Armond (Dem., Mo.) offered compromise amendments, but they were rejected. Finally Mr. Richardson withdrew his resolution. The committee appointed to wait upon the President, consisting of Messrs. Wilson, Holman, and Hepburn, reported that the President had no further communications to make to Congress. "The President requested me," said Mr. Wilson, "to congratulate the House and Senate on the close of their labors, and to wish the individual members a happy and prosperous vacation." At 2 o'clock the Speaker, with a bang of his gavel, declared the second session of the Fifty-third Congress adjourned. Great cheering greeted the announcement.

GOOD HUMOR RESTORED IN THE SENATE

Tariff Bickerings Forgotten During the Last Hours of the Session.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—The last day of the second session of the Fifty-third Congress was attended by just a score of Senators, but a large concourse of people packed the galleries. All political differences and party bickerings were laid aside for the time being and those who were hurling bitter words at each other were today laughing and joking in the friendliest possible manner. A message was received from the House announcing the death of Representative George B. Shaw of Wisconsin. In the absence of the two Wisconsin Senators, Mr. White offered the customary resolutions of regret and the Vice-President appointed Senators Mitchell (Wis.), Cullom, Davis, Roach, and Kyle to attend the funeral. The committee appointed to call upon the President announced he had no further communications to make to Congress. Resolutions of thanks were tendered Vice-President Stevenson and Senator Harris, President pro tem.

When the hands of the clock indicated two minutes of 2, the Vice-President rose and said:

> Senators: The hour fixed for the adjournment of the Fifty-third Congress has arrived. Before making the formal announcement I cannot forbear giving expression of my grateful appreciation of the resolution personal to myself, just adopted by the Senate. For this manifestation of your confidence as well as for the uniform courtesy, official and personal, extended me I am profoundly grateful. And now, wishing each of you a safe return to home and constituents, I declare the Senate adjourned without day.

Mr. Stevenson concluded the slow delivery of his short speech with a light tap of his gavel. The announcement of the adjournment was received in silence, and within a few minutes the Senate chamber was deserted and quiet.

WAITE IS HELD FOR OPENING MAIL.

Charge Made by a Woman Removed by the Governor's Board.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 28.—A warrant was issued late this afternoon for the arrest of Gov. Davis H. Waite on the serious charge of opening and retaining a letter addressed to Mrs. Likens, formerly matron at police headquarters. The warrant was issued by United States Commissioner Hinsdale, who also issued warrants for the arrest of President Dennis Mullins of the Police Board, Hamilton Armstrong, Chief of Police, and Kate Dwyer, matron of police headquarters. The charges are opening the mail and conspiracy under Statutes 3,892 and 5,440, the penalty for which is a fine of not more than $10,000 nor more than two years' imprisonment, or both. The complaint was made by Mrs. Likens and was investigated by Postoffice Inspector McMechan. Gov. Waite created quite a scene when brought into the Commissioner's rooms, and was highly indignant. He pleaded "Not guilty," claiming he had not opened the letter, but that its contents had been read to him. The hearing of the case was set for next Thursday. When it was suggested bail be fixed at $5,000 the prisoner sprang from his chair, paced the floor in front of the Commissioner, and exclaimed: "I am Governor of this State, and these proceedings are had to interfere with me in the administration of my office. I will not give bail. You may send me to jail, but I will not give bail." Finally the Commissioner accepted Gov. Waite's personal recognizance to appear for trial in the sum of $100.

The arrest is considered in political circles as one of the sharpest campaign moves that have been made this year. There is a strong fight being made to defeat Waite's renomination, and it looks as though it would be successful. The Republicans on the other hand are anxious to have him nominated, because they are satisfied they can defeat him more easily than any other candidate. The Governor is equally anxious for the nomination, because he believes he can be elected. More than a week ago it became known a move of the kind was contemplated. Upon inquiry at the office of the Postoffice Inspector it was stated the case had been submitted, but that the evidence was so weak there was nothing in it. Today the warrant was sworn out by Mrs. Likens, a matron of the police, who was removed by the Waite board and who is a straight Republican. The lady is prominently associated with the Republican woman's leagues and her action is taken with the approval of the party managers. Republican politicians are claiming tonight the arrest will have such an effect in the country districts by placing Waite in the position of being persecuted, that his opponents will be swamped in the convention, and that he will be renominated by an overwhelming majority.

STILL LIVING LATE LAST NIGHT.

All Life Is Gone from the Limbs of John C. Gault.

John C. Gault was still living late last night, but in a condition so near death that the fatal change might be expected at any moment. He had been so for several hours, however, and there was a possibility he might linger through the night. All life was gone from his limbs, and nothing but a faint breathing indicated there was still energy at the vital parts.

IS A RECORD BEATER.

CHICAGO CUSTOM-HOUSE TAKES IN $158,529 IN ONE DAY.

Merchants in a Rush to Get Their Goods Out of the Warehouses—Government Will Lose $14,000 on Articles That Are Free Under the New Tariff—Spirited Business to Continue for a Month—A Ruling That Provokes Much Discussion.

More money for customs duties was collected by the government officials at the Port of Chicago yesterday than ever has been collected in one day since the office was opened. At the close of business yesterday Martin J. Russell said: "Today's is the biggest business for this office on record. Our collections amount to $158,529. The rush of work was expected and provided for. The clerical force worked late last night and was here early this morning. There are 116 men in the various departments in clerical capacities and they all have been busy. Owners of imported goods left in government warehouses were anxious to make withdrawals when the duty on such goods is increased by the new tariff law. By taking the goods out yesterday they avoided the increased duties."

Long before the doors of the Collector's office were opened business-men began to arrive there. Dry goods men or their representatives outnumbered those of other classes. In many instances withdrawals were made through brokers. The merchants and their representatives were on the ground long before the banks opened their doors for business, but all were well supplied with money. By 9 o'clock over $90,000 had been collected, and before 10 o'clock the sum of the collections amounted to over $100,000.

Money in Big Piles.

The huge piles of money, paper, gold, and silver, at the receivers' windows would have made the fingers of a bank robber clutch involuntarily. There were Treasury notes of $10,000 and many of the $1,000 denomination. Then there were gold coin galore and bushels of silver. One of Marshall Field & Co.'s withdrawal orders was accompanied by fifty $1,000 Treasury certificates and another order, given by a custom-house broker, was accompanied by five Treasury notes for $10,000 each, which were issued one year ago today.

Collector Russell said the new law was a reduction of 20 per cent all around on dutiable goods. The government will lose about $14,000 at the Port of Chicago by the fact that before the law passed there were goods in bond, the duties on which amounted to $14,000, but which by the terms of the new law are made free of entry and no tax will be collected. The increased business on account of the new tariff law will be felt at the Chicago Custom House for a month.

A ruling of the Treasury Department at Washington, as interpreted by Collector Russell, aroused considerable discussion late yesterday afternoon. The question was what rate should be assessed on shipments which arrived at the seaboard prior to yesterday, and which had been forwarded to Chicago under the immediate transportation act or, as they are termed, "I. T. entries." These shipments had been entered at the seaboard port, and had been forwarded to Chicago in bond without examination or appraisement, the final entry to be made on arrival here.

The Collector wired the department at Washington early yesterday asking for instructions. At 2:30 p. m. the following circular was posted by Collector Russell:

> U. S. TREASURY DEPARTMENT.—The Secretary of the Treasury advises me, under date of 2:18 p. m. today, that United States Court has decided that date of arrival of I. T. goods at exterior port is date of importation and that duties will be assessed accordingly. It is the order of the office, therefore, that all I. T. goods showing date of arrival anterior to Aug. 28 at port of original importation shall be assessed under the law of Oct. 1, 1890. MARTIN J. RUSSELL, Collector of Customs.

The ruling was made that all shipments which were now en route from the seaboard under "I. T. entries" would have to pay the duties under the McKinley bill.

H. T. Lockwood's Opinion.

H. T. Lockwood of H. T. Lockwood & Co. said of this: "The ruling can scarcely be upheld by the Treasury Department. The Senate bill as passed reads: '. . . That on and after the 28th day of August, 1894, unless specially provided for in this act, there shall be levied, collected, and paid upon all articles imported from foreign countries or withdrawn for consumption, and mentioned in the schedules herein contained, the rates of duty which are, by the schedules and paragraphs, respectively prescribed, namely:' Shipments which arrived at Chicago prior to this morning and are entered under a 'warehouse entry' can be withdrawn at the new rates. Shipments which arrived at the seaboard today or which arrive hereafter come under the Senate bill. It is only the goods now en route for Chicago and other inland ports of entry which are affected. It is probable that all these goods will be entered under 'warehouse entries' and then withdrawn at the rates named in the Senate bill, as this specifies that goods may be 'withdrawn for consumption' at the rates named therein. It is hardly probable that the ruling that all goods entered in warehouse prior to Aug. 28 and all goods reaching the seaboard on or after Aug. 28 can come in under the Senate bill and the shipments between the seaboard and the interior ports must pay the rates named in the McKinley bill will stand. If the ruling is sustained the higher duties will be paid under protest and the question carried to the courts, or the goods can be exported to Canada and re imported, in which event they would be dutiable under the Senate bill."

Collector Mize's office showed a big collapse in the receipt of internal revenue, the day's receipts hardly reaching $30,000. There was only 90 cents accredited to whisky tax. A regauging of a barrel of whisky received by a local house showed it to be a gallon in excess on the tax paid, and the assessment for the extra gallon was under the old law.

A big stack of applications for the two cents on playing-cards was received by the Collector. These applications came from dry-goods, grocery, and stationery houses handling playing-cards, and from railroad companies using cards for advertising purposes. The Collector estimates the amount of revenue from this source at $4,000, which represents 200,000 packs. The total will run still larger, for the retail dealers who sell playing cards are not generally aware that they must pay tax on every pack they have for sale. The penalty for selling untaxed cards is $50. There will be no permanent revenue from this source at the Chicago office after the stock on hand has been stamped.

ATTEMPT MADE TO WRECK A TRAIN.

Obstructions Placed on the Track of a Kansas City Train Near Willow Springs.

WILLOW SPRINGS, Mo., Aug. 28.—An attempt was made tonight to wreck the passenger train east-bound on the Kansas City, Springfield and Memphis, due here at 9:10 o'clock from Macomb. Obstructions were placed on the track and the engine derailed. After running a short distance another obstruction was struck and the engine again left the track. A liberal reward has been offered by the railroad for the miscreants.

LOSSES OF THE ROADS.

STATEMENTS OF DESTRUCTION AND DECREASE IN EARNINGS.

Labor Commission Hears Testimony as to the Cost of the Sympathy Strike—Vice-President Wickes Gives Figures as to the Reductions in Cost of Cars and the Cuts in Wages—His Opinion as to Combinations and Unions—Last Day of Testimony for the Employers.

This will be the last day for the hearing of witnesses on the part of employers by the Labor Commission. Tomorrow the employés will be given an opportunity to introduce evidence in rebuttal, and after that is finished the labor of the Commission in Chicago will be at an end. Yesterday a number of statements showing the losses of the different roads were read in evidence, the examination of Mr. Wickes was continued, and besides a number of other witnesses Albert W. Sullivan, General Superintendent of the Illinois Central railroad, reviewed the strike so far as that road was concerned.

John C. Kelsey of the Chicago and Alton road filed a statement with the commission of the losses suffered by the company growing out of the strike. It showed a total loss of $178,560, and the loss of wages to the employés was $100,000. William McFadden, on behalf of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, filed a statement of the losses of that company, which amounted to $5,164. This was not complete, and an additional verified statement will be sent the commission later.

Charles E. Webb, chief clerk of the Pullman Bank, corroborated the testimony of the manager of the bank in regard to his denial of the testimony of Jennie Curtis. He said she voluntarily agreed to pay the back rent and she was always treated courteously at the bank.

F. W. McKee, the yardmaster at Rock Island for the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway, testified in regard to the power of B. B. Ray as to hiring and discharging men. He said on account of being busy in the office he gave Ray such powers. He had seen the book kept by Ray which was virtually a blacklist. No such book was kept by the yardmaster and Ray's was the only book of the kind. He said Ray was discharged because he was incompetent.

Edmund B. Bergman, General Superintendent of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, read a comparative statement of the earnings of that road in evidence, showing the difference between those of June and July of 1893 and 1894, showing a large decrease in the earnings for this year.

A statement of the losses of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railway was read in evidence by John D. Besler. The loss on account of the destruction of property was $115,000 but the witness could not estimate the loss on account of decrease in business.

Mr. Wickes Tells of Car Contracts.

Mr. Wickes then resumed the stand and was examined in relation to the statement he read yesterday to the commission. He said the $1,400,000, which was the shop cost of the recent contracts taken by the company and which were taken at a loss, included all the cost of the cars. He could not state positively what percentage of this was for labor, as that would depend upon the class of cars built, but he thought the labor represented about 22 per cent, or $280,000. The reduction of wages at Pullman was in the vicinity of 20 per cent, and the labor if the reduction had not taken place would have cost $60,000 more. The company, in order to secure the work, made a contribution of $52,000, which did not include any charges for profits or interest or anything of that kind. Commissioner Kernan then examined Mr. Wickes.

"The company contributed $52,000 for the purpose of securing those contracts, and the wage-earners at Pullman contributed $60,000 for the same purpose? Is that right?

"It is impossible for me to make the mental calculation," replied Mr. Wickes. He finally admitted that the statement was substantially so.

"Let me ask your policy in relation to these points," continued Commissioner Kernan. "Taking it for granted that the statement is so, would it not have been better for the Pullman company to have lost the difference than to have had the strike occur?"

"Possibly, but we couldn't anticipate the result of the strike. There was a principle involved, and the company felt in justice to itself that the principle would have to be maintained. If we had paid the 1893 scale we couldn't get any work to do."

"If the policy of giving the $52,000 was a good one would it not have been a good policy to have given the $60,000, which was the reduction of the price of labor?"

"I don't think so. If the company had allowed its employés to dictate on what terms it should do its business it would have made a great loss for years to come. We were prepared to continue the loss if the men would continue at work. We thought we treated the men as good as any other carbuilders did and a little better. The wages paid at Wilmington and Ludlow were the same and there was no trouble there. The contribution on the part of the men was brought about by a general declination of wages throughout the country."

"You pay a 2 per cent quarterly dividend on your stock. There has been no loss to the stockholders. Would it not have been a fair thing for the stockholders to have contributed?"

"The manufacturing branch is entirely separate from the sleeping car business. It belongs to the same stockholders but it is separate and distinct. The 8 per cent per annum has been earned in another branch of the business."

Why Houses Are Never Sold.

Mr. Wickes gave the same reasons practically as did Mr. Pullman in regard to the advisability of selling the houses at Pullman to employés. He said the World's Fair had been of no value to the Pullman company on account of the large number of cars left over. He said the Pullman company had practically voluntarily increased wages in several instances. He said the rate of wages is usually governed by the law of supply and demand, and the company goes into the market for men the same as they do for anything else. If the manufacturers as a class would all agree to raise wages and charge more for their product it would be a good thing for the employés. He did not think the company would secure better work and more careful attention to business by voluntarily increasing wages. Prior to the last few months the present principle had worked well. If the men had been free of outside influences there would have been no trouble.

The figures offered the men at the time the committee waited on him were the same as he had given the commission in regard to the contracts on which money was lost. The amount of back rent now due the company was about $100,000 and there had been no orders for evictions. The operating of Pullman cars extends over three-fourths of the mileage of all railroads in the country and the mileage covered by the contracts is a monopoly. The company has quite a number of competitors in the building of sleeping cars and other cars and named some of them, but he could not tell whether all the rest manufactured as many as the Pullman company.

Witness did not think that the price of piece work was lowered after the contracts for the cars were taken, but said the foremen had the power to lower the piece work prices, and in that way it was possible for injustice to be done to the men. He said he considered the reduction of wages a hardship on the men.

"Inasmuch as those conditions existed and a reduction of wages was made, don't you think it would have been equitable to have made some reduction in the rents?" asked Commissioner Kernan.

"There is no connection between the rent and the shops. Less than one-third of the employés are tenants. The people outside didn't make any reductions. The men had the privilege of moving if they were not satisfied. There is an advantage to the men in living close to the shops, as they do not have to expend money for transportation."

Why Rents Were Never Reduced.

"A large portion of the men lived at Pullman. Inasmuch as that is so, would it not have been equitable for the company to have decreased the rent when the depression came on?" persisted Commissioner Kernan.

"If the rents had been advanced during the good times it might have been right." Mr. Wickes admitted the rent was fixed when there was not a panic and had never been changed, and he fell back on the answer there was no connection between the town and the shops. He said it wasn't a fact the tenants were given the first chance to work, but the better mechanics were employed before all others. In regard to the lease he said that the company had always made the repairs, and he didn't consider the clause requiring the tenant to keep the premises in repair was operative. He would not have signed such a lease himself. When pressed by the Commissioner he said he knew nothing of the lease of his own knowledge, and was not prepared to identify it.

"But they are compelled to sign an agreement of this kind?" asked Mr. Kernan.

"I am not prepared to offer any opinion on that," said Mr. Wickes.

At the time wages were reduced there was a conference between himself, the General Manager, the Manager of the works, and the foremen of each department. They did not consult with the employés in regard to it. In regard to the refusal of the company to arbitrate he answered in about the same manner as did Mr. Pullman Monday.

"Don't you think the growing concentration of capital in large corporations has tended to make the rule that the laborer is dependent upon the law of supply and demand one that can be used for its abuse?"

"I don't think so."

"Assuming that the great builders would concentrate into one?"

"It might work harshly in that case. I don't think that could be done."

Would Not Recognize a Union.

"Has the company had any policy in reference to unions?"

"I suppose there are a number of unions represented in the works."

"The objectionable one is the A. R. U?"

"Yes, sir. We wouldn't treat with our men as members of the A. R. U. We will treat with them as individuals but not as members of the A. R. U. or any other union."

"You think it is fair that each man when he has a grievance to come before you personally and discuss it with you?"

"Yes, sir."

The reduction in the repair department Mr. Wickes considered just, although the company was paid the same rate for mileage by the roads, and he said if they reduced in one department they must reduce in all. He didn't discuss the advisability of refusing to arbitrate with the General Managers. He knew nothing in regard to the Land company. He said there was no demand made for a reduction of rents, but later said it was a part of the grievances. He didn't think the salaries of the officers were larger than other large corporations. He was not at liberty to state the salary of the President, although he said a few years ago it was but $10,000 a year. He would rather be excused from giving the salaries of the other general officers.

Gen. Miles Denies He Met Managers.

After luncheon Gen. Nelson A. Miles took the stand. He said he was Major-General of the United States army and resided for the present at Evanston. The story that he visited the General Managers' Association on his arrival in Chicago from Washington he said was untrue. At the time mentioned he was in Washington. He did not say he had broken the backbone of the strike, but he said he had broken the backbone of the opposition to Federal troops. He presented an order to the commission from President Cleveland showing that the word "strike" does not appear therein. The troops did not force men to work at the point of bayonets to his knowledge.

General Auditor Winde of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad gave the following statement of its losses:

Losses in earnings	$618,454
Losses of property of foreign roads, fifteen cars	7,540
Cars damaged	66
Damage to property in yards	6,627
Damage to cars in yards	10
Losses in wages to employés	175,779

An attorney then appeared before the commission and requested that he be allowed to cross-examine Mr. Pullman as the attorney for the American Railway Union. He had called on the committee in the forenoon, however, and said he desired to cross-examine him as representing no one. He was told the commission would not recall Mr. Pullman for cross-examination, as opportunity to cross-examine had been given at the conclusion of Mr. Pullman's testimony and no one responded.

Inspector Hunt Says Roughs Rioted.

Inspector Hunt testified as to the disturbances in his division during the strike. Prior to July 3 there was little actual violence, but then trains were stopped and men were sent to disperse them. He knew of no actual violence that day, and in fact none until July 7. July 4 twenty-five men were sent out to Halsted and Fortieth streets to move cars and they were compelled to disperse a mob. There was little actual violence during the entire time.

"During the strike I did not notice one railroad man interfering in any way, shape, or manner. The mob was composed of toughs and men who never worked on railroads or anything else. The men arrested for depredations were not railroad men. There were some fifty or sixty arrests made and some twenty-five or thirty men fined." Inspector Hunt told of the riot at Forty-eighth and Loomis street of July 7, which has been testified to repeatedly before the commission. The rioters were not railroad men. He denied the police were sympathizers with the strikers.

Here another statement of losses was read in evidence by J. M. Whitman, General Manager of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. The losses of the company amounted to $573,690.31 and loss sustained by employés of wages $206,523.67.

Inspector John Fitzpatrick of the First Division was called but could tell nothing relative to the strike, as he did not take his position until July 7.

Sullivan Tells of Illinois Central Troubles.

Albert W. Sullivan, the General Superintendent of the Illinois Central railroad company, was next sworn. He said the employés gave him no notice they were going to quit the service of the company. The first to strike were the switchmen and the day following the strike by that body all the employés went out and there was a general cessation of work. There was no interruption of passenger traffic of any great moment. There was but one day the company failed to dispatch its regular trains from Chicago. After the arrival of the militia July 6 business picked up again. The men had no grievance when they struck. He said:

There was nothing to adjust between the railroad company and its employés. The influences that led to the strike were something outside. Every effort was made to induce the employés to return to work by interviewing them and counseling them against the folly of the strike. Some of the employés stated they had received no notice it was necessary to return to work, and I issued a notice, giving them until a certain time to come back or to consider themselves out of the employ of the company. Quite a number returned, and the company now has its normal force. The company has had no official notice of the causes of the quitting of the men. The total number of employés who quit work is 3,599. Of this number 1,990 were strikers, 1,960 were employés forced to stop work through intimidation or persuasion of the strikers. There have been two cases of deliberate assault and they were by railroad men. There were numberless instances of assaults by throwing stones, etc., and I know these assaults were by strikers. There have been thirteen ex-employés arrested and indicted for violence. A number of minor assaults were made. Of the 1,609 employés forced to quit all have been taken back, and of the 1,990 strikers 680 have been taken back, leaving 1,310 discharged.

The lines upon which restorations to the service could be made by the quitting employés were laid down in my office and communicated to the division Superintendents. These were that employés who had committed no acts of violence or who had not interfered with others working and had conducted themselves in a lawful and quiet manner. These would be reëmployed provided their places had not been filled. We sent no list of those discharged to the Superintendents of divisions. The applicants now must go through the same form as before the strike. The previous record of the employé is required. The surrender of the card of the A. R. U. is not a condition of reëmployment. The damage to property during the strike was $53,000 approximately: the loss for freight destroyed is in the neighborhood of $50,000; loss in traffic, $500,000; and the extra expense of operation, $127,000, an aggregate of $730,000. The loss in wages to employés who stopped work during the strike is about $164,000.

In reply to the question as to whether he had any suggestion as to the proper legislation to prevent strikes Mr. Sullivan said all labor organizations should in some way be made responsible for their actions, and when a contract between the organization and the railroad company is entered into there should be some way in which to bind both parties to keep the agreement. He did not believe in the licensing of employés.

The Chicago and Erie railway, according to a statement read in evidence, lost $115,376 and the loss of wages was $29,415.

The Rev. Henry O. Lindenauer, pastor of the Swedish Church at Pullman, testified as to the causes of the strike, and in addition to those already mentioned by other witnesses said that politics had something to do with it. As a remedy for strikes he advised the people to go to the country and take up agricultural pursuits. The commission adjourned to 10 o'clock today.

WOMEN FIGHT POLICE

ATTACK THEM WITH STONES AND CLUBS IN A SMALLPOX RIOT.

Many Officers Injured at Milwaukee While Trying to Protect the Health Department in Removing a Victim of the Disease—Injunction Finally Obtained That Quells the Uprising—Battle with a Robber Gang Near Lima, O.—General News from the Northwest.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Several police officers were slightly injured in a smallpox riot in the infected district on the South Side today. The health officers sought to remove a patient named August Rehwinkle from No. 515 Sixteenth avenue, in the heart of the infected district.

A crowd assembled near the house as soon as the case was discovered last night and watched for the health officers all night. It dispersed at an early hour this morning, but reassembled again at 9 o'clock. The health authorities called on the police for protection and sent the isolation hospital ambulance to remove the patient. At the same time fifty officers under command of Lieut. Schmidt were sent to the scene. It was agreed that the police and the health officers should arrive there at the same time—10:45 o'clock.

Inspector Curtis, with his yellow ambulance, however, arrived upon the scene five minutes before the police. As the ambulance turned into Sixteenth from Greenfield avenue the mob closed in upon it and began throwing stones. There were about 300 women and a few men in the mob. Officer Curtis was struck and almost knocked off his seat. He jumped down, drew his revolver, and fired three shots, but did not hit any one and then drove to the isolation hospital. The ambulance lamps were smashed.

At 10:40 the squad of fifty policemen marched upon the scene. As they wheeled into Sixteenth avenue from Greenfield they were met by about 200 women armed with baseball bats, clubs, and stones. When the police undertook to force their way through these female warriors they were clubbed and pelted with stones, and a number of them were badly hurt. The policemen drew their clubs, a charge was ordered, and in a moment the policemen were engaged in a hand to hand encounter with the women, whom they endeavored to disarm.

All the time the mob was increasing by the addition of recruits, who were attracted to the scene by the shouts and screaming of the women. Some of them brought packages of pepper and salt, which was thrown in the officers' faces. Sergt. Strehlow was almost blinded with pepper which was thrown in his eyes. Patrolman Green was badly cut over the eye by a stone and lost his hat in the struggle. Patrolman Bender was cut on the side of his head by a stone, and a number of others were slightly injured. A woman was struck by a stone thrown by one of the rioters and severely injured. She was spirited away by her friends before her name could be learned.

It was half an hour before the police had the street cleared and found themselves masters of the situation. They were waiting at Rehwinkle's residence for the ambulance when a message was received from headquarters to abandon the scene.

While the police were struggling with the mob Attorney W. H. Timlin, representing Rehwinkle and his wife, had appeared before Court Commissioner Ryan and had obtained an injunction restraining the health authorities from removing the patient to the Isolation Hospital. This injunction is based upon the statement made by Health Commissioner Kempster that the Isolation Hospital is already overcrowded and that the patient would be endangered by removing him to that institution, as proper care is not taken of patients there. This is an important step, as it brings up the question of the constitutionality of the health regulations of this city. As soon as he was served with the injunction the Health Commissioner ordered that Rehwinkle be left at his home for the present.

Late this afternoon the health authorities succeeded, after a little difficulty with a mob, in removing a smallpox patient from Seventeenth near Greenfield avenue to the Isolation Hospital. The ambulance had to be guarded by a large squad of police. Dr. Kempster has served formal notice on both the Chief of Police and the Sheriff that he requires their assistance in the dischaage of his duties. The State Board of Health will meet here tomorrow to consider the situation here in relation to smallpox cases.

Milwaukee abstractors are to form a trust. The firms which will enter the combine are William Bierbach & Son, County Abstract Association, J. V. Dupre Abstract company, Milwaukee Abstract Association, in which Sam Howard is interested; Ogden Abstract and Title company, Charles A. G. Pietsch, and the Seaman Abstract company. The combine is effected to stop the payment of commissions to real estate men and to save labor.

Some of the ministers and justices of the peace have not been complying with the marriage registration laws, and the result is there is no record of hundreds of Chicago marriages which have been performed here this summer.

BATTLE WITH A GANG OF ROBBERS.

Several Shot in a Midnight Fight at Ohio City, O.

LIMA, O., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Two robbers at least were shot and several wounded in a fight which took place between the former and a posse of citizens headed by Night-Watch Risser at Ohio City, a small town thirty miles west of this city on the Chicago and Erie railroad, last night at midnight. In making his rounds the watchman discovered robbers making an entrance to the general merchandise store of Charles Koch. There were four men in the gang and Risser ordered them to throw up their hands. They did, but there was a revolver in each hand, and they began blazing away. Risser was wounded in the leg and another bullet passed through his cap, cutting a ridge through the flesh on the top of his head. The citizens were aroused by the shooting and gave chase to the gang, overtaking them at the edge of the village, where there was a hot pitched battle. The thieves were reënforced by half a dozen confederates who were awaiting them with horses at the outskirts of the town, and in the exchange of shots several of the latter were wounded. They were carried away by their companions when they were finally driven back by the determined band of citizens, who escaped with three of their party being wounded, Frank Lewis, a lawyer, slightly, and Joseph Lehman, a business-man, fatally. After the battle was over it was learned that a number of business-houses and residences had been entered before the robbers were surprised and about $1,000 in cash carried away. The thieves took nothing except cash, and in James' jewelry store threw aside a lot of fine jewels.

REUNION OF SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

This Will Be the Big Day at Waukegan, Ill., When Officers Will Be Elected.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The annual Lake County soldiers' and sailors' reunion began today at Grays Lake. A camp fire at night was an occasion for story telling and singing of war songs. Tomorrow officers are to be elected in the morning and in the afternoon a big crowd is expected to attend the formal exercises. The star features will be addresses by ex-Gov. Ira Chase of Indiana, and Col. A. C. Matthews.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Calhoun County Veterans' Battalion and Merrill Horse began their fourth annual reunion here today. A two days' encampment will follow at Lake Goguac. The orator of the day was Washington Gardner of Albion, candidate for Secretary of State on the Republican ticket. Tomorrow Gov. Rich and other noted speakers will be present.

JOLIET, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The second day's encampment of the Will County Veterans' Association was a success in every respect. This forenoon the principal attraction was a parade through the city streets of 250 veterans, headed by a band and accompanied by a large procession of citizens, fire and police departments, and several societies. Addresses were made this afternoon by E. R. Matteson, President of the association; Gen. P. C. Hayes of this city, and the Rev. Frizelle of Chicago. This evening speeches were made in front of an immense camp-fire to an audience of nearly 2,000. The Women's Relief Corps is in charge of the cooking and hospital. Wednesday will be women's day. Addresses will be delivered by the President of the day, Mrs. A. R. Morgan of this city, Miss Ada Sweet, Mrs. Katherine L. Stevenson, Mrs. M. E. Hopper, Mrs. Sarah Bradford, Mrs. Helen Barker, Mrs. M. R. M. Wallace, Miss Mary Holmes, and Mrs. Flora J. Miller.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The eighth reunion of the Eighty-sixth Regiment Illinois Volunteer Infantry came to an end this afternoon. The annual address was delivered this morning by L. J. Dowdy of Peoria. At the afternoon session Peoria was selected as the next place of meeting and the date fixed at Aug. 27. An address was delivered by Capt. John H. Hall of Peoria, the new commander.

ALL BELIEVE HOBBS IS A. M. VAN AUKEN.

To Be Tried at Quincy for Forging M. E. Ingalls' Name.

QUINCY, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A. M. Van Auken, alias Charles M. Hobbs, was brought here from Detroit today and will be tried at the September term of court for forging the name of M. E. Ingalls, President of the Big Four railroad, to a contract and bond for $30,000. He insists he is Charles M. Hobbs and that he is an accountant in New York City, but was positively identified today as Van Auken. Among those who identified him as Van Auken were Messrs. C. H. Castle, E. H. Osborn, and J. S. Cruttenden of the railroad syndicate, with whom he had dealings last winter, and Dr. Christie, who sewed up the wounds in his head received in falling off a train while returning here from Chicago to face the charges against him. Van Auken is the Chicago engineer and railroad promoter who worked up a scheme here last winter for an extension of the Big Four through Quincy to the Missouri River. Quincy capitalists were to advance part of the money and to secure them he produced an indemnifying bond signed by President Ingalls. Mr. Ingalls pronounced the signature a forgery and Van Auken was indicted.

NO EVIDENCE OF THE USE OF FORCE.

Preliminary Trial in St. Louis of the Campbell-Rohan Highway Robbery Case.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Campbell-Rohan highway robbery case came up for preliminary trial today in Judge Claiborne's court. The principal witness examined was William Cox, a restaurantkeeper at Ware avenue and Locust street, who witnessed the alleged abduction. Mr. Cox said Rohan and another man drove up in front of his place on the day in question and leaving their carriage returned shortly with Campbell. After a few half-understood words in a low tone Rohan said to Campbell: "Get in the carriage." The witness saw no weapon. Campbell obeyed and the party drove away. William Kelly, the driver of the hack, claimed he saw no force used and heard no protests or cries from Campbell and saw no indication that the broker was an unwilling prisoner in the carriage. Rohan's son also testified in the same strain. The case was taken under advisement until tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

TO END CAPT. JOHNSON'S TRIAL TODAY.

He Explains on the Stand at Leavenworth How He Spent His Salary.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The hearing of witnesses in the Johnson court-martial was concluded today and the trial will be finished tomorrow. Capt. Johnson testified as to how he spent his salary. He told of his son going blind and that he had to support the son and his wife. He told of constant doctoring to prevent a daughter from going blind and of a niece needing attention of a physician for deafness. He spoke of how he lost money during the boom several years ago and of being unable to catch up since. He also swore to countermanding the order for the tombstones which the firm cent.

TO TEST THE LAW AS TO ASSIGNMENT.

Chicago Loan Association to Be Sued by the Attorney-General.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Auditor of Public Accounts has reported the Superior Savings, Loan and Building Association of Chicago to the Attorney-General for such proceedings as he may deem necessary. This association is insolvent and in the hands of an assignee. Its assets are about $40,000 and its liabilities somewhat exceed that amount. The most interesting question involved in this case is whether a building and loan association can make a voluntary assignment under the statute. The Auditor is of the opinion that a corporation of this character cannot make a voluntary assignment.

SEWER CAVES IN ON FIVE WORKMEN.

One Is Killed and Two Are Fatally Injured at Newark, O.

NEWARK, O., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Five workmen were buried by the caving in of fifty feet of North Third street sewer this afternoon. John Hershline was killed, Sinclaire Kennedy and Al Cochran cannot live, M. J. Rafter and Robert Brookes were seriously injured. The contractor is blamed for not having the banks braced.

ASKS $20,000 FOR DEATH OF HIS SON.

William Riner at Clinton, Ia., Holds a Saloonkeeper Responsible.

CLINTON, Ia., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—William Riner today set a price of $20,000 on his son who was killed by a policeman in a saloon in June. He brought suit for that amount against Andreas Anderson for selling liquor to the boy, which he alleges primarily caused his death.

Formal Accusation Deferred.

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Citizens' Association, which is investigating the Aldermanic bribery charges, expected to have all its evidence in and affidavits ready for publication today. There has been a hitch in the proceedings which has rendered this impossible. The committee announced, however, it is sure of its ground and is merely waiting to perfect necessary details before prosecuting further. A Council committee is investigating wholesale charges of corruption against the Council as a whole.

To Represent Iowa on Irrigation.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Gov. Jackson this morning appointed the following delegates to represent Iowa at the National Irrigation Congress at Denver Sept. 3 to 10: B. F. Clayton, Indianola; D. J. Spencer, Afton; William Christie, Atlantic; L. F. Mullins, Atlantic; W. B. Cox, Farragut; Lucius Wells, Council Bluffs; J. M. Joseph, Creston; John Parker, Silver City; Henry Weir, Avoca; William Butler, Clarenda.

BIG DRIVING WHEEL FLIES INTO BITS.

New Orleans Will Be in Darkness for a Night or Two in Consequence.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—One of the big driving wheels of the Louisiana Electric Light company burst this morning and scattered its fragments through a ten-inch brick wall and into the streets beyond. Only one man was injured, Supt. McGrath, who has charge of the plant. The Louisiana works supply the city with the street lighting, and also furnish the motor power for two lines of trolley cars. As a result of the accident the city will be in darkness for the next two or three nights, while two of the three trolley lines in town will be tied up.

WITH A BIG PARADE.

TOURNAMENT OF ILLINOIS FIREMEN BEGINS AT EDWARDSBURG.

Monmouth Team Makes the Best Appearance in the Dashing Line—Blue Island Awarded a Silver Lantern for Turning Out the Largest Number of Men—John Abbot of Polo the Champion Ladder Climber of the State—Names of Other Nimble Lads Who Achieve Honors.

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The sixth annual tournament of the Illinois Firemen's Association began here today with a parade, which started at 10:30 a.m., announced by the firing of cannon. The parade was witnessed by 10,000 people. The city was decorated with flags and bunting. The column moved from the court-house in eight divisions under command of Maj. Russell Prickett, assisted by seven marshals. The Enterprise Band led the procession. Blue Island department, with seventy men in line, came next with its band. Harvey came next. Polo, disguised as Coxey's army; Naperville, Kewanee, and Savanna followed, Mount Olive with a splendid band with sixty men and Moline with a long line of gray-coated firemen came next. Charleston, Dixon, Canton, Chicago Lawn, Hinsdale, and other northern departments, who were without full teams, were assigned places in line. Litchfield department and team, aggregating over 100 strong; Monmouth, adorned in elegant white duck suits, and a splendid athletic team from Clinton came next. Taylorville department and team, Effingham, Collinsville, and a number of bands came next. Then came the famous Highland department in blue suits, which contrasted well with the glittering steel helmets that flashed in the sun over their heads. Venice and Leclair with a splendid band closed the contingent of firemen, which was followed by a parade of civic orders, Modern Woodmen with axes, Catholic Knights of America in Bohemian and American camps, some Grand Army veterans, and a cavalcade of women and men in couples all adorned with floating ribbons depending from the left shoulder. A detachment of St. Louis firemen were in the parade. There were nearly 10,000 in the parade and it was an hour passing one point.

Mayor W. H. Hall at the close of the march delivered the address of welcome. It was responded to by President J. E. Moffett of the State Association. C. W. Terry then spoke for the Edwardsville Fire Department.

The races opened at 1 o'clock and were witnessed by an unusual crowd for the first day. The prize for the best appearing team in the parade was awarded to the Monmouth department. A silver lantern was given to the Blue Island department for largest number of men in line. The 100-yard foot race was won by James Lonegan of Dixon, in 10 1-5 seconds, Robert Sims of Monmouth, second, in 10⅓. In the ladder-climbers' contest, climbers ran fifty feet and climbed ladder from front. John Abbott of Polo got the prize and State championship, time 5⅓ seconds. In couplers' contest first prize and State champion badge went to Jesse Beaver of Kewanee, time 5 seconds, Adolph Hediger of Clinton getting second money. Couplers ran fifty feet, broke coupling, and attached pipe of two full turns. The novelty hose race came next. The teams ran 100 yards from plug to cart, ran with cart to plug, laid 100 feet of hose, breaking coupling two turns and attached pipe. Clinton took first money, Kewanee second. The last race was a novelty hook and ladder race. The teams ran 100 yards from score to truck, ran with truck to score, raised regulation ladder, and man climbed to top. Dixon took first, in :31⅓; Monmouth second; time, :32 3-5.

The officers of the old St. Louis Volunteer Firemen's Association and a number of other visiting veterans were present.

COMPLAINTS BY MANKATO CITIZENS.

Minnesota Town Wants Lower Rates on Transportation of Coal from the Lakes.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Gen. E. M. Pope, Chairman of the Transportation committee of the Mankato Chamber of Commerce, filed two complaints with the Railroad and Warehouse Commission this afternoon. The first was against the St. Paul and Duluth road alone, and asked that the rate on hard coal from Duluth to St. Paul and Minneapolis be reduced from $1.50 to $1 a ton, the same as was asked by the Citizens' Anti-Coal Combine committee of St. Paul. The second complaint was that the St. Paul and Duluth and the Minneapolis and St. Louis roads charged a higher rate per ton per mile on soft coal and salt from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Mankato than was charged from Duluth to the Twin Cities, in violation of the law of 1887, and asked that the companies be required to reduce the rate from the Twin Cities to Mankato. It was but a short time ago Gen. Pope secured from the commission an order for reduced rates on hard coal from Duluth to Mankato, from which order the St. Paul and Duluth road appealed to the courts.

COMES LIKE A FLOOD.

WHEAT LOWER ON BIG RECEIPTS AND CORN BEARS TRY A RAID.

Declines of 1-2c to 5-8c Registered in Wheat—Cables Lower and Arrivals at Primary Points Tremendous—Liquidation in the September—A Dull Corn Market Subjected to a Wild Raid Holds Up Fairly Well—Some Improvement in Crops—Provisions Firm and Higher.

The bears had nearly all the news their way in wheat yesterday and it was a matter of wonder that the market did not sag more than it did. Declines of ½@⅝c were registered at the close, and these were bottom prices for the session. First came the depressing cables reporting the foreign markets nearly all weak and lower. Private advices made Liverpool ⅛@⅜d off. The big receipts which had been predicted for several days appeared in the Northwest. Duluth and Minneapolis received 1,348 cars, compared with 369 cars the same day last year. This was the main bear influence of the day. Chicago had 464 cars, while the estimate called for 380 cars. Last year local arrivals were 175 cars. For a time buying against puts gave the market some show of stability, but it was only temporary. A faint bullish factor was to be found in the liberal clearances. However, the tremendous receipts were depressing for any prolonged show of strength. At Western primary points arrivals aggregated 1,039,458 bu. There was a large increase in contract stocks, reported at 1,575,000 bu, making 15,960,000 bu No. 2 winter wheat and 7,127,000 bu spring in store here. Liquidation in the September option continued to be a factor and the difference between this and the December widened to 3⅛c. Of course there was talk of enormous quantities of wheat being used as feed, but the bears heeded it not and looked confidently for lower prices. The bulk of the trading was in the way of changing from one delivery to another. The elevator concerns bought the September and sold the December, while longs of course did the opposite. Parker was a heavy seller of the December around 57c.

New York reported eight boatloads worked for export. Locally, 40,000 bu No. 2 spring, hard variety, were sold for shipment at 1¼c over the September price.

Corn started in at the closing prices of Monday, took a little slide down hill, bumped on the bottom and crawled up a bit, resting at a point ⅛@⅜c behind the ending of the previous day. Interest was not brisk. Neither side seems ready yet for an active campaign. The weather map showed no rains in the West and there was a little country buying on that. On the other hand the Kansas State bulletin made crop conditions more favorable. The Iowa report also said that there had been a considerable improvement in localities where late rainfalls have been heaviest, while the most advanced fields would be beyond danger from frost in about two weeks. Local professionals made fair offerings. The support was slow. Baldwin-Farnum, Parker, Bartlett-Frazier, and Boyden participate in a mild sort of a raid. It was not much of a success. They were trying to get the stuff back later. Such experiences do not render short selling popular yet. Country buying orders come in on the declines. Receipts showed slight signs of increasing. By canal 34,200 bu came in and 342 cars also. Today 250 cars are expected. Illinois farmers, having about done harvesting, are getting ready to ship corn. Contract stocks have increased 68,858 bu. At Western primary points receipts were 214,093 bu. Exports were meager at 27,556 bu. September ranged at 54⅛@55⅛c and closed at 54⅜c, a loss of ⅜c. May sold at 52⅛@53c, resting at 52⅝c, or ⅛@¼c lower.

Outsiders and local shorts wanted provisions yesterday and a by no means burdensome lot of them were on sale. Business was active and fair strength continued to make itself felt. Again hogs were a shade up, due to another light run. Foreign markets were higher and those at home firmer but slow. Pork advanced 7½@15c, lard 12½@17½c, and ribs 7½@10c. The weaker feeling in corn, however, ultimately had the effect of taking a trifle of the edge off the advance in the January products toward the close. The Anglo-American continued to bull the market. Swift & Morris also purchased, while Armour sold.

Oats were dull and without special feature. Values at the opening were steady for the near futures and a shade easier for the deferred. The market closed with prices at the bottom round of the day, and weak at that, with net declines of ⅛@⅜c. Sympathy with corn had something to do with the weakness. Sellers were more plentiful than buyers. The range was narrow and fluctuations infrequent. Toward the close at the decline there was a spurt of activity. The elevator people continue to sell the September presumably against cash holdings. Counselman led the selling, but in a moderate way. Receipts at 414 cars were 36 cars less than the estimate. Contract stocks increased 156,000 bu. September ranged at 29⅝@29⅞c, resting at the inside, or ¼@⅜c lower. October sold at 30¼@30⅜c, and closed with sellers at the inside. May closed ⅛@¼c lower, at 35c.

Rye was in less urgent demand for shipment to the country. Prices declined a full 1½c for cash, and ½@1c for futures. The surroundings were against the price. Inferior samples were hard to sell. Some good No. 2 went at 49½c early. No. 2 to go to store sold at 47c. September was wanted at 46¾c. October was nominally 48¼c. December sold early at 50c, and that was bid late. Receipts were 10 cars No. 2.

Barley offerings were all well taken. Receipts were gratifying at 73 cars. While prices showed no special change, the feeling was firm. Bids on lots to arrive were not accepted in the country, where the feeling was strong. A fair business was scored, although maltsters are buying only sparingly as yet. No. 2 sold at 54@55c. No. 3 sold at 52@53c, and a little at 54c. October was 54c bid, and 54½c sellers. For September 53½c was bid.

Cash flax was about steady and futures were firmer. There is a liberal quantity of seed in the market, and holders of it were more ready to sell than were buyers to respond. The receipts were 114 cars or 62,700 bu. The shipments were 12 cars and 21,600 bu by lake. No. 1 Northwestern seed on the market was of a good, clean character. It sold at $1.23, a fractional decline. There were sales of No. 1 Southwestern at $1.22, the previous day's quotation. September sold at $1.22. October sold at $1.23½, an advance of ¼c. December sold at $1.25@1.26, and the market closed with offerings at the outside figures.

The timothy market was strong and considerable business was done. There was a great deal of cash seed and buyers for most of it. Prime sold at $5.10. Poor to choice sold at $4.80@5.50. Fair to good was steady at $4.75@4.90. There was a fair degree of trading for future delivery. September sold at $4.90 and October was steady at $4.75.

Business in clover-seed was light. There was little new cash seed on the market. Outside prices are better than those obtaining here. There were a few sales of poor to choice at $8.80@9.25. Good seed was nominally $9.00. There was no trading for future delivery. October was nominally $8.90.

Items Current in the Trade.

Wheat-feeding talk appeared to be quite influential in the New York market yesterday. Orders were reported in from feed mills everywhere for No. 2 wheat. It was said that the difference in price between No. 3 and No. 2 had narrowed to such an extent that the latter was being used for feed. Opinions relative to the continuance of this feature of the trade vary. John C. Ross, who has been out among the Western farmers extensively of late, said yesterday: "The average farmer knows all about feeding corn and he knows its qualities. On the other hand wheat is an experiment, and I do not believe the farmers will take to it generally. I believe corn will keep on a parity with wheat if not at a premium for some time." Of quite a different tenor are the following remarks of W. A. Henry, a Wisconsin agricultural expert: "I am no prophet and dare not predict the future markets in any way, but taking prices and feedstuffs as they now stand I cannot but recommend to stockmen a consideration of wheat and its products for feeding purposes, believing that this article offers nutriment at the lowest price as the markets now run. The feeling that it is wrong to feed wheat—and it does seem wrong—should not stand in the way for a moment, nor should we let our ignorance of how to use this grain prevent us accepting it as satisfactory stock food. A little reflection will lead to the conviction that wheat must be cheap food relatively at present prices."

There seems to be a mystery relative to where the wheat represented in the decrease at Minneapolis last week went to. It was thought Monday that it went from public to private elevators, but the Market Record reports a decrease of 1,000 bu in private elevator stocks during the week. The estimated stocks in country elevators of Minnesota and the two Dakotas is 967,000 bu, an increase of 699,000 bu.

Advices from Savannah, Ga., stated that Georgia corn was being offered there direct to Liverpool. This is, perhaps, the first attempt to export directly from such a point in the South. The crop there is big, and the Southerners were underselling the Northern markets, according to reports.

Prime to Logan from Dwight, Ill.: "Decatur, Ill.—Very important corn shipping point; lightest stock old corn ever held in this vicinity at this time of year; about 25 per cent of corn crop out of danger of frost. Nashville, Ill.—Corn a failure in this county; local showers, but not enough to do much good. Jackson, Ill.—The rains are putting the ground in condition for fall plowing; better prospect for corn in Morgan County than in any other part of the State. Alton, Ill.—Have had some rain, but need more; 25 per cent of plowing done."

It is estimated that the stocks of provisions at the close of August will show 45,000 brls mess pork, 25,000 tcs contract lard, and 21,000,000 lbs short rib sides. Exports of hog products from the four Atlantic ports during the last week were 21,159,000 lbs, against 20,057,000 lbs from all ports for the corresponding week in 1893.

Bartlett-Frazier's cables read: Liverpool wheat 3d cheaper owing to weather reports. Later—Wheat steady at last quotation. Berlin, depressed, with buyers holding back.

Hess says he is ready to settle his debits on the basis of 25 per cent cash and the rest in notes, and that the delay is due to the fact that some of the creditors are away on vacations.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 500 cars; corn, 250 cars; oats, 310 cars; hogs, 27,000.

Business in the Sample Crowd.

Spring wheat was quiet and ½@¾c lower. No. 2 spring hard variety was in good demand. Winter wheat showed the same decline. Advices from New York were to the effect that exporters were looking around for cash corn. The demand here was fair, with values ½@1c lower, closing steady. Samples were ½c lower. Oats ruled slow and weak at a loss of ⅛c. Provisions were active on shipping account. Export orders were larger than for several days. Prices averaged a shade higher.

ON SOUTH WATER STREET.

Plenty of Michigan Peaches—Eggs Firm—Sales of Butter.

The supply of Michigan peaches was again large. Arrivals were said to be between 45,000 and 50,000 baskets. The demand was tame, not equal to offerings. The feeling was weak and some concessions had to be made. The price worked down so that 25c was finally quoted an outside price for fine Crawfords, though a few extra lines early were reported sold for a shade more. Small peaches dull. Choice are so plenty and cheap that buyers do not want anything ordinary. Eggs ruled firm. Receipts were smaller and supply not any more than equal to the requirements. Besides the fresh gathered eggs which are being received there are some lots being taken from coolers in small quantities, which help to supply the wants of the trade. The demand is chiefly local, though an occasional lot is taken to fill outside orders.

Among the sales of butter reported were the following: 25, 28, 30, 15, 10, 18, and 48 tubs extras at 23½c; 10 tubs do at 23¼c; 10, 28, 15, and 13 tubs do at 23c; 20 small tubs extras at 24c; 11, 10, and 17 tubs firsts at 22½c; 15 and 23 tubs at 22c; 20 tubs at 21½c; 35 tubs at 21c; 10, 15, and 44 tubs seconds at 20c; 13 and 10 tubs do at 18c; 50 tubs good, clean flavor, clean boring at 17c; 50 tubs thirds at 16c. COFFEE—The contract market opened dull at unchanged prices on some months to 10 points decline on others. After the call the dealings were confined to August, October, and December deliveries at a further reduction of 5 points on cost. Spot trading slow on the basis of 16c for No. 7 Rio. American warehouse deliveries yesterday were 8,395 bags. Havre opened steady and closed at a decline of ¼f on August, while the rest of the list was unaltered. Hamburg was steady on August and ¼ pfg. lower on the other months. Receipts at Brazilian ports were 36,000 bags. The Rio market was steady and Santos steady. Rate of exchange at Rio was quoted at 9⅝d. Today's sales:

COTTONSEED OIL—Firm; prices unchanged.

PETROLEUM—Firm; Pennsylvania oil sales, none; September option sales, none; close, 81c bid; Lima oil sales, none.

At Oil City, Pa.—National transit certificates opened at 81c; highest, 82⅛c; lowest, 81c; closed, 82⅛c; sales, 1,000; shipments, 82,262; runs, 94,600. At Pittsburg, Pa. — National transit opened at 81c; closed, 82⅛c; highest, 82⅛c; lowest, 81c; no sales.

DRY GOODS—Greater activity has marked the demand of and sales by local jobbers than has been present in many months. The clothing trade of the country is very largely represented, and the placing of orders for spring woolens made large progress. All kinds of cotton goods were in demand, with the largest request for printed fabrics. Agents have advanced the prices of cordis ticking ¼@½c per yard. Printed cloths firm at 2 3-16c, with sales of 25,000 pieces spot.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 28.—WHEAT—The market was very weak today and closed an average of about ½c lower than yesterday, the decline being due to large offerings in Northwest. Receipts are increasing rapidly in the country and arrivals at terminal points are much larger than before. The elevator arrivals, it is said, promise to continue heavy at least for some weeks to come. The demand for cash wheat was very well supplied, and more new wheat is offering than is required to supply the milling wants, and considerable of it has to go in store to wait for future demand. Baltic shipments were reported large also and the requirements of Western Europe are more than supplied with late arrivals. Against these were the large exports from this country, but these were not large enough to fully counteract the effects of the large receipts in the Northwest. The market closed: August, 53⅛c; September, 52⅛@52⅝c; December, 54⅛c; May, 58⅜c. Old wheat on track closed: No. 1 hard, 57⅛d; No. 1 Northern, 56⅛c; No. 2 Northern, 55c. New wheat on track ranged at 2⅛c below old. Old receipts were 136,610 bu. Shipments, 45,990 bu. The large arrivals in Duluth broke that market, which will naturally turn larger shipments to Minneapolis. Elevator people are selling more than heretofore against purchases, but that feature did not appear to have any effect in the way of forcing lower prices for futures months ago. The amount arriving here, after deducting shipments, lacks some 50,000 bu a day of being enough to supply the local consumption by mills, and such shortage is made up by withdrawals from old stocks of elevator wheat in store, which amount is large enough to keep the mills running steadily until the new wheat is sufficiently cured to use for flour. The flour market is weaker, in some cases lower prices were accepted to compare favorably with the reduction in the price of wheat. The market was quoted at $3.15@3.40 for patents, $2.00@2.15 for bakers'. Production estimated at 38,000 bbls for the 24 hours, shipments, 33,000 bbls.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 28.—WOOL—The new clause of the tariff bill, when it went into effect today, did not have the least effect on the wool market. Dealers have been anticipating free wool ever since the beginning of the low tariff discussion and prices were gradually adjusted in anticipation of the change weeks before. Foreign wools are about 1½c firmer on an increased inquiry. Domestic wools showed no change within a week. Prices are: Ohio fine fleeces, 21c; Michigan fleeces, 18@19c; No. 1 clothing grades, Michigan and Ohio, 22@23c; No. 1 combings, 23@25c; unwashed fleeces, 12@14c; unmerchantable, 14@16c; Oregon, 12@13c; Montana, 15c.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 28.—GRAIN—Wheat ruled steady early, but later declined with some wavering and closed ⅛c under yesterday; cash, 50½c; August, 50⅛c; September, 50½c; December, 53⅜c; May, 59⅜c. Corn—Bearish feelings controlled, but the decline was only ¼c; cash and August, 52c; September, 52⅛c; December, 48⅛c; May, 49⅝c. Oats—Lower and slow; cash, 30⅛c; August, 30c; September, 30⅛c; May, 35⅛c. Rye—Quiet, 53@54½c. Receipts—Flour, 6,000 brls; wheat, 49,000 bu; corn, 6,000 bu; oats, 26,000 bu. Shipments—Flour 12,000 brls; wheat, 2,000 bu; corn, 11,000 bu; oats, 8,000 bu.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 28.—GRAIN—Wheat—Easy; spot, 55⅝@56c; month, 55⅝@56c; September, 56@56⅛c; December, 59⅛@59⅝c; steamer No. 2 red, 52⅝@53c; receipts, 77,942 bu; shipments, 28,000 bu; stock, 969,202 bu; sales, 30,000 bu; milling wheat by sample, 56@57½c. CUT IN NATURAL GAS.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR INTRODUCTION OF 25-CENT FUEL GAS.

It Is to Come from the Indiana Fields and Be Brought in Under the Universal and Hyde Park Mutual Fuel Gas Companies' Ordinances—Universal Company to Build a Plant of 10,000,000 Feet Capacity—Firm Stock Market—Stronger Sterling.

There is a fair prospect that Chicago will have 25-cent natural gas—fuel gas at just half the rate it is now being supplied for. It will be in competition to the gas trust and the Economic company. The owners of some gas fields in Indiana have opened negotiations with the Universal Gas company for the introduction of natural gas here for fuel purposes, and the negotiations are on the basis of supplying the gas to customers at 25 cents per thousand feet. The Economic pays 25 cents per thousand for the gas at the gas fields, and the bringing of gas here to be sold at that rate by the new company will pretty seriously interfere with the Economic's plans.

The officers of the Hyde Park Mutual Fuel Gas company no longer make any secret of the fact that the same interests that control that company now control the Universal company. There is much active work being done by the Universal company. A large amount of pipe has already been ordered and will be on the ground within two or three weeks, when the work of laying will immediately commence. The company has an option on a tract of land lying on the river just north of Archer avenue. It is the same land which the Economic Gas company once controlled and expected to erect works on, to compete with the gas trust before the company was absorbed by the trust. The plans of the Universal company contemplate the erection of a plant having a daily capacity of 10,000,000 feet. The cost of this plant is estimated at about $900,000. The financial plans of the Universal company are patterned after the methods of the Hyde Park Mutual Fuel company. No bonds will be issued. The stock will be paid up as money is required in the construction of the plant. A majority of the stock has been deposited with a trustee in the same way as the majority of the Hyde Park stock is now held. It is estimated by competent authorities who have carefully gone over the gas situation here that the entire available plant of the Chicago Gas company can be duplicated for $15,000,000. This capitalization against the $50,000,000 or $60,000,000 of the gas trust and the underlying companies makes a sharp contrast. There has now been paid in under the Universal organization about $100,000 on the stock. More will follow as soon as the first installment of pipe is delivered and further assessments will be made as rapidly as the money is reqired in the construction.

Business-men generally were expressing much satisfaction with the final disposition of the tariff bill and the adjournment of Congress yesterday. At some of the banks it was declared there is a distinctly better tone in business as a result of Congress adjourning and the end of doubts on the tariff question. There was considerable activity as a direct result of the tariff becoming a law; customs payments were extraordinarily large.

The stock market was firmer. West Chicago Street railway stock opened at 124 and sold up to 125¼. Jamieson was a buyer of the stock, and on purchases of some 500 or 600 shares by him the advance was based.

People familiar with the electric work that is now being done on the West Side declare that estimates of $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 expenditures for changing the horse-car lines into electric lines are altogether too high. While it is true, they say, that the company has some $600,000 worth of steel rails now on the way, that expenditure will be considerably offset by the old rails which will be taken up from the lines where the new rails are laid down. It will be further offset if not entirely wiped out, it is said, by the sale of horses which will be no longer needed after the lines are operated by electricity. It is claimed, too, that the company now owns a number of pieces of real estate which are necessary so long as the lines are operated by horses, but which will not be needed as soon as the change in motive power is made, and a considerable part of the expenditures for electrical equipment can be met from the sale of this real estate. It is held that the net expenditure of the North Side company for electrical equipment will really be but a few hundred thousand dollars instead of something like $2,000,000, as has been quite generally claimed.

Lake Street Elevated stock was weak. It opened at 17 and sold off to 16⅜ for the second account. Wheeler was a liberal seller. It is said that there are good many holders of the stock who bought on the expectation of a rise after the control passed into the hands of the Yerkes clique who are tired of waiting and are disposed to sell whenever the market looks weak. Rapid Transit stock sold at 9. R. Somers Hayes has returned to the East without any definite arrangements being made about down-town terminals. It is understood that the Metropolitan company is ready to coöperate with the Alley road upon any scheme that that company will put forward. It is said, however, that the Metropolitan has some independent plans for securing a down-town terminal providing the Alley Elevated company is not in a position where it can make a move in that direction.

Sterling rates were firmer yesterday. The market is exceedingly dull, and with the supply of bills and demand for exchange both sharply limited, but the tendency is toward firmness. Quotations were as follows:

	Sixties.	Demand.
Posted....................	486	487½
Actual....................	485¾	486⅜

Sharp improvement and much activity is reported in the leather trade. The United States Leather company, the capacity of whose works is about 280,000 sides a week, is said to have been selling 300,000 sides a week for several weeks against from 70,000 to 100,000 for the corresponding period a year ago.

The increasing demand in England for fairly secured investments is manifest in the remarkable success attending the issue of the Northern railway of the South African Republic (Transvaal) 4 per cent guaranteed loan. The subscriptions the day of issue amounted to over £8,400,000, or nearly eight and a half times the amount of the stock offered.

New York exchange was quoted as follows yesterday: Chicago, 20c discount.

STOCKS QUIET AT LOWER PRICES.

Reaction Before the Close Causes an Approach to the Former Figures.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The stock market today was rather quiet at slightly lower prices than those which prevailed yesterday, but steady at the lower range. There was a small amount of selling done from London, where it seemed the operators were anxious to take profits, and as matters were dull here this had some effect, although not much. The advance in the stock market has now been pretty steady and continuous ever since the tariff bill passed the House of Representatives, as nearly every one except a few chronic doubters believe the bill would finally become a law, and that the tariff question as a disturbing factor would be entirely removed from the situation for a long time to come. Having reached that belief the traders, most of whom had been bears, ranged themselves on the long side of the market, and the sentiment of the street having changed almost entirely prices moved up. Now that the matter has culminated those traders who started in to discount the good effects which would result from the settlement of the question at issue are trying to realize something out of the advance.

The grangers which have had the sharpest advances were a little lower today, though, especially in Burlington, there was a stubbornness shown which was rather remarkable amid the dullness which prevailed. It was due undoubtedly to the surprisingly good showing which that road made in its net earnings for July.

The changes in bonds were about equally divided between advances and declines, but the fluctuations, as a rule, were not wide. The inquiry for bonds continues fair, with the low-priced issues in much favor.

London was disposed to realize profits, and sold a moderate amount of St. Paul and small lots of Louisville and Nashville. Wabash preferred, and other international stocks. It was contango day on the London Stock Exchange, and cables to the foreign houses reported a fair business in Americans.

There was a large crowd in Distilling at the opening, and the excitement of the last few days was renewed, but soon subsided, and a nearer approach to a normal condition of speculation was reached.

There was considerable talk about the company paying the increased tax under protest and testing the validity of the law. The total transactions fell far below those of yesterday, and the fluctuations were confined within much narrower limits. The stock declined 1½ from last night's closing, rallied, reacted ⅝, and recovered ⅜. The extremes of the day from the opening until near the close were 19¼ and 18¼.

American Sugar Refining was also less active and declined a point, with only a slight rally. American Tobacco, General Electric, National Lead, United States Leather preferred, and Laclede Gas were fractionally lower.

There was some pressure to sell Chicago Gas at one time and the stock declined a point. Cordage lost about as much, and the Cotton Oil shares and Consolidated Gas receded 1¼. National Starch rose a point and reacted 1⅛. Business in the industrials was generally smaller than yesterday.

In the late dealings the railway market exhibited a steadier tone and there was a fractional recovery from the bottom figures.

Total sales of stocks today, 163,235 shares.

Money on call easy at 1 per cent; last loan 1, closed at 1 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 3@5½ per cent. Sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at 486¼@487 for demand and at 485½@485¾ for 60 days; posted rates, 486@487 and 487@488; commercial bills, 484½@484¾; silver certificates, 66.

Government bonds firm. State bonds dull, inactive. Railroad bonds weak. The bond market was generally weak all day in sympathy with the stock market, but some shares sold at an advance at the close.

Declines—Erie collateral trust sixes, 3¾; St. Paul L. and D. fives, 1¾; Texas Pacific seconds, 1⅛; Fort Worth and Denver City sixes, Ogden Short Line sixes, Reading thirds, preference, and Tennessee Coal and Iron, Birmingham Division firsts, 1.

Advances—New England sevens, 3⅛; Erie consols, gold, sevens, 2¼; Northern Pacific seconds, 2⅛; do thirds, 1¼; St. Paul consols and Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf firsts, 1 per cent.

Wreck Caused by Some One's Malice.

ST. LOUIS, MO., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Deputy Coroner Rohlfing today held an inquest on the body of Thomas Rusk, the engineer who died from the effects of injuries received in the wreck on the elevated tracks on the Merchants' Terminal company. The evidence favors the theory that the switch on which the locomotive and cars were wrecked had been thrown or partially cocked by some malicious person.

CORN IS IMPROVING.

REPORTS TO THE WEATHER BUREAU SHOW BETTER CONDITIONS.

In Illinois It Is Thought the Increased Acreage Will Bring Up the Yield to That of Last Year, Though Much Is Being Cut for Fodder—Improvement Is Noted in Iowa Districts Which Had Heavy Rainfall—Some Indiana Counties Report Heavy Yields.

Following is the government weather crop bulletin for the week ending Aug. 27, issued from the Chicago office of the Department of Agriculture Weather Bureau:

The reports as to the condition of crops throughout the country and the general influence of weather on growth, cultivation, and harvest were today made by the directors of the different State weather services of the United States Weather Bureau. The reports received by telegraph at Chicago are as follows:

Illinois—Temperature and sunshine about normal, rainfall generally below and badly distributed; drought in southern portion broken. Corn improving, but reports conflict as to the extent of damage. Thrashing about completed. Fall plowing progressing and some seeding done.

Indiana—Cool nights and rains were beneficial to growing crops in many localities. Corn is maturing slowly, but earing better than was expected. Fall plowing progresses slowly.

Wisconsin—Practically no rain has fallen during the week. Temperature and sunshine above normal. Dense smoke covers north and east portions. Too dry for plowing. Corn being cut and crop light. Tobacco fair.

Iowa—Warm and dry, with cool nights and heavy dews. Corn doing well as could be expected, and some fields are safe from frosts if none occur within two weeks. Pastures improving and feeding stock quite general.

Minnesota—Warmer than usual, with deficient rainfall. Small grain yields continue better than expected; corn ripening fast. Few potatoes in hills, but quality excellent. Much stock regularly fed.

South Dakota—Temperature and sunshine considerably above normal, and rainfall below, favorable for thrashing and haying. Wheat averages three bushels to the acre. Wheat, oats, and potato crop in the Black Hills very large yield. Late millet, flax, potatoes, and grass green; rain needed.

North Dakota—Harvesting completed and grain being thrashed. Showers during the week have improved corn, potatoes, pastures, and gardens. Corn will soon be out of danger from frosts.

Kansas—Warm and smoky, with abundant rains in the southwestern and southeastern counties; elsewhere dry. Pastures and late crops much improved in rain districts; elsewhere drying up and stock water low. Haying finished; crop light.

Arkansas—Cloudiness has prevailed during the entire week with frequent showers which reached all portions, stimulating and reviving growing crops and putting the ground in prime condition for stubble breaking and turnip sowing. As a rule cotton is doing well, though some report of the rust and shedding. Corn is made.

Kentucky—Drought effectually broken in most sections and late corn, tobacco, pastures, and gardens are improving rapidly. Some sections still need rain. Tobacco and hemp cutting still in progress; both these crops have been materially shortened by the drought.

Ohio—Local showers have revived vegetation somewhat in the central and southern portions; in the northern counties corn is beyond help and has been or will be cut for fodder. General frost on the 22d did no serious damage. Potatoes small and not over two-thirds crop. On low lands corn promises one-half to three-fourths crop, while hill corn is a failure.

Nebraska—Week very dry, and with little change in crop conditions. Pastures short and much stock being fed. Ground so dry that little progress has been made in plowing.

Oklahoma—Weather slightly cooler with no rain except few local showers; springs and wells failing. Cotton generally doing well and picking commenced. No plowing done.

Missouri—Improved late corn and pastures in southern portion caused by showers and cloudy weather and plowing facilitated. In northern sections drought continues and corn cutting is in progress in many counties. Apples still falling badly.

Michigan—Temperature and sunshine normal; rainfall below; driest week of the season thus far; ground powdery and affords no nourishment to growing crops. Late corn and potatoes entire failure in many localities. Forest fires doing much damage.

There has been too much rain for cotton in portions of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas, and there is considerable complaint from the States of rust and shedding. Picking interfered with by excessive rains is becoming general in the southern portion of the cotton region, and has begun in North Carolina and Oklahoma. Late corn has improved in Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Maryland. The crop is maturing rapidly in Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, and Arkansas, and will soon be free from the danger of frosts in the States named. Drought continues in New England and in the Middle Atlantic States and generally throughout the lake region and Northwest, and rain is greatly needed in those sections for pasturage and to put the ground into condition for fall plowing. Tobacco cutting is progressing in Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Maryland. Late tobacco has been improved by recent rains in Maryland, and the crop is curing in excellent condition in North Carolina. Forest fires are reported from Michigan, Wisconsin, and Montana, and in the last named State have caused much damage.

GOOD ILLINOIS CROP NOW ASSURED.

Drought Broken by Copious Rains—Increased Corn Acreage.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 28.—The weekly crop bulletin issued by the Illinois Weather Service for the week ending Aug. 27 says:

The temperature for the past seven days has been about normal over the northern and central portion of the State, while over the southern division it has averaged from 1 to 2 degrees daily below. An average amount of sunshine prevailed during the week. The rainfall for the week was generally below a seasonable average, and badly distributed. The drought which prevailed over many of the southern counties was broken by copious rains Aug. 23, 24, and 25, the heaviest falling over the extreme southern and eastern half of the southern division. In the central counties while the amount of precipitation was below seasonable average it was generally well distributed. In the northern division, except in a few counties, there was almost an entire absence of rain. While the upland corn is improving, the reports still conflict as to the extent of damage done by the drought. It is thought owing to the increased acreage this season there will be as much corn as last year. Many fields are reported past recovery, and in some parts of Perry and Monroe Counties it is being cut for fodder. The corn on the bottoms is still in good condition, and unless injured by frost will yield well. Broom corn harvest is still progressing, and the yield reported good and of average quality. Owing to the recent rains the ground is in fairly good condition, and plowing is being pushed, and in some sections some seeding has already been done. In many sections of the State this work is still retarded by the unfavorable condition of the ground. Thrashing of grain is about completed. Pastures have improved greatly since last report and are coming along nicely. In many localities apples are still dropping from the trees.

RAINS HELP ALL INDIANA VEGETATION.

Corn and Pasturage Above the Average Expected—Seeding Progresses.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 28.—Cool nights and local rains in most localities several days have improved corn, pasturage, and vegetation in general. Only few correspondents report a continuance of the drought in their locality. Corn is much improved, that which has been utterly ruined excepted. It is maturing well and earing better than was expected. In several counties the crop is reported to be better and larger than for years, even that on clay ground has improved in some localities, but in others much is being cut. A fair crop of clover is being hulled; the seed is of good quality. Millet in some localities is a good crop, in others not so good. Much is in the barn. Tobacco cutting continues, a fair crop being harvested. Buckwheat makes a good crop. Late cabbage and the immense fields of tomatoes have been much improved by the rains. Pastures look less brown, but on some farms stock water is still scarce and has to be hauled, and the stock is being fed on wheat. Hail and strong winds in the northern portion of the State did some damage. Fall plowing and seeding progress more favorably.

WHEAT AND CORN YIELD IS INCREASED.

Reports for Minnesota Show Results Above the Average—Meadows Burning.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The general summary of Crop Bulletin No. 22 issued by the Minnesota weather service shows the continued necessity for rain, not so much for crops as for pasture and to soften the soil for plowing. The bulletin says:

The week has been warmer than usual, while the rainfall continues deficient. Scattered local showers have been beneficial to growing crops in a few places, but in general the drought conditions have become intensified. Hail in Kittson and Murray Counties did a little damage to late crops. There are quite a number of forest fires in the northern portion of the State, and the meadows and marshes are burning. Considerable hay has been destroyed. Thrashing is now well along in the northern portion of the State, and the yields everywhere continue to be better than expected, except in portions of Redwood and Big Stone Counties. Most of the Red River Valley wheat grades No. 1 hard; the exceptions are principally caused by smut. Corn is ripening fast, and some in the southeastern part of the State is being harvested. Its condition relative to prospective yields remains unchanged, with large quantities only fit for fodder. The potato crop, like all the others this year, is uneven; a larger acreage has been planted. On heavy soil, as a rule, the yield will be good, but on light soil the condition varies. In Dakota and Winona Counties complaints are made of dry rot. In Pipestone and Freeborn Counties and a few other spots where the drought was most severe and then broken by copious rains a second growth is doing damage. The universal verdict is the quality of potatoes will be exceptionally good, but there are few in a hill, which will greatly reduce the yield, and the increased acreage cannot overcome a deficit. The quantity of stock being regularly fed owing to short pasture is constantly increasing. General rains now would be of little benefit to crops, but they would help pasturage and place the soil in condition for plowing, which has been greatly retarded.

SOME IMPROVEMENT IN CORN IN IOWA.

Advanced Fields Will Be Matured Beyond Danger of Frost in Two Weeks.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 28.—This week has been warm and dry, daily mean temperature ranging from 2° to 4° above normal, with little rainfall. Nights were cool, however, and heavy dews mitigated droughty conditions. Corn is doing as well as could be expected. Considerable improvement is noted in districts which had the heaviest rainfall. Some of the more advanced fields will be matured beyond danger of frosts within two weeks. The work of cutting for fodder is progressing. Decided improvements are noted in favored localities in the condition of pastures and meadows, but in the larger part of the State stock still requires extra rations. Potatoes give promise of from 20 to 40 per cent of a crop. Plowing is in progress where the ground is not too dry and some seeding has been done.

Good Wheat Returns in North Dakota.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Aug. 28.—The harvest weather for the last two weeks has enabled farmers who were delayed in their seeding to finish cutting their wheat without damage. The gathering of the harvest in North Dakota will be practically finished this week. In some parts of the State it was finished last week. Farmers who finished sowing in March are now rejoicing in an abundant crop. From seventy to eighty days is a short time for a crop of wheat to mature, but this year there are farmers in the Red River Valley who sowed out theirs and shipped it just ninety days from the date of the sowing. This has been the shortest and quickest harvest ever known in North Dakota and the yield is from twelve to forty-eight bushels and more in the valley.

TO PROSECUTE BANK NOTE COMPANY

United States Thinks Its Plates Are in the Line of an Infringement.

United States District Attorney Dixon is preparing to prosecute the Western Bank Note company for making the plates for the issue of special warrants by the State of Mississippi. The statute provides that it shall be considered a felony to make an engraving or print in the likeness of any government obligation. The penalty is a fine of not more than $5,000 or imprisonment for fifteen years. The attorney was of the opinion an indictment against the officers of the company ought to be secured, but was not prepared to say the process should not be merely a civil suit to recover the amount of the fine. The plates were seized by St. Louis officers while being shipped to Mississippi. Mr. Dixon believes the prosecution of the bank note company was a test case to determine the power of a State to issue similar warrants.

MORTON A CANDIDATE.

PLATT SAYS HE WILL RUN FOR GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK.

The Ex-Vice-President Has a Conference with the ex-Senator and the Latter Announces the Result—Political Pot Boiling in the Eleventh Illinois District—Henderson Said to Be in the Lead for the Republican Congressional Nomination.

New York, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—T. C. Platt and ex-Vice-President Levi P. Morton had a conference today. At its conclusion Mr. Platt said Mr. Morton would give out a definite statement later in the week and that he had practically decided to accept the Republican nomination for Governor of New York.

"Mr. Morton will probably issue a statement within a few days, certainly before the expiration of the week, which will dispel all doubt as to his attitude," said Mr. Platt.

"Does that mean that Mr. Morton intends to be a candidate?"

"Why, of course," was the frank reply.

Mr. Morton was assured at the conference with Mr. Platt that the announcement of his candidacy would not only make his nomination sure but would have the effect of spoiling a chance for a fight in the convention. It is understood, too, that it was represented to Mr. Morton that he is the only man who can be named at Saratoga without a battle which would split the party and render victory in November at least doubtful, and perhaps absolutely hopeless. Mr. Platt is said to have told Mr. Morton that at least 600 of the 732 delegates would vote for him if he declared himself a candidate, and that before the first ballot ended he would be named by acclamation.

HENDERSON LOOKS LIKE A WINNER.

Indications Point to Him as a Successor to Judge Fullerton.

Fairbury, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The politicians in this, the Eleventh Congressional District, are now busily engaged discussing the probable nominee at the coming Republican convention at Streator next Thursday in place of Judge Fullerton, deceased. A candidate for the honor resides in each county, excepting this (Livingston), and these delegates are instructed to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of Thomas J. Henderson of Bureau, who also has his home county delegates at his back. Henry Mayo of La Salle County will have his home county delegation for him, and Woodford County will undoubtedly support J. M. Fort of that county who is a candidate, although the delegates go uninstructed. The fight for the nomination promises to be a lively one, inasmuch as both Henderson and Mayo have the same number of delegates, and with the Woodford County delegation voting for Fort there is no telling how long the balloting will last. A lively convention is looked for by all here, with chances in favor of Henderson carrying off the honors. Letters from prominent Republicans in both La Salle and Woodford Counties received here within the last few days would indicate that to be the facts in the case and the masses are for Gen. Henderson.

Eureka, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—It seems highly probable Mr. Henderson of Bureau will receive the nomination at the Congressional convention at Streator Thursday. According to a member of the County committee Livingstone and Bureau Counties have been pledged for him and only seven more votes are necessary to make a nomination and these votes must come from Woodford County. The County Central committee of Woodford County says the same delegates were present at the convention which nominated Col. Fullerton. They go unrestricted.

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Republicans of La Salle County held a convention here today for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Congressional convention to be held in Streator Thursday, where a candidate for Congress in the Eleventh District will be named. Henry Mayo of this city is a candidate, and La Salle County's delegation go instructed for him.

BARNETT PICKED BY THE POPULISTS.

He Is Named for Congress in the Thirteenth Illinois District.

Champaign, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The People's party of the Thirteenth Congressional District, comprising Champaign, McLean, Ford, De Witt, Piatt, and Douglas Counties, met in convention in this city today and chose as their candidate for Congress N. Barnett of De Witt County by acclamation. The Rev. W. H. Kellogg, Prohibition candidate for Congress in this district, addressed the convention, asking its indorsement, but there was no one to put his name before the convention. The Populists of the Thirtieth Senatorial District today named M. O. Stover of Mahomet as their candidate for the Legislature.

Mattoon, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The long talked of Populist Senatorial convention of this district was held today in this city. It was tame, and evidently from appearances a mere perfunctory affair, it being cut and dried to order. M. Sargent of Shelby County was Chairman and J. R. Parker of Coles, Secretary. Adolf Sumerlin of Mattoon, editor and proprietor of the Mattoon Commercial, was nominated for the State Senate and it is presumed will carry with him whatever influence his Democratic journal commands.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—James F. O'Donnell was nominated for Representative by the Democratic convention this afternoon on the second ballot, thus filling the vacancy made by the resignation of Candidate B. J. Claggett, who was nominated by the State convention for State Treasurer. Charles L. Capen was Chairman of the convention and J. J. Thompson secretary. There was a warm debate as to the expediency of placing two candidates in nomination for the Legislature, but the motion was voted down.

Princeton, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Democratic Senatorial convention for the Thirty-first District, composed of the Counties of Bureau, Stark, Whiteside, and Putnam, called to meet in this city today has been postponed until Sept. 18. This action was taken as it was discovered at the last moment that Whiteside County had selected but one-half the number of delegates accredited to it.

Lewistown, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Populists of Fulton County assembled at Cuba today and nominated a county ticket.

PREACHER NOMINATED FOR CONGRESS.

Populists at New Hampton, Ia., Put Up the Rev. C. A. Marshall.

New Hampton, Ia., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A mass-convention of the Populists of the Fourth Congressional District was held here today. After several ballots, in which Calamity Weller figured prominently, the Rev. C. A. Marsnall of McGregor was nominated. Mr. Marshall is a Congregational minister. He has always been a Republican, having served four years in the State Senate from the county some years ago.

Valparaiso, Ind., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Forty Populists from Lake and Porter Counties met in convention today, and nominated Michael Barry for Senator and Nelson J. Bozarth for Prosecutor. At the Democratic Senatorial convention next Thursday an effort will be made to secure the indorsement of the Populist candidate as he has always been a Democratic worker.

Frankfort, Ind., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The remnant of the Ninth District Democracy met in convention here today, and indorsed Alonzo G. Burkhart of Tipton County, the Populist candidate for Congress.

COFFIN NAMED IN GORMAN'S DISTRICT.

Republicans Put Up a Man for Congress Who Is Likely to Be Elected.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Ex-Senator Charles E. Coffin of Prince George County was nominated by the Republicans of the Fifth District today for both the short and long terms. This is Senator Gorman's district, in which there is a split in the Democratic forces. The convention met in this city and was attended by many prominent Republicans. The nomination of Mr. Coffin for both terms met with slight opposition. Henry W. Claggett of Prince George County was also put in nomination. He received but few votes, and Mr. Coffin's nomination was promptly made unanimous. Mr. Coffin is 50 years of age, a native of Massachusetts, but for many years a resident of this State. He is the owner of extensive iron furnaces on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. He was elected to the State Senate in 1880 by a majority of over 500 over Stephen Gambrill, Senator Gorman's brother-in-law, who was the Democratic nominee.

REPUBLICAN LOVEFEAST AT DETROIT.

State Central Committee Meets and Discusses the Campaign.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Leading Republicans of the State, already flushed with anticipations of victories yet to come, gathered here today to meet each other, while the members of the State Central committee were in session. The meeting was not long and was harmonious. Chairman McMillan's selection of "Den" Alward of Clare for Secretary was pleasing to all, and was approved without a dissenting voice. The following Executive committee was named:

A. W. Smith of Adrian, Frank M. Wadeligh of Battle Creek, Frank M. Wait of Sturgis, Karson D. Smith of Cassopolis, W. S. Eddy of Greenville, Lou Burt of Detroit, M. N. Klugan of Port Sanilac.

The coming campaign was only discussed broadly, details being left to the Executive committee, which will meet in the morning, after which the committee with various prominent politicians will be the guests of Chairman McMillan on his yacht for the day. Most of the nominees on the State ticket were present, as well as the political secretaries of Senator Patton and Congressman Burrows, both of whom earnestly desire to have the Legislature choose their principal as Stockbridge's successor in the United States Senate.

"BLACK AND TANS" MEET IN TEXAS.

Republican State Convention Forms a Temporary Organization.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 28.—The regular or "black and tan" State Republican convention met here at noon today, fully five-sixths of the delegates being negroes. W. F. Crawford of Milan County was elected Temporary Chairman, and D. C. Kolb of Iowa Park was chosen Secretary. A letter was read from Charles Ogden of San Antonio to the effect that he would not accept the nomination for Governor. The following are spoken for on the State ticket:

W. K. Mackson, for Governor; R. B. Kenfro, for Lieutenant-Governor; E. R. Meeks, for Attorney-General; G. W. Loudon, Treasurer; E. Anderson, for Commissioner of the Land Office.

The convention adjourned until tomorrow after appointing the usual committees.

TILLMAN HAS IT ALL HIS OWN WAY.

Governor of South Carolina Will Probably Be United States Senator.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 28.—Returns from all over the State indicate that only about a two-thirds vote was polled at the primary election today. The anti-Tillmanites generally refrained from voting. Tillman carries every county with the exception of Charleston, Richland, and Sumter, and probably one other. The Legislature will be overwhelmingly for Tillman for United States Senator, insuring Butler's defeat. The conservatives will likely run an independent ticket at the general election in November and that will be Butler's only hope of capturing the Legislature. The general election was quiet.

Populist Chairman Uneasy.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Chairman A. L. Maxwell of the Populist State Central committee is uneasy as to what may become of the nominations filed on behalf of his party and announced today that he intended to test in the courts the questions which have lately been raised by Secretary of State Hinrichsen regarding the filing of certificates of nominations. Mr. Maxwell is at present conferring with some Chicago attorneys in regard to the matter and expects soon to file a petition asking for a writ of mandamus to require Secretary of State Hinrichsen to show cause why the nomination papers in certain cases should not be issued, the purpose being to bring about a judicial determination of the questions at issue.

Ignatius Attacks Judge MacDonald.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—In his Populist paper, the Representatives, Ignatius Donnelly yesterday made a violent attack upon Judge J. L. MacDonald of this city, Chairman of the Populist State Central committee, whom he charges with being behind a scheme to start a Populist daily paper in St. Paul to ruin the Representatives. Donnelly demanded that MacDonald be removed from the Chairmanship. MacDonald today denied the charge that he originated the scheme for such a paper, but acknowledged after it took shape he interested himself in the venture.

Five "Pops" Form a Club.

Aurora, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A second attempt to organize a People's Party club in this city was made this evening. George Battenschlaz was elected President. Just five persons joined the club, including the Chairman and organizer. Similar clubs are being formed throughout the Fourteenth Senatorial District with the avowed intention of electing a State representative. The Senatorial convention will be held Sept. 15 either at Turner or Elgin.

Sympathy for Pullmanites.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Populist convention of the Richmond District which met today and nominated Judge James M. Gregory for Congress passed resolutions of sympathy with the Pullman employés in their sufferings.

Tunnel for Governor of Delaware.

Dover, Del., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Democratic State convention today nominated Ebe W. Tunnel of Sussex County for Governor, and Samuel Bancroft Jr. of New Castle County for Representative in Congress.

Named to Succeed Dave Mercer.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—D. Clem Deaver was nominated for Congress today by the Second District Populist convention. This is the district now represented by Dave Mercer.

Congressman Sibley of Pennsylvania positively declines a renomination on account of ill-health.

L. W. Royse, Republican candidate for Congress in the Thirteenth Indiana District, delivered an address last night at Bourbon.

W. P. Daniels, Mayor of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Grand Secretary of the Order of Railway Conductors, has been nominated for Congress by Fifth District Democrats.

Populist meetings announced: James A. Crawford, State President Mine Workers of America, Sept. 3, Decatur; Sept. 4 to 9, Sangamon County; Sept. 11 to 15, Christian County; Sept. 16 to 19, Macon County; Sept. 23 to 27, Logan County; Oct. 1 to 5, Menard County.

CLEVELAND GOING TO TYRINGHAM.

The President and Family to Visit the Quiet Berkshire Town.

Lenox, Mass., Aug. 28.—President and Mrs. Cleveland are expected to visit Berkshire in September. If they do they will come to the quiet country Town of Tyringham, which is fifteen miles from Lenox and six or seven miles from the nearest railroad station. Mrs. Cleveland is a warm friend of Mrs. Richard Watson Gilder, who has just returned from a visit to her at Gray Gables. Mr. and Mrs. Gilder sought this quiet country place on account of the beauty of its environments and the quiet which Mr. Gilder could have for his writing and for the healthfulness of the place. Mrs. Gilder gave Mrs. Cleveland an urgent invitation to visit her, and she has practically consented to do so. Tyringham being so isolated Mrs. Cleveland's children would not be annoyed by the curiosity of others as they are at Buzzard's Bay. President Cleveland, who has been consulted about coming here, approves of the plan and would be glad to visit his friend, Mr. Gilder, in this quiet place.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—The President is hastening his work with a view to leaving for Gray Gables as soon as possible, and it is probable that he may leave here tomorrow.

TO STUFF THE ROLLS.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE'S PLANS TO MAKE VOTES.

It Is Given Out That 50,000 New Voters Will Be Naturalized, but This Is Impossible—Allegation That the City Has Been Districted for Colonization Purposes—Move to Have Ryan Withdraw in Lawler's Favor—Populists Planning to Hold a Mass-Meeting.

It has been given out by the Democratic Campaign committee that it will naturalize 50,000 foreign-born citizens before election day. Mayor Hopkins and his colaborers in reform expect to make Democratic voters out of every man the organization will naturalize. Every man who is familiar with the work of making citizens and is posted on the methods of the average City Hall worker knows that it is a physical impossibility to find and naturalize so large a number of citizens in so short a period. The plan, it is asserted, is to spread the news the committee intends to naturalize so large a number in order to pave the way for stuffing the registry lists and to get ready for wholesale fraud. It is to put the people off their guard and to establish a basis for contradicting the cry of fraud after the election is over and some of the practices of the committee are being unearthed by special grand juries.

The fact is the plans are already being formulated. There are men in the City Hall connected with the Democratic organization who are not inclined to do the work forced upon them. There are lodging-house men in the First, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Seventeenth, Twenty-third, and Twenty-fourth Wards who are willing and have received their instructions. The work this fall of stuffing registry lists is not to be confined to the wards named, as has been the practice heretofore. New agents have been sent out and located in every section of the city where the population is dense. Names are being collected of persons who have moved away and who have died since the last election and substitutes will be assigned their places. The work is going on now and those in charge are unusually bold on account of the belief that even should they be indicted they will not be sent to the penitentiary. The manner in which the election fraud cases have been disposed of seems an assurance that they have nothing to fear. The city has been divided into districts for the alleged purpose of naturalizing citizens. It is understood seventeen districts have been formed and the Committee on Naturalization will put a man in charge of each.

MOVEMENT TO HAVE RYAN WITHDRAW.

The Lawler People Want a Clear Field—Not Known What He Will Get.

A movement is on foot to have Tim Ryan, the Democratic nominee for Congress in the Fourth District, withdraw in the interest of Frank Lawler, who has an alleged Populist nomination and is also circulating a petition. The regular Populists repudiate the convention that nominated Lawler. Mr. Lawler insists he is the candidate and is making a fight along these lines. Just what is in store for Ryan if he will withdraw is not known. It was reported he had been offered the nomination for City Treasurer next spring. This story is improbable, however, as Mr. Hopkins would hardly consent to an Irishman being nominated for so prominent a place on the ticket, as he no doubt prefers the Treasurership nomination be given to a German. It may be Ryan has been assured the West Town Assessorship, but he would hardly withdraw on such a promise. Secretary Nelson of the State committee announced yesterday the list of prominent Democratic citizens who will occupy seats on the platform at Mr. MacVeagh's Saturday night meeting would not be announced until the time of holding the meeting. This is to prevent the number of declinations from being known. Congressman McDannold called at headquarters yesterday. Penitentiary Commissioner Dan Heenan of Streator, Andrew O'Connor of Ottawa, receiver for the Consolidated National Bank of San Diego, Cal., and Warden Allen of the Joliet Penitentiary were among the callers. Superintendent of Insurance B. K. Durfee called on his way to New York. The local Democratic Campaign committee is searching for new headquarters.

POPULISTS PLAN A MASS-MEETING.

Have No Place Secured Nor List of Speakers Made Up—New Candidates.

The Populists will hold a meeting tomorrow evening to ratify the Uhlich Hall ticket nominated Friday. It will be a gathering of all the real Populists in the city. A committee was out all day yesterday trying to secure quarters. A definite place had not been found, but it was said at headquarters in all probability the meeting will be held in the West Twelfth Street Turner Hall. President Debs of the A. R. U. was asked to be present and make a speech. No answer has been received, but other A. R. U. men and Populists will be on hand. Among those who will probably speak are:

L. W. Rogers, Thomas J. Morgan, H. S. Taylor, Congressional candidate from the First District, and John Z. White, the Second District Congressional candidate.

Another committee was at work looking up headquarters for the Campaign committee. Thomas J. Morgan said yesterday that the statement he had resigned from the County Central committee was a mistake. He said he would not be able to do any active work. The candidate for Probate Judge was Oscar J. Leiner, and not D. J. Linehan, as reported. The Ryanites will hold a convention Saturday.

PRIMARY JUDGES ARE NOT PROSECUTED.

The Failure of Would-Be Voters to Make Oath Releases Them.

James Sheridan and William Stegman, who were judges at the Republican primaries at Thirty-fifth and Laurel streets June 21, were before Justice Hamburgher yesterday afternoon, charged with violating the Crawford primary election law. The primaries at which the defendants presided were held to elect delegates to the Republican county convention. The votes of a number of men were refused by the judges on the ground those offering them were not Republicans and had no legal right to cast a vote. The persons refused were given an opportunity to make affidavits that they had a legal right, but refused to do so. Justice Hamburgher discharged the defendants. He held if the men were refused an opportunity to vote by a single challenge they could have easily asserted their rights and sworn in their votes if they were entitled to exercise such a privilege. Their neglect to do this left some doubt as to their right to vote at the primary election, he thought.

CARPENTERS' UNION RESENTS INSULT.

Says Representatives Sent by It Should Be Respected Hereafter by All Conventions.

At the regular meeting of Carpenters' Union No. 1 at Lake and Desplaines streets last night the following resolution was passed:

It being a matter of public property that at the convention held Aug. 24 at Uhlich's Hall certain of the representatives of Union No. 1 were unjustly discriminated against, being debarred from admission to said convention, thereby depriving this union of its full representation, and

Whereas, On the matter being investigated by the President and Secretary of the Carpenters' District Council no reason for such discrimination could be given by the Committee on Credentials, therefore be it

Resolved, That Union No. 1 most emphatically resents the insult offered to itself and to its representatives.

Resolved, That we immediately send a communication, together with a copy of these resolutions, to the County Central committee of said party, and be it further

Resolved, That we take this opportunity to notify any bodies to whom we may hereafter send delegates that all such delegates provided with proper credentials signed by officers and bearing the seal of our organization must be respected as our representatives and treated as such.

RECEIVER FOR BOOT AND SHOE FIRM.

Eaton & Stevens Manufacturing Company Said to Be Insolvent.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 28.—An application was made today in the Supreme Court for a receiver for the Eaton & Stevens Manufacturing company, boots and shoes. The grounds upon which the application is based is that the concern is insolvent and that its capital of $250,000 is not fully paid in. The plaintiff said the liabilities were $260,000.

ARM FOR THE FRAY.

the Eighteenth Congressional District and the Forty-fifth Senatorial District candidates will have to certify their nominations by petition.

The contest in the Ninth Senatorial District in this city in reference to the nominations for the House and Senate was referred to the Executive committee and the matter will be taken up today. The matter of ineligible candidates in the Third and Nineteenth Districts was also placed in the hands of the Executive committee, as were all financial matters.

The reports made by the district committeemen as to the condition of the organization and the situation throughout the State were in most instances favorable. The feeling seems to be that the Populists will gain most of their strength from the Democratic party.

Concerning the Women.

There is some difference of opinion among the women who appeared before the committee as to the proper way to organize and it is stated Mrs. Crane will withdraw from the Cook County Women's Educational Association. She is a member of the joint committee of the Cook County and Englewood Equal Suffrage Association. The policy of this organization is to organize the women as the male voters in each party are organized. The other association wants to pursue the lines of educational work by instructing women as to how to vote.

It is understood the Executive committee at its meeting today will direct the Third and Nineteenth Senatorial committees to call conventions to fill the vacancies caused by the ineligibility of candidates who will resign. Another important matter that will come up will be the selection of a treasurer. James H. Gilbert of the Garden City Banking and Trust company, George Schneider of the Illinois National Bank, and E. G. Keith and W. D. Preston of the Metropolitan National Bank are mentioned. It is not often there is a contest for this position.

GOV. M'KINLEY WILL BE PRESENT.

Apostle of Protection Will Address the Meeting of the Republican State League.

Gov. McKinley of Ohio has consented to be present at the annual meeting of the Republican State League and deliver the address. President Tracy of the National League has taken an active interest in securing Gov. McKinley, and considerable correspondence has passed between Secretary A. J. Lester of the State League and the Governor. A letter was received yesterday from the Governor stating he could come to Illinois early in October. Ex-Lieut. Gov. Ray, who is President of the State League, accordingly announced yesterday that the annual convention, which had been called for Sept. 5 at Springfield, would be postponed until early in October. The date will be announced as soon as it is known what time will be convenient to Mr. McKinley.

The Executive committee of the National League will meet in Chicago Sept. 10. It will probably be a lively meeting. There will be a number of Iowa people present to see what can be done toward holding the next annual convention at Des Moines, instead of Cleveland, O. Iowa, at the Denver convention, made a strong fight for Des Moines, and, it is now claimed, fair treatment was not received. The Executive committee will probably take the position that it has no power to change the location of the convention.

COUNTY CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE MEETS.

Many People Do Not Realize There Is an Entirely New Registration This Year.

The Republican County Campaign committee met yesterday and spent several hours on the detail work of organization. A number of the reports of the city and county committeemen regarding the records and character of judges and clerks of election were examined, and it was found the lists in the Election Commissioners' office will have to be purged of about one-fourth the names. Many instance were found where city employés are serving as election judges or clerks. This is contrary to law. In other cases it was found many judges and clerks are not householders. The law requires them to be. Chairman Lorimer of the Registration committee, who has this matter in hand, will prepare a list of all the election officers who are holding their positions illegally and will ask to have them removed. In some instances men were found to be serving who were without visible means of support and who were utterly irresponsible. It has also been brought to the attention of the committee that few people realize that there is an entirely new registration this year. Since the law has been amended a complete registration is required preceding each Congressional election.

REPUBLICAN MARCHING CLUB GROWS.

Membership Has Rolled Beyond the 500 Mark—Picnic Tickets Sold.

The interest in the Cook County Republican Marching club is increasing. At the drill at Madison Hall, No. 146 West Madison street, last evening the attendance was so great Capt. W. F. Knock, the Marshal, had to divide his command into companies of fifty men each and drill one company at a time. There were seventy one recruits Monday night and fifty-eight last night. The club now has a membership of over 500. The committee disposed of 1,200 tickets for Saturday's picnic at last night's drill. An invitation was extended to the members of the State committee yesterday to be present at the picnic and was accepted. Patrick H. O'Donnell, one of Indiana's brilliant orators, will make a speech.

DENY WOODRUFF RECEIVED A MAJORITY

Two Joliet Republicans Say Monroe Will Be Named for State Senator.

J. Fred Wilcox and A. W. Fiero, Chicago business-men who reside in Joliet, say that a statement in The Tribune of last Sunday is incorrect. It was said in a telegraphic report from Joliet that in the recent caucus held by Joliet and Will County Republicans Charles E. Woodruff secured over fifty votes out of eighty-nine in the fight for the nomination for State Senator. According to Mr. Wilcox and Mr. Fiero George H. Monroe received sixty-five out of eighty-eight votes, and Mr. Woodruff was beaten in his own precinct. They also say Mr. Monroe has more than two-thirds of the delegates outside of the Township of Joliet. They claim Mr. Monroe will be nominated and the nomination will be made unanimous.

Suicide of Rainmaker Melbourne.

SUPPLIES RUN SHORT.

PULLMAN RELIEF DISTRIBUTION EXCEEDS THE RECEIPTS.

Headquarters Store Stock Will Last But a Few Days Longer at the Present Rate—Plan Adopted Whereby Each Applicant Will Be Given a Card Good for One Month and Showing How Much Has Been Given to the Family—Plans for the Military Entertainment Tomorrow.

Relief supplies are not pouring into Pullman fast enough to keep the demand fully satisfied more than two or three days longer. A tremendous hole was made in the stock on hand yesterday. Nearly 1,000 orders were filled. Those who received meat, flour, sugar, coffee, and rice Saturday were running short again and stood in line at headquarters. The committee also kept four express wagons busy delivering goods. Most of it went to families on Fulton and Stephenson streets, where there are large numbers of children and where most of the strikers who earned the least wages live. Unless contributions come in faster than they have during the last two days by the end of this week matters among the destitute will be about as bad as they were a week ago when Gov. Altgeld made his visit to the town.

The military entertainment to be given at Tattersall's tomorrow evening by the Chicago Hussars and Troop F of the Third United States Cavalry may help the situation. That promises to be the most interesting affair of the kind ever witnessed in this city and will undoubtedly be well patronized. Through the kindness of Maj.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Capt. G. A. Dodd and his troop will give an exhibition of the highest points in cavalry drill as well as of fancy horseback riding.

The command will start down from Evanston early tomorrow morning, arriving at Lincoln Park at 9 o'clock, where it will be met by the Hussars and escorted to the big pavilion on Sixteenth street. Admission to all parts of the house is 50 cents. The money raised will be used to secure transportation for those men who cannot secure work at Pullman to other cities and for the support of the women and children of the unemployed.

Tickets can be had at all the principal down-town stores, at the box office, or from any member of the troop.

A Chicago wheelman suggests all bicycle riders desiring to aid the Pullman sufferers meet at an appointed place and time, each with a package of provisions or groceries attached to the wheel. Then all could proceed to headquarters of the Relief committee at Kensington. Twenty-five hundred or 3,000 wheelmen, it is suggested, each carrying a few pounds of anything in the line of provisions, would not only form a pretty sight wheeling down Michigan avenue, but give the sufferers enough to live on for several days.

The Rev. W. H. Carwardine received a contribution of $15 from Miss Frances E. Willard accompanied by this note, dated Twilight Park, N. Y., Aug. 22, 1894:

In the present exigency there cannot be two opinions as to the duty and pleasure of all who believe in the gospel of the Golden Rule. I therefore send $15 to the Pullman sufferers and wish it were ten times as much.

Mr. Carwardine has been invited to deliver the Labor day address at La Crosse, Wis., Monday.

The new committee, appointed to take the necessary steps towards procuring employment for the strikers who cannot get work at Pullman, was in session yesterday afternoon, but had nothing to make public. Louis Meyers, in denying the story that a company had been organized to build and operate car shops at Hiawatha, Kas., said it had probably been started by agents of the Pullman company, who, he said, are going through the country doing all they can to discourage communities from offering inducements to any number of the striking employés to leave Pullman.

How Brick-Yards Men Fared.

It is denied the brick-yards employés suffer more than any other portion of the Pullman strikers. Those living in the $8 a month houses are Tyroleans and the statement was made every one of them has money saved to return to his native land. As many as eight live in one of the little houses, thus making the rent light, and it is claimed they were earning good wages up to the time of the strike. The superintendent of the yards gave a few figures from his notebook, showing what each of the brick-yards members of the Strike committee earned during the month of April and to May 29, when they struck. William Fozier, a tosser, was paid $91.58 in April and $83.62 for May; Martin Powers, a waller and dauber, had $89 in April and $101.40 in May; Luke Burke, a brick setter, received for April $105.67 and for May $100.82; Rockey Navigato's earnings were $92.54 and $87.59, and William Jenkins received the same. When running with a full force the yards give employment to 110 men. Only one machine is being operated now, and the force at work numbers thirty-five men. Of these, twenty-two are old employés.

The Relief committee is endeavoring to make arrangements to enable them to obtain fuel, of which there is a great scarcity among the strike sufferers at present, for distribution.

New System of Distribution.

A new system of distribution was put into operation yesterday. Each man is given a card bearing his name, residence, and address, and number in family. The card contains the number of the days in the month and a list of provisions dispersed by the committee. The advantage obtained is that those assisting in the relief work can readily ascertain just what the applicant has received in the past and the date, so that no one can obtain more than his just share. Yesterday's distribution consumed most of the supplies the committee had on hand with the exception of meat, allowances of which will be made daily.

At Salvation Army headquarters the work of relief could not be renewed until afternoon, as all of the supplies on hand had been given out the day before. In the afternoon supplies of clothing and provisions collected throughout the city arrived and the work of distribution was continued until evening.

The meeting of delegates from the eighteen local unions to consider the question of declaring the strike off may be held tomorrow evening.

Gov. Altgeld was given a snub by the Public Service committee of the County Board yesterday. It placed his communication in relation to the sufferers at Pullman on file without reading. This communication never has been read either in committee or in the board and the action yesterday was considered rather remarkable.

Grand Sham Battles, Drills, and Dress Parades

Will be participated in by 1,800 United States soldiers—infantry, cavalry, and artillery—at the parade grounds near Evanston Monday, Aug. 27; Wednesday, Aug. 29, and Saturday, Sept. 1, and on those days special excursion trains will leave Chicago via the Northwestern Line at 2:15 p. m. and run direct to the parade grounds. Trains for the city will leave returning at 4:30 p. m., or immediately after the exercises. There is no charge for admission to the parade grounds, and the fare for the round trip is only 50 cents.

LAKE SHIPPING NEWS.

Freights and Charters.

Chicago—Although vesselmen tried to advance the wheat rate to 1¼ cents, they were unsuccessful, and business was done at the old figures. Charters: To Buffalo—Progress, wheat at 1⅛ cents; Robert Mills, Armour, oats at 1⅛ cents.

Cleveland, O.—The ore rate from the head of Lake Superior was advanced to 80 cents today and all tonnage offered was taken at that figure. Shippers were unable to get Marquette tonnage at 50, but the Escanaba rate holds steady at 45. The coal freights situation is unchanged. At the meeting of vesselman telegrams from out of town owners instructing agents to hold out for the advanced coal rate to Lake Superior were read. While owners do not expect to get 50 cents at once, they are satisfied that it will be paid next week. Charters—Henry Chisholm, D. P. Rhodes, Quayle, Germanic, Hutchinson, Everett, Minch, head of Lake Superor to Lake Erie, 80 cents. Coal—Glidden, Cleveland to Milwaukee, 50 cents; Warmington, Cleveland to Racine; Kershaw, Moonlight, Ironton, Sandusky to Manitowoc, 50 cents.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Coal charters: New Orleans, Chicago; Flower, Marvin, Milwaukee; Filmore, Kenosha; Fryer, Racine; Pawnee, Marinette; J. R. Edwards, Green Bay, all 50 cents. Canal freights dull.

Duluth, Minn.—Charters were made today for wheat to load next week at 2¼ cents. The Mary McGreggor was placed for ore to Chicago at 80.

Detroit, Mich.—Chartered—Andrews, wheat to Buffalo, 1¼ cents; Ellsworth, coal, Cleveland to St. Ignace, 35 cents.

Oswego, N. Y.—Chartered: Coal—Omaha, Milwaukee, 85 cents; O. Mitchell, Toledo, 50 cents.

Marine Notes.

The schooner Truman Moss collided with the barge George Sturges Monday night in the outer harbor. The Sturges was not damaged, but the Moss lost its bowsprit, jibboom, and headgear. It was picked up and towed into the river by a tug.

Capt. J. S. Dunham yesterday ordered the wrecking tug Swain from Detroit to the schooner James G. Blaine, ashore on South Fox Island. The schooner must be raised by hydraulic jacks and relaunched. When it is released the Blaine will be taken to Manitowoc for repairs.

THIS CONCLUDES THE LITIGATION.

Public Auction of Property in Arizona Sold for $900,000.

Phœnix, Ari., Aug. 28.—The receiver for the property of the Gile Bend Reservoir and Irrigation company, the Arizona Construction company, and the Peoria Canal company, cognate corporations, sold the same today at public sale for $900,000. This concludes a long period of litigation and insures the pushing of the enterprise.

Death of the Rev. Dr. J. A. M. Williams.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 28.—The Rev. Dr. J. A. M. Williams, pastor emeritus of the First Baptist Church, died today at Chapel Hill, N. C., aged 74 years. VESPER IS IN ASHES.

SMALL MICHIGAN TOWN IS NEARLY SWEPT OUT OF EXISTENCE.

Twenty-three Houses Destroyed and Several Million Feet of Lumber—Forest Fires Raging Throughout Michigan and Wisconsin and Many Other Villages Threatened with Destruction—Residents Kept Busy Fighting the Flames—Crops and Buildings Suffer.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Village of Vesper, sixteen miles south of Marshfield, Wis., is burning. Twenty-three dwellings have been destroyed, rendering that many families homeless. The saw mill, planing mill, and 9,000,000 feet of lumber have also burned. The people were powerless to stop the flames. Night trains to Marshfield cannot get through tonight. The air is permeated with smoke everywhere. Vesper was a small lumbering village of about 300 inhabitants. Provisions have been sent to the fire sufferers from Marshfield.

It is impossible to give a correct estimate of the loss, but from the reports received it is believed that $150,000 will cover it. The principal business-houses of the burned town were:

Frank Arnold, carpenter shop; D. P. Bisbee, machine shop; E. T. Bisbee, saw filer; Diedrich Canillhoff, shoemaker shop; Patrick Flannigan, saloon; Sherry, Cameron & Co., general store and shingle mill; F. M. Stearns, shingle mill; Henry Vanderheel, carpenter shop; Frank Wesenberg, saloon and butcher shop; Joseph White, hotel; Joseph Yerkil, blacksmith shop.

Marshfield, Wis., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A telegram was received here this evening saying that Vesper, a small village fifteen miles east of here, was burning. Heavy forest fires have been raging in the vicinity the last week, and, although the cause is not known, it is believed Vesper shared the fate of Phillips by one of these monster destroyers.

THREATENED BY RAGING FOREST FIRES.

Residents of Small Michigan Towns Busy Fighting the Flames.

Saginaw, Mich., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The wind changed to the northeast during the day and the atmosphere is somewhat cleared of smoke. Reports indicate there is no let up in the sweep of the fires. The forests in every direction are a mass of flames and the inhabitants of many of the small hamlets and logging and lumber plants in the northern counties have been fighting fires for days. W. F. Stevens of this city lost $6,000 worth of shingles in Gladwin County last night. Large quantities of hay, fences, and crops have been utterly destroyed and every report brings in statements of losses. The Saginaw, Tuscola and Huron railroad company is fighting fire on its lines and a number or large farms were burned over yesterday and today.

Bay City, Mich., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Forest fires have been burning in this vicinity for some time past and numerous cases are reported of farmers losing crops, while a great deal of cordwood, timber, etc., has been destroyed. The smoke along the Mackinaw Division of the Michigan Central has been so thick that it is impossible for trainmen to distinguish signals the length of a car in front of them, and the company has adopted the block system of running trains. Two wrecks have already occurred, owing entirely to the smoke. Navigation on Saginaw Bay at night is carried on with the greatest caution.

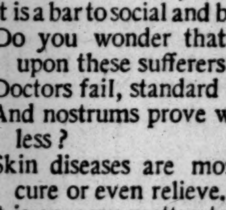

Iron Mountain, Mich., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—This city has for days past been enveloped by a dense cloud of smoke from brush fires. The damage is slight, as the land for miles around the city is practically denuded of pine of value. This condition of things is causing lumbermen to delay building camps for fear of starting fires where greater damage would be done.

Harrisville, Mich., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Numerous fires in the already half burned forests which inclose this village on three sides have caused several alarms to be sounded within the last few days. Several farmers near town have been fighting fire constantly for the last week and reports have come in of considerable damage already done to buildings and fences. The turf along the marshes and woodlands is so dried out by the long dry spell that it only wants a good start to burn like tinder. Many blazes have occurred just at the edge of the village, causing a great deal of excitement, but merchants, laborers, and all hands have turned out promptly and have thus far kept the fires under control. To extinguish them entirely is out of the question until a solid downpour of rain comes to assist in the work. This morning early the heavy cloud of smoke which has hung over the village for several days lifted for a short time, but tonight it hangs over the town as dense as ever. There are some indications this evening of a shower and people are correspondingly happy and hopeful.

More Indictments at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 28.—The grand jury this evening returned a joint indictment against Councilmen Thomas Haley and Peter B. Caulfield, also an indictment against Ald. Frank B. Thriffiley. The indictments are in connection with the Louisville and Nashville switch privilege.

PRESIDENT PULLMAN'S salary, it appears, was not reduced.

"WE need more warships in China," observes the New York Herald. So does China.

IT will be a different kind of Congress Mr. Cleveland will have on his hands next time.

THE members of the Fifty-third Congress are now returning home.
[N. B. Most of them will stay there.]

BUFFALO was a little tardy in squelching its army of Coxeyite hobos, but it did the job in good style when it got around to it.

THE Hon. Levi P. Morton has returned from Europe and is about to place his Gubernatorial boom in the hands of a number of carefully selected friends.

STOCKS were weak in Wall street yesterday. The local market was firmer. Sterling rates advanced. New York exchange sold at 20 cents discount.—The leading produce markets were dull, provisions excepted. Wheat was depressed by heavy receipts. Corn ruled lower, but held up fairly well under attacks by the professionals. As compared with the latest prices of the previous day September wheat closed ⅝ cent lower, corn ⅜ cent lower, oats ¼ cent lower, cash rye 1½ cents lower, barley firm, flaxseed steady, January pork 12½ cents higher, lard 7½ cents higher, and ribs 2½ cents higher.

IN a speech at Little Rock, Ark., a few days ago Editor Carmack of the Memphis Commercial Appeal said he had "neither the time, nor the breath, nor the power of speech even to recite the crimes of the Republican party," but he went ahead bravely and summed up the awful record thus: "If you were to descend to the depths of perdition, to the uttermost depths of damnation—if you should drag hell with a harrow and sweep it with a broom—you could not parallel the iniquities of the Republican party." [Applause.] Editor Carmack has been misinformed.

IT is intimated that the alleged attempt to borrow $4,500,000 for the purpose of taking out of bond spirits belonging to the whisky trust, and the failure to do so, was a ruse whereby to milk the lambs in the stock market. Close on a million dollars is said to have been made by a few men, who deliberately avoided a saving more than that to the trust, which they might have done by taking the spirits out of bond before the new law went into effect. If the truth be told it was a wicked thing to do, and yet no more than might be expected from a set of men who essay to grow rich by the manufacture of the enemy which men put into their mouths to steal away their brains.

IF merchants and manufacturers felt assured that this law is the end of the Democratic tariff tinkering they at once could set about adapting themselves to the new conditions. Wages will have to be further reduced in many instances, and not a few changes made in the conduct of business in the departments which most are affected by the new law. But on the modified basis they could do business, always provided they were not afraid of another upset by interference with trade. In view of this it may be regarded as particularly unfortunate that President Cleveland has foreshadowed in his letter the making of another attempt to throw the business interests of the country into intolerable confusion.

THE Health Commissioner is exceedingly anxious to have the city build a smallpox hospital, "which hardly could be built for less than $300,000." He says that "there has been smallpox through the summer, and it would be folly to presume that we will escape it this winter. The second epidemic is always worse than the first." The Health Commissioner should spend his time at home fighting smallpox instead of taking pleasure trips down East, returning therefrom to ask for $300,000 hospitals and for 300 men with big salaries. The present pesthouse is not a model structure, but there is no necessity for an outlay of a third of a million for a new one. It looks very much as if the Health Commissioner was trying to get up a smallpox scare for the purpose of squeezing out of the Council a large appropriation for some highly ornamental structure. The building needed can be put up for very much less money, and the amount of smallpox next winter will depend on the intelligence and vigilance displayed this summer and fall.

MR. WICKES, the Second Vice-President of the Pullman company, said yesterday that "the fact that rents in settlements adjacent to Pullman had dropped from 12 to 15 per cent was no reason why the rents at Pullman should be lowered." He will find few to agree with him. If the Pullman company had not been in the manufacturing business but had simply owned these houses, rented them to men employed in different industries, and had had no other source of income than its rents, those rents would have been lowered promptly the minute the general reduction began. They would have had to be lowered or no houses would have been occupied. The fact that the company was employer as well as landlord, and that it could give the preference to employés who lived in its own houses, may explain, but does not justify, the attempt of the company to maintain an artificial rent scale.

CLEVELAND AND THE TARIFF.

The tariff letter which the Democrats managed to extort from Mr. Cleveland at the last moment contains nothing calculated to reassure business-men. He says that the measure which he denounced in his first epistle to Chairman Wilson "furnishes a vantage ground from which must be waged further aggressive operations against protected monopoly and governmental favoritism." "The millions of our countrymen who have fought bravely and well for tariff reform should be exhorted to continue the struggle."

This is a notice served on the manufacturers by the head of the Democratic party that they are not to look for stability as regards the earnings of capital or the wages of labor. They are informed by this high authority that the disturbed conditions of the last twelve months are to be repeated as quickly as possible, and that peace can be expected only till Congress reassembles. Then the war will begin again.

The manufacturers would like a little peace so they may be enabled to keep on in business, having some slight margin of profit left after they have paid wages and other expenses. But the President has informed them that if they do attempt to continue in business under the present tariff law they are making a mistake, for that law is not to be a finality, but that there are to be "engrafted upon it such modifications as will more nearly meet Democratic hopes and aspirations." The President gets so worked up that at this point he drops into poetry.

Put into prose this means that Mr. Cleveland intends his party shall give the country an additional dose of free trade as soon as possible. The wage reductions of the present tariff law are not sufficient for him. There have not been enough conflicts between employer and employé in the attempt to reorganize American industry on the basis of the new Democratic wage scale. The unhappy experiences of the last year are to be repeated on the same or a more extensive scale.

Happily the voters have a great deal to say about these further forays on protection. Mr. Cleveland may propose, but the people have the disposing in their hands. If they mark their ballots this coming November in favor of an additional cut of protection, and if in 1896 they vote to abolish the last vestige of protection, then Mr. Cleveland's hopes will be realized. But if the people say "no" then Mr. Cleveland will have to submit.

In the meanwhile manufacturers, merchants, and business-men generally will have to do the best they can. They had been hoping that the Democratic party was through with the tariff question for some years at least, and that they would be allowed to pick themselves out of the mud and go ahead. They will read with anger and dismay the announcement of the President that he intends to force them back into the slough of despond and keep them there.

THE DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN FUND.

The annual address read before the American Bar Association, last week, by Mansfield Storey of Boston dealt with the change in the relations existing between the people and the Legislatures, the former looking upon the latter with increased distrust, and with the danger which threatens the republic through bribery and corruption of men in office. Said Mr. Storey, among other things:

> If we would purify the Legislature we must purify the campaign, and especially must we abolish that prolific source of direct bribery, that convenient cover for the indirect purchase of the Legislature, known as the campaign fund. The enormous sums which are now collected are so spent as to indirectly demoralize the voters, and to buy legislative and executive office, but this is by no means their worst use. The enormous expenditure which we now tolerate must be stopped, and perhaps no more efficient way can be devised than the English system, which forbids any improper payment by a candidate or in his interest, unseats the candidate who violates this law, and in aggravated cases disfranchises the corrupted constituency.

The people have just seen an example on a grand scale of the mischievous workings of the campaign fund. They have seen the tariff legislation of Congress controlled or dictated by a trust which owed its overwhelming influence to the great monetary contributions it had made for the success of the Democratic national ticket. If there had been no campaign funds in 1892 the Democratic sugar trust would not have had Senatorial representatives at Washington. It would not have enjoyed the pleasure of visits from the Democratic Secretary of the Treasury when he was in New York. The trust would not have had the audacity to ask that the duty on raw sugar remain inoperative till the 1st of January so it might make an extra profit of over forty millions on one year's sales. But for its campaign fund subscriptions the trust would not have been able to delay action on the tariff bill till it had succeeded in importing all the raw sugar then in the market, thus enabling it to make immense profits at the expense of the Treasury.

These facts are known to all the people of the United States. Chicagoans, however, do not have to look away from home to learn about Democratic campaign funds. There is one growing before their eyes which deserves their attention. This pool of corruption is being fed from many sources. Streams of money flow into it monthly from State, County, and Federal officeholders. A failure to contribute is evidence of disloyalty to be followed in most cases by prompt dismissal. The tax imposed for the campaign fund is one which cannot be dodged. That fund is being swelled by the monthly contribution of gamblers and other disreputables. They too are taxed. If they refuse to pay, their business is broken up, not by the Sheriff, but by the police. The candidates have to contribute to this fund according to the commercial value of the offices they hope to get.

Mr. Storey says that funds like the one being nursed to huge proportions here are used "to indirectly demoralize the voters and buy legislative and executive office, but this is by no means their worst use." That "worst use" is to cover the expenses of the fraudulent naturalization of aliens; to hire men to register falsely and then to organize them into bands to go from poll to poll casting illegal ballots for Democratic candidates; to bribe clerks to make a dishonest canvass of their precincts, and not to report the names of men who could not be found at the places from which they tried to register, and to bribe judges to receive the votes of men they knew were not entitled to the suffrage. These are the "worst uses" of Democratic campaign funds.

The money which the Democrats are collecting in this city and county will be poured out like water to elect Democratic members of the Legislature so that Mr. MacVeagh may go to the Senate, and to elect Democratic county officers, so that the grip of the Democratic machine on the city and county may be strengthened. So these results are secured the morality or immorality, lawfulness or unlawfulness of the methods employed will not trouble the Democrats in the least. As they cannot win with honest votes they propose to win with money and fraud.

RENTS AT PULLMAN.

Mr. Pullman stated in his testimony before the Strike Commission that the basis on which rents at Pullman were fixed was to make a return of 6 per cent on the actual investment, making allowance for the cost of the streets and other public improvements. But he said there never had been a return of 6 per cent, the net revenue for several years being 4½ per cent, and during the last two years, owing to additional taxes and heavier repairs, only 3.82 per cent, and that income was so low, said Mr. Pullman, that "there was no room for a reduction of rents."

THE TRIBUNE is not prepared to admit that Mr. Pullman's reasoning is sound and that there was "no room for a reduction of rents." Other owners of improved real estate in this city, more dependent on the income from their houses than is the Pullman company, have set out by figuring their net rentals on a 6 per cent basis and have been forced down to a lower point than the Pullman company has reached. They found it necessary last year to lower their rents very materially or go without tenants. The rents all around Pullman were lowered. Why should not those in Pullman have been? The general depression in business, due to the tariff tinkering of the Democrats, should have had just as much effect on rents in Pullman as in Kensington or Roseland. It would have had just as much if the sole source of revenue of the company had been the renting of the houses it owned.

Mr. Pullman was both landlord and employer. As landlord, he took the ground that there were no hard times and charged the old rents, which his men paid cheerfully when wages were high. As employer he had to recognize the fact that times were hard and not being able to get as high prices for the cars he made he had to cut down the wages of the men who worked on them. Those men would have been more ready to admit the necessity of that cut in their wages if they had seen their landlord-employer forced to reduce rents as landlords near Pullman had been forced to reduce them. If the percentage of wage-earnings which went for house rent had been left about the same, by a reduction in rents when wages went down, it is doubtful whether there would have been any strike, and then Debs would have had nothing to base his insurrection on. The men would have been more ready to admit that the commercial value of their work had been reduced and that they ought to accept lower wages when they saw that the landlord was admitting that the commercial value of house-room had fallen and was reducing rents as a consequence. The men would have seen then that the leveling process applied to all things—to profits, wages, and rents.

There is another point which deserves mention. At the time when Attorney-General Moloney announced that he was going to begin quo warranto proceedings against the Pullman company because it was owning and renting houses as well as making cars, the General Solicitor of the company defended the legality of its course on the ground that it was for the direct interest of the company as a manufacturer to do what it had done. With it as landlord as well as employer there would be "better results in the character of the operatives themselves as citizens and in the quality of their product as workingmen, in which capacity they constitute the most important factor in a great productive business enterprise." Hence the object of the company in going into the house-renting business was not so much to get a commercial return on capital invested in houses as to get better work. The profit was expected to come from that quarter. If the company did get the better work it reckoned on as the result of its experiment it ought to be satisfied, especially during hard times, if it got a lower rate of profit from its tenements than an owner would expect who was not employer as well as landlord.

It appears from the statement made yesterday by Mr. Wickes that contracts amounting to $1,400,000 were taken at a figure so low as to involve a loss of $112,000. Of that loss the company stood $52,000 and the reduction in the wages covered the remaining $60,000. Mr. Wickes admitted that this division of the loss was not a fair one. It would have seemed much less unfair to the men if their rents had been lowered. As things turned out the company has gained nothing by pursuing a different policy, for its rent collections for the last four months have been nil.

MORE MEN AND MORE MONEY WANTED.

The Chicago Health Commissioner has been down East on one of those tours of inspection which city officers are fond of making, and from which they always return full of projects for the spending of more money and the hiring of more men. They come back with extravagant ideas, but never with useful ones.

The Health Commissioner has been to Tammany-ridden New York, which is the Mecca to which Democratic officeholders from all parts of the country like to make pilgrimages. He found that the Health Department of the Eastern city has 300 men while he has but 100 under him. Therefore he is of the opinion that the Chicago department should have five times as many men as now, and that five times as much money should be appropriated for it. New York has a smaller area than Chicago, and therefore, according to the Commissioner, Chicago ought to have a larger number of employés.

He does not seem to have investigated the question whether these 300 men who are on the New York pay-rolls are efficient workers. Nor does he return with any new ideas as to the way in which the 100 men on the Chicago pay-roll can be made more efficient than they are. He simply wants more men and more money, instead of endeavoring to secure better results with the men and money he has now. So, next spring, when the time comes for the Council to pass on the appropriation bill, he will ask to be given a larger force so that his pay-roll may be as large as that of the Tammany Health Commissioner of New York.

Such a request will meet with the cordial approval of the Mayor. He likes large payrolls. The greater the number of employés drawing big salaries the better pleased he is, for then there are more workers—not for the citizens but for the party. The Health Commissioner is doubtless well aware of this weakness of the Mayor, and it helps to explain this announcement that there ought to be at least 300 men employed where there are now but 100.

The people would like to have a Commissioner who, instead of asking for three times as many men, will devise some method of making the 100 men on the pay-rolls do three times as much work as they do now. They could do it without hurting their health in the least if they paid less attention to Democratic picnics and to politics and more to the work they are paid to attend to.

THE COST OF STRIKES.

Mr. Burnett, the chief labor correspondent of the British Board of Trade, has furnished a report containing some valuable information in regard to the cost of strikes in the British Islands. His figures mostly are for 1892, a year in which there were comparatively few strikes, and only one of the first magnitude. Particulars were obtained in relation to 568 strikes, in which about 236,800 persons were engaged. Nearly two-thirds, or 65.7 per cent, of the strikes were intended to obtain advances in wages, and of these 41.4 per cent were successful, though affecting only 20.6 per cent of the persons concerned. The partially successful strikes were 18.1 per cent in number, and embraced 47.9 per cent of the persons. The residue of 35.7 per cent of the strikes, to which 29.5 per cent of the total of workmen on strike were parties, were entirely unsuccessful. Mr. Burnett incorrectly assumes that no part of a rise in wages following a strike would have been obtained without the struggle, but even on that basis he concludes that "with knowledge of the elements of which the partial successes are made up it is quite certain the losses more than counterbalanced the gains."

More than a thousand establishments, employing about 30 per cent of the workmen who took part in the strikes of 1892, placed at the disposal of the Board of Trade the data contained in their books, and the resulting figures substantially agree with those given by the trades unions. There was a loss of $2,350,000 per week in wages, or a total of $18,800,000 for the year, to which should be added the loss on an aggregate of 90 millions of capital lying idle and a loss of more than $800,000 to 475 concerns in stopping, maintaining, and reopening works. Statistics of net results to the workers are not fully given, but the report contains one significant statement. The trades union figures show that in respect to 246 strikes and one lockout, in which an aggregate of 121,357 persons were concerned, the amount of weekly wages paid before the strike was $796,000, and after the stoppages the amount paid to the same number of persons was $742,800, being a reduction of 6½ per cent as against an advance of 5 per cent in 1891. It also is stated that in the case of 166 strikes fought out to the bitter end the men had to give place to others or submit unconditionally.

The London Times calls attention to the fact that most of those who took part in the English strikes desired merely to get better wages or shorter days. They had no thoughts of bringing about a social revolution. But "in strikes of the type engineered by Mr. Debs and Mr. Sovereign there is a very imperfect notion of any direct gain in view." The action of the railroad strikers here is characterized as "mischief for mischief's sake, destruction of capital even if no good comes of it to any concerned." It says the object of such strikes, in the secret counsels of the leaders, is not so much to get better wages as to disorganize and demoralize industry, even if the result be in certain trades to diminish greatly the power of earning wages. "To talk of arbitration with some of those in the front of the agitation was much like mooting such an idea to one who in a dark lane by night demands the watch or purse of the passer-by. We have had in Chicago a foretaste of a strike such as the disciples of Herr Bebel and Herr Most desire to see universal; a strike used as a weapon of industrial anarchism, something corresponding to the bomb and infernal machine of the political assassin." The Times speaks of it as peculiarly lamentable that this destructive spirit, "one of the commonest forms of insanity," should be exhibited on the largest scale in the city where a few months ago the marvels of modern industry were displayed to the gaze of an admiring world.

DEMOCRACY AND FLAX CULTURE.

The Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter calls attention to the fact that the new tariff law may operate disastrously on the market for American grown flaxseed. The tariff act of four years ago provides for a duty of 30 cents per bushel of fifty-six pounds, and that "no drawback shall be allowed on oil cake made from imported seed." In the new law 20 cents per bushel is the rate of duty to be imposed on imports of flaxseed and the words above quoted are omitted. The omission of the restriction is accepted as an intentional notification to hereafter allow such drawback to be paid, and "there are some who already have made preparations to take advantage of the opportunities which this affords to use imported seed and secure a drawback on the oil cake produced therefrom."

While the reduction in the amount of the duty on oil may not admit of free importations, the allowance of the drawback on the oil cake exported will reduce the duty on the oil made here from imported seed. It will enable crushers to import linseed and sell Calcutta seed oil in competition with the product of domestic seed, the influence of this fact being far-reaching and having an important effect on the market value of the domestic seed, perhaps so much as to largely reduce the profit now obtained from the cultivation of flax in the Northwest. The paper quoted states that already it has heard of lots of Calcutta seed, aggregating some 5,000 tons, being ordered here from London, and anticipates that this will be followed by other liberal purchases. This may seem like a subversion of the intent if not the letter of the law as enacted, and the protection intended to be afforded the grower be nullified.

The advantages which this change or omission gives the manufacturer of oil from imported seed are equivalent to a reduction of nearly two-thirds of the duty on seed. The new duty on 100 bushels is $20. The product will be 250 gallons of oil and 3,700 pounds of cake, the export drawback on the latter being $13. This leaves a duty of $7 on the oil, or about 2.8 cents per gallon. As the yield from Calcutta seed is greater, and the oil generally commands a higher price than that from the domestic article, the Calcutta seed promises to become a strong competitor, even though the cake be sold at the same price as that produced from the domestic seed. Of course, the extent of the advantage will depend on the relative prices, but at present cost for each the imported will yield the greater profit, and the natural result will be a decline in the price of the domestic seed. People in the trade here think the decline is likely to be about 10 cents per bushel. So the farmers of the Northwest who have resorted to flax culture because of the low price of wheat will have a cogent reason for not voting the Democratic ticket at ensuing elections.

IN a paper read at the recent meeting of the British Association Prof. J. D. Everett described a construction of spring spoked wheels for bicycles in which both lateral and rotational yielding are claimed to be so moderate in amount as to occasion no inconvenience. Each spoke consists essentially of a small coil spring, weighing half an ounce, attached to a light spoke wire, the connections being of the hook and eye kind. The attachment at the rim is made at the edges, not at the center of the rim, and the spokes of the driving wheel slope a little forwards and backwards, alternately. The speaker said the elastic yielding of a pneumatic tire is mainly in the radial direction and is practically nil in the tangential direction, the lateral yielding being very much less than that afforded by spring spokes. Also, he says, the energy stored in the springs is useful in carrying the wheel past the dead points. The idea may be a valuable one, but bicyclists in this country seem to be generally agreed that the pneumatic tire is the best possible appliance, and to be preferred to any form of spring arrangement that has been suggested here.

THE bank clearings of the principal cities in the United States for last week show a marked improvement. The total was 23.8 per cent more than for the corresponding week last year and 18 per cent less than the aggregate for the same week two years ago. This comparison includes New York City, which recently has adopted the stock clearing-house plan for settling differences between the parties to stock transactions, thus materially lessening the volume of bank clearings for equal amounts of business. Omitting New York City there was a gain last week of 30 per cent over the figures for the same week last year and a decrease of 13.75 per cent as compared with the same time in 1892. But the latter percentage is not far from representing the decline in average values since then, so that approximately the volume of business, as measured in pounds, yards, or bushels, is nearly equal to that of two years ago, this corresponding, however, to a reduction per capita, because there are more people in the country than in August, 1892, in spite of the reversal of the migration wave this summer. So there has been a moderate revival of business activity since it became tolerably certain the tariff bill would become a law, and the fact furnishes a forcible comment on the mischievous character of the delay in carrying out so much of the promise for reduced taxation of imports as the Democratic tariff mongers were able to agree upon after many months of squabbling between themselves and negotiations with the trusts.

THE TRIBUNE has received from a New York "genius" a copy of a letter "addressed to British Associations," in which the author claims that there is no such power of material attraction as generally is supposed to retain planets and satellites in their orbits. In trying to prove this to the satisfaction of the reader he asserts that both earth and moon describe the figure 8 in moving around the sun. This statement is not in accord with the teachings of mathematical astronomy, though some text books published for the use of schools have contained figures intended to illustrate a supposed motion of the moon in a looped curve. Mathematical reasoning shows that the path of the moon must be at all times concave towards the sun, and the fact that it is so may be understood by drawing on a large floor a diagram big enough to permit the distance of the sun from the earth to be truly represented as nearly four hundred times the distance of the moon, laying off the positions of the moon with respect to the earth at eight or more times during the lunation, and connecting the points so found. As the gentleman who claims to have discovered that Sir Isaac Newton was "all wrong" does not seem to understand the elementary fact named, it hardly is worth while to follow him further.

THE next time Congress meddles with the tariff it should punctuate its legislation more carefully and come to a full stop sooner.

ONLY "his iron will," we are told, kept Senator Gorman from physical collapse months ago. His iron will does not seem to have saved him from moral collapse.

THE VERDICT.

Galveston News (Dem.): The present Congress has done little for the country and much less for the Democratic party.

Denver Republican: It is safe to predict that there will not be another Democratic Congress for at least a generation to come.

Baltimore American: Every man in this country sincerely hopes that there will never be a repetition of a Congressional session like the last.

As brief an epitaph for the Democracy as has been written was penned by Col. Watterson. He wrote: "The deed is done, and the dog is dead."

Kansas City Journal: A contemporary observes that Congress might have done worse, but neglects to explain how the difficult feat could have been accomplished.

Cleveland Plaindealer (Dem.): The new tariff bill is a perfect exemplification of the principles of Democracy and a perpetuation of its practices in all times past.

Wheeling Intelligencer: Through its Congress and its President the Democratic party has not found any difficulty in serving two masters, the sugar trust and the whisky trust.

New Orleans Times (Dem.): Altogether the general verdict will be—a fair but not a great Congress. Had it been a great body it would have handled the tariff question far better than it did.

Cincinnati Gazette: The hold up of the tariff law by Cleveland was for just the margin of time needed to round off the operations of the trusts that manage the leading Democratic commodities. There are millions in both sugar and whisky.

New Orleans Picayune (Dem.): The adjournment of Congress will prove a great relief to the business interests of the country. The doubts and anxieties which have been occasioned by the debates in Congress have exerted a most baneful influence on trade.

Philadelphia Press: The trust Democratic Congress adjourns this week after aiding the sugar trust, the whisky trust, and a large array of other trade combinations, whose special favors turned the Democratic tariff, to quote a leading Democratic newspaper, into a "trust pudding."

Louisville Post (Dem.): A revolution has begun which ends only in free trade. It is a great triumph over the united forces of greed and political perfidy. The party has been humiliated, but it is in no sense responsible for the course taken by Gorman, Hill, Brice, Smith, and Murphy.

Rochester Democrat: The purchasing power of the masses has been crippled to an unheard-of degree, and is not likely to be restored, because of the heavy influx of foreign commodities that ought to be produced by our own people. The election of Cleveland was the costliest experiment ever tried by any people in time of peace.

Philadelphia Ledger (Ind.): The Democrats are on the defensive, and, unless a business revival should come to their relief before November, they will have a hard time explaining to the voters that all the ills of the country are the after effects of Republican misrule, and are not, as they seem to be, consequences of Democratic maladministration.

Buffalo Express: If the Fifty-third Congress has been fighting trusts it must be about such a fight as the French Gen. Bazaine put up against the Germans at Metz. The battle seems to have ended by the surrender of the whole Democratic party prisoners of war to the sugar trust, and that without inflicting any visible harm on the alleged enemy.

Minneapolis Journal: The facts accomplished are not altogether agreeable to the country—not even to the Democratic party, which, having control of the executive and legislative branches of the government for the first time since March 4, 1861, has succeeded in doing as much damage to business interests as was possible during eighteen months of power.

New York Advertiser: Members of Congress will be leaving Washington on the 6 o'clock trains tomorrow evening for home. It will be a sad homecoming. With the shameless record they have made in Congress, we should think that most of them would sneak in the back way to avoid meeting their families. And picture the cloud of dust when they meet their constituents!

New York Herald (Dem.): The record of Congress for this session is now closed, and it may be said with entire truth that a record less creditable to Congress or more unsatisfactory to the country can hardly be recalled in the experience of recent years. The session has been dragged through nearly nine months, and the measures of public consequence which have been acted on can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

New York Tribune: The country will probably have reason to rejoice within the next year that it has taken only a moderate dose of Democratic reform, instead of the much larger dose proposed. A little will be enough to determine whether that medicine tends to increase the demand for American labor or to lessen its burdens. If it does neither, if it injures the people both ways, the elections in November will probably give their answer.

New York World (Dem.): The sugar ring has secured by law the privilege of levying a tax upon the people for its own enrichment. What will the sugar ring do with this privilege? It will add to the price of sugar all that it can without inviting foreign competition. It will screw out of the people the last penny that it can exact under the law that it has compelled Congress to pass. That is what the sugar ring was organized for.

Weighed and Found Wanting.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Democratic candidates for Congress will indeed be hard pushed, if they tell the truth, to find material upon which to base their claims for vindication. It will be on their side confession and avoidance all the time, with suggestive reliance on the control of the election machinery in the South, the great cities of the North, and wherever else this is possible. The party in power cannot squarely look the American people in the face at this time. Chairman McCreary of the House Foreign committee was most inapt in his quotation as to having fought a good fight, finished the course, etc. He should have completed the parallel according to the real state of the case and undoubted public sentiment. The Democracy is ready to be offered up, a sacrifice to its own monumental unwisdom and perversity. It has been tried and found wanting, and it will read the inscription to this effect written by the unerring finger of fate on the night of Nov. 6 next.

A Coward and Shirker.

New York Recorder: Paraphrasing what a famous New York Senator once said of a distasteful appointee, Mr. Cleveland says of the bill passed by his party: "I will stand aside and hold my nose while the thing becomes law."

He assumes to be the Pontius Pilate of this wretched tariff drama—washing his hands to get rid of all responsibility for a deed that he has declared to be shameful. But Pilate wasted his time and remains unwashed to this day. So will Mr. Cleveland, and for the same high moral reasons.

When a man holds the power in his own hand to prevent a wrong being done and fails to use it, he may wash his hands a thousand times by way of disowning the deed he might have forbidden but would not, and yet he will go down to posterity as a coward and a shirker whose reputation is beyond the cleansing reach of water or the saving grace of soap.

SNAP SHOTS.

Rochester Democrat: About the only industry the freak tariff bill seems likely to boom is that of the custom-house lawyers.

Bismarck Tribune: When it comes to Congressional bills which were lost in the shuffle, what's the matter with the Hon. Bill Wilson?

Kansas City Journal: By keeping Congress in session after it is ready to adjourn Mr. Cleveland shows that he doesn't care a three-em dash for popularity.

St. Louis Globe: It is a significant fact that there is no uncertainty about those parts of the Democratic tariff bill which are to the advantage of the trusts.

Cincinnati Gazette: The way for the Democratic party to harmonize is to settle down on a solid saccharine basis. Absolute sweetness held in trust is the true solution.

Milwaukee Sentinel: There are thousands of one-time wage earners in this country who would find delight in an opportunity to celebrate Labor day by going to work.

Milwaukee Journal: Some of the Senators may wish before they get through with mending their fences that they had succeeded in passing the free barbed wire bill.

New York Recorder: The only successful great strikes of the year thus far are the strikes made by the trusts. The sugar and whisky trusts have both made ten-strikes.

Indianapolis Journal: Free diamonds and taxed sugar are a fitting outcome of the legislation of a party which is always posing as the foe of luxury and the champion of the poor.

Washington Star: The difficulty predicted for the income tax collector is a slight matter compared to that of the advocate of the Chicago platform who is trying to collect his thoughts.

New York Tribune: The interests most favorably affected by the tariff bill are the manufactories of Europe and the monopolies of this country. Legislation for all others has been indefinitely postponed.

Wheeling Intelligencer: Some of the tangles in the tariff bill are due to putting in a colon here and leaving out a comma there. Before very long the country will put a full stop to Democratic tariff butchery.

New York Press: The extraordinary increase of sharks along the North Atlantic coast this summer is ominous. The monsters are evidently waiting for the President to unload the Jonahs of his administration.

Dishonest from Beginning to End.

New York Tribune: The party managers proceeded at the outset to take measures to insure the defeat of the pledges they made. To carry out the promise of free coinage the party nominated for President a man known to be determined to veto any free-coinage bill. To carry out the promise of a tariff for revenue only it nominated men for the Presidency and for Congress who began at once to explain that they would do nothing to break down or cripple any American industry. To destroy trusts and monopolies the party proceeded to put the government completely in the hands of persons who were little better than the agents of the most greedy monopolies and the most offensive trusts.

Dishonesty from the beginning has resulted in disgraceful failure, and there is nothing in the least surprising about it. The men who sincerely wished to do what the great body of Democratic voters desired were bound hand and foot, not by a small minority as some pretend, but by the ablest managers of the party who had organized its victory. Because it had obtained a victory by false pretenses the party ends its first session of Congress with unparalleled disgrace.

Two Illinois Democratic Leaders.

Brooklyn Union: The Mayor of Chicago is posing as a person who sympathizes with the sorrow of the strikers. He should do in earnest what he is pretending to do, for he was one of the men responsible in his cringing and crawling before the mob for the spread of a baleful delusion that was consuming the earnings of the very men now in want.

Altgeld never seems to be able to recover from the notion it was a terrible thing for the United States authorities to interfere to stop the mobs that had Chicago on fire and were boasting they meant to destroy the city. The Gubernatorial Anarchist fancied he had an exclusive territory in which to cultivate insurrection, and apply the great social principle of incandescence to cities under the jackass presumption that the annihilation of capital would be an incentive to labor. The other crank Governors—those of Oregon, Kansas, and Colorado—have sense enough to be quiet sometimes.

Their Only Plank.

Sioux City Journal: Senator Hill's brief platform, "I am a Democrat," is about the only one on which the other members of the party can all stand this year. It gives no chance for argument.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

It is highly probable that Miss Bernice Wheeler, the young Chicago actress who is appearing in the rôle of Ann Cruger in Gustave Frohman's production of "The Charity Ball" at the Lincoln Park Theater this week, will attempt the rôle of Dora in Ibsen's drama, "The Doll House," in this city before the season is over. Miss Wheeler's reading of the part is said to be unusually fine and an opportunity will be given her to perform it publicly.

Manager A. M. Palmer of New York arrived in Chicago yesterday. Last evening he attended the performance of "New Blood" at McVicker's and without hesitation expressed the opinion that the play will run at his theater in New York until Jan. 1. Manager Palmer will return East this afternoon and will probably be accompanied by Augustus Thomas, the author, who is also in Chicago.

Manager Will J. Davis will entertain his friends, representing principally the press and dramatic profession, at the Haymarket Theater next Thursday evening. His purpose is to afford them an opportunity to inspect the Haymarket's new decorations and improvements. The opening of the theater for the season will take place next Saturday evening with Joseph Arthur's "Blue Jeans" as the attraction.

"A Run on the Bank," Charles E. Blaney's latest farce comedy, will have its first Chicago presentation at Havlin's Theater next Sunday afternoon. John Wade and Harry Vokes, two vaudeville specialty performers who used to introduce an amusing skit entitled "Percy and Harold" into the entertainment given by Tony Pastor's road company, will make their appearance in the play as joint stars.

"Daughters of Eve" is the title of a four-act play by A. E. Lancaster and Julian Magnus, which Marie Wainwright will make the principal feature of her répertoire this year. The play deals with the sex-against-sex problem. In it Miss Wainwright will play the dual rôle of twin sisters.

The spirited English farce, "Charley's Aunt," is being given in a German version at a Berlin theater for the benefit of the sufferers from the earthquake in Constantinople. This is only another evidence of the strangely widespread popularity of the piece.

Miss Maggie Mitchell will not play this season, but her husband, Charles Abbott, will travel with Joseph Haworth in "Rosedale," appearing as the gypsy, Miles McKenna.

NEWS FROM ABROAD.

NICARAGUA MUST GIVE AMERICAN PRISONERS A FAIR TRIAL.

United States Will Insist Upon This, Even if It Leads to Trouble with the Bellicose Central American Republic—French Ministry of Colonies Doubts the Reported Timbuctoo Massacre—Czar of Russia in Bad Health—Comte de Paris May Be Dying—Foreign Affairs.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—There is every indication at present that Nicaragua will be a cause of more trouble to the United States in the near future than it has been in the past. In the first place the progress of the cases against Americans who have been arrested and are now in Managua will have to be closely watched, as it is feared the prisoners will not be given a fair trial upon the charges which have been preferred against them. In the second place there is apprehension that Great Britain may cause trouble by demanding the release of Vice-Consul Hatch, its representative at Bluefields, who was arrested for complicity in the rebellion. Should Nicaragua refuse and trouble ensue the United States in all probability would be drawn into it. Both the State Department and the Nicaraguan legation received advices today concerning the situation in Nicaragua. The dispatches of the State Department came from Consul Braida, who resides at Greytown. He said the fifteen prisoners taken by Nicaragua at Bluefields, two of whom are Americans, had reached Greytown en route to Managua. Nicaragua has promptly denied the alleged utterances of it first Secretary of Foreign Relations that Nicaragua would kill every American on the Mosquito reservation, if it were necessary to subdue the revolutionists. Had they been true, it was the intention of the department to ask Nicaragua to properly punish the culprit. State Department advices show that Americans were among those who were at the bottom of the Mosquito uprising. But whether they are guilty or not it is the intention of the administration to see that they obtain a fair trial. Minister Baker and Capt. Sumner, commanding the United States ship Columbia and the senior officer of the United States naval forces in Nicaraguan waters, have been instructed to see that the prisoners are not summarily dealt with. If they are Nicaragua will be called to account. The action of the Nicaraguan Government in paroling the prisoners is looked upon with favor by the administration officials. Some criticism is heard in Washington at the policy which the United States has pursued toward Nicaragua. Surprise is expressed in diplomatic circles that the United States should still be acting so graciously toward Nicaragua when that government hardly made the smallest effort toward complying with the demand for the surrender of Arguello, the murderer of the American named Wilson. It is openly claimed that Nicaragua assisted the escape of the murderer by failing to properly guard him when he was a prisoner in the jail at Bluefields and by giving him every facility for getting away.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

MANAGUA, Aug. 28.—[Copyright, 1894, by the Press Publishing Company, New York World.]—Prisoners arriving from the coast say they are glad to get out of the jurisdiction of the tyrant Madriz. The prisoners have complained that they have been badly treated on the march here by the brutal Nicaraguan guards, who have especially vented their spite on the American Captain, Wiltbank. The Consular agent says that Wiltbank is innocent of the charge of inciting to rebellion. The Americans were arrested summarily and no reasons were given. Many Americans, who voluntarily accompanied the prisoners from the coast, are indignant at the action of the Nicaraguan authorities, saying the charges were in most cases manufactured, and that the Americans were persecuted to satisfy old grudges. It is probable the government will discharge most of the Americans, but this will not prevent their lodging claims against the authorities for indemnity.

SAN JUAN DE NICARAGUA, Aug. 28.—[Copyright, 1894, by the Press Publishing Company, New York World.]—The warship Mohawk left here after remaining one day. The officers said serious trouble was ahead in the Mosquito country. The sailors frankly expressed the wish that the American and British sailors and marines could be allowed the job of whipping all the Nicaragua country, which they heartily despise for its cruel treatment of the Indians and foreigners.

PORT LIMON, Costa Rica, Aug. 28.—[Copyright, 1894, by the Press Publishing Company, New York World.]—Advices from Bluefields state both the British and the American Consuls are indignant at the conduct of Madriz, whose acts have driven the Indians to depredations. Capts. Stuart and Summer are acting harmoniously. Lacayo is reported to have gone to Managua to expose the fatuous conduct of Madriz. The foreign residents of the coast are especially indignant at the arbitrary acts of the Nicaraguans.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The steamer Alene, which arrived today, took as passengers from Port Limon to Kingston, Jamaica, Chief Clarence of the Mosquito Indians and fifty-four of his followers, who took refuge aboard the British man-of-war Mohawk at Bluefields. Chief Clarence was reported as saying he expected to be back again at Bluefields within a month, which is regarded as altogether unlikely.

ALARM OVER THE CZAR'S POOR HEALTH.

He Is Suffering, Prof. Zaccharin Says, from Pronounced Albuminuria.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 28.—The health of the Czar is causing anxiety in Russia. There is no longer any doubt that his Majesty is threatened with grave kidney trouble. It has been apparent for some time to those who have seen the Czar in public that he is a sick man. He has grown thin, his complexion is pale and of a bad color, and he has the air of a man who is greatly fatigued. It is semi-officially stated the reason for countermanding the order for the army maneuvers at Smolensk was the health of the Emperor. It was thought his Majesty was suffering from a loose kidney until Prof. Zaccharin, after a thorough examination, declared his patient was afflicted with pronounced albuminuria. The Emperor will undoubtedly go to Copenhagen, as his physicians are of the opinion that the voyage and change will do him good. Prof. Zaccharin will be in constant attendance upon the Czar.

RELATIVES AT COMTE DE PARIS' BEDSIDE

But His Secretary Insists the Royal Patient Isn't Dangerously Ill.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Persistent rumors have been circulated recently that the Comte de Paris is suffering from a fatal malady. The secretary of the sick man said today this illness was not of a dangerous nature. But the rumors to the contrary have been revived by the presence at the bedside of the head of the royal house of Orleans of the Queen of Portugal, his daughter, and of the Duc d'Orleans and his brother, who hurried to Stowe House from the continent upon receipt of telegrams.

DOES NOT BELIEVE TIMBUCTOO STORY.

French Ministry of the Colonies Believes the Dispatch Exaggerates.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—The Journal des Debats has received a dispatch announcing that after three days' fighting a detachment of the garrison of Timbuctoo, composed of two companies, made a sortie and that the detachment was cut to pieces by the Taurages. Inquiries at the Ministry of the Colonies show that no confirmation of the report has been received. The officials in charge expressed the belief that there is no truth in the report, claiming if the fighting had occurred some news of it would certainly have reached the Ministry of the Colonies from Kayes, through which place all news must pass. The original dispatch was received from a private source at St. Louis, Senegal, and it is possible the sender may have transmitted to this city a rumor gathered from the natives, who are much given to magnifying such matters beyond their actual importance. An employé of the Colonial Ministry said he believed the whole affair would turn out to be nothing more than an exaggerated story of a skirmish. The Journal des Debats forms the same opinion and openly questions the accuracy of its own report, which also came from a private source. The latest official dispatches from Timbuctoo declared that the French force at that place was adequate to cope with the Taurages, who had been cowed by recent defeats, and who consequently were indisposed to resume hostilities. It is probably part of the force of Capt. Phillippe and Col. Joffre which has been cut to pieces by the Arabs if the massacre occurred. It is believed the garrison of Timbuctoo has, since the Joffre column arrived there, been again reinforced.

CHINESE AGAIN REPULSE THE JAPS.

Aided by Coreans They Defeat the Mikado's Men Near Seoul.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 29.—It is reported the Chinese, joined by 5,000 Coreans, have beaten back the Japanese army with heavy loss to Kaiseng, forty miles north of Seoul. The Chinese are still advancing. They are helped everywhere by the Coreans.

Bomb Exploded at Leghorn.

ROME, Aug. 29.—A great panic was caused among the patrons of the Pancaldi Sea bathing establishment near Leghorn last evening by the explosion of a bomb in one of the dressing-rooms. The building was partially shattered and several bathers were injured. Leghorn is filled with aristocratic summer visitors, and among them the feeling of alarm is specially keen. The bomb was inclosed in a metallic case.

Emperor William Afraid of Cholera.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—Emperor William has forbidden large gatherings of civilians on the occasion of the army maneuvers on account of fear of the cholera. Public receptions will be abandoned. Owing to the danger of cholera at Dantzic the German fleet will assemble at Swinemunde. Sunday and Monday there were 349 new cases of cholera and 171 deaths in Galicia, and 43 new cases and 42 deaths in Bukowine.

Dutch Slaughtered on Lembok.

ROTTERDAM, Aug. 28.—A dispatch from Batavia about the fighting on the Island of Lembok says the natives of Bali Island made an attack on the Dutch at a point close to Latarem, the capital of Lembok. After a hard fight the Dutch were forced to retreat to Ampana, the chief post of the island, with a loss of 185 men killed or missing. This loss included thirty officers.

Royalty Has a Fire Scare.

GENEVA, Aug. 28.—Fire started in a building near the Hotel Victoria at St. Moritz this morning and spread so rapidly as to create a panic among the guests at the hotel, which included the Duchess of York, the Duchess of Tock, and the Duke of Aosta. All of the guests left the hotel or got ready to leave in event of the building taking fire. Several buildings were destroyed.

Investigating Sale of Slave Girls.

CAIRO, Aug. 28.—Six slave girls recently imported from Waday were purchased by Ali Cheriff, President of the Legislative Council, Hassan Wacyf, a retired General of the Egyptian army, both of whom have been arrested, and by Sharawi Pasha, who has absconded. A judicial investigation into the sale is proceeding.

BURNS SOFT COAL WITHOUT SMOKE.

C. M. Higginson Gives an Outline of His Method of Effecting Combustion.

C. M. Higginson, an expert engineer in the employ of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, contributed a valuable paper to the Academy of Science on the abatement of the smoke nuisance at the meeting at the Commerce club last night. Accompanying the paper Mr. Higginson used the blackboard to demonstrate his ideas. He maintained that the ordinary soft coal of Illinois could be burned without making any smoke. Common-sense and the application of scientific principles was all that was necessary to secure complete combustion of the coal. He gave the following rules as essential to good combustion:

1—A good draft.
2—Open grate bars.
3—Means for supply of air above the fire.
4—Means for mixing the air with the volatile gases.
5—Distance in which to complete the combustion of the mixtures.

In elaboration of these rules Mr. Higginson said the grate bars should have air spaces equal to 50 per cent of the grate. A draft of air through the fire door above the firebed would furnish the desired amount of oxygen to produce the combustion of the volatile gases from the hydro-carbons, but essential to this combustion unrestricted space of twenty feet was needed for the flame. With an eighteen-foot boiler this could be secured. For locomotive and tugboat boilers a combustion chamber should be placed midway between the tubes. The tubes from the fire-box to the chamber should be not less than four inches in diameter, and the regulation two-inch tubes could lead from it. In no case should the draught for the flame be direct from the fire-box through the tubes, for the temperature in the tubes rarely rose above 320°, and 1,500° was requisite for the combustion of the volatile gases. The paper received the commendation of the members of the academy, and it is probable that the city will be asked to consider the suggestions in the rules governing the smoke-abatement crusade.

ENGAGEMENT OF FRANCESCA HALLE.

The Chicago Oratorio Singer Will Wed a British Tobacco Merchant.

News has just reached this city of the engagement in London of Francesca Halle, a Chicago musical celebrity, and Joseph Gluckstein, a wealthy British tobacco merchant. They met at a ball last spring which Miss Halle attended while prosecuting her musical studies in London, and the friendship dating from that time developed into an engagement Aug. 7. Miss Halle has appeared before the Chicago public in oratorio work and has received many highly complimentary criticisms. She made her début in August, 1893, at Central Music Hall and her high soprano voice soon made her famous in local circles. During her stay in Chicago she has sung in the Sixth Presbyterian Church choir, at the Isabella benefit at the Schiller Theatre, and at the Marquette, Douglas, and Oakland clubs. Three weeks after her début last year she left for Berlin and began studying under Prof. Eichburg. In February of this year she completed her studies at the German capital and began a course at London. Some weeks after her arrival she met Mr. Gluckstein at a ball given by Joseph Lyons, a friend of her father. Miss Halle is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Halle of No. 3740 Ellis avenue. Mr. Gluckstein's residence is in West Kensington Gardens, London, and he owns seventy houses devoted to the wholesale tobacco trade and scattered through the various cities of the British empire.

BRAVE ACTION OF OFFICER RYAN.

Rescues a Woman Whose Own Son Considered Her Position Hopeless.

A case of exceptionally brave conduct by an officer of the Police Department came to the notice of Chief Brennan yesterday, and it is probable the officer will receive honorable mention if not promotion. The following self-explanatory letter was received by the Chief:

Monday morning, Aug. 27, at 3:15, my former residence, No. 1506 Wabash avenue, caught fire, and my mother, a woman about 55 years old, very large and fleshy, instead of leaving the building immediately upon the alarm of fire, attempted to save a few keepsakes of my father and remained in the building until she was overcome by smoke and heat and fell unconscious. Officer P. D. Ryan ran up and as soon as he heard a woman was inside, without a moment's hesitation, threw his coat over his head and rushed into the building, which was then a mass of flames, and carried my mother out in an unconscious condition. I myself was there and, notwithstanding it was my mother who was in the building, did not go in because I considered it a hopeless case and that there was absolutely no chance of rescue. It was one of the most courageous acts I ever heard of, and I feel there is no reward too high for him to receive, and I sincerely trust he will receive some official recognition at your hands. SAMUEL PAYNE,
3962 Cottage Grove-av.

The letter was referred to Inspector Hunt with instructions to investigate and report his finding to the Chief at once, so that the officer might receive proper recognition.

BROKERS IN A PANIC.

WILL RUSH TO SECURE CUSTOMS WITHDRAWAL PAPERS.

Scenes of Great Disorder in the New York Custom-House—Some Men Lose Their Clothes in the Mad Struggle—Almost Come to Blows in the Fight for Precedence—Many Chicagoans Among the Passengers to Sail for Europe Today—General News from New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A great crowd of brokers besieged the custom-house doors today before they were opened, each one anxious to be in first to deliver his withdrawals. The force of clerks which usually consists of four had been increased to fifteen to meet the emergency. The object of the brokers was to be in the van to take advantage of the reduced tariff rates on certain articles which go into effect today, and an enormous quantity of goods have been warehoused waiting for the bill to become a law. While the majority of goods, if withdrawn from bond before Jan. 1, 1895, fall under the conditions of the McKinley act, the principal goods which come under the new rates today are: Beaded trimming, aniline dyes, art flowers and feathers, glassware, cotton hosiery, cotton lace curtains, cotton embroideries and laces, guns and rifles, linen, pig iron, iron ore, paper manufactures of silk, peas, beans and mushrooms, tobacco, all spirits classified under McKinley act, ale in casks, cotton velvets, cotton wearing apparel.

The brokers had their clothes torn nearly off their backs trying to get up to the clerks' windows in the withdrawal rooms, and what was left went when they had gained their purpose and turned to go away. There were some 300 brokers' clerks pulling and hauling each other in front of the windows, and the stuffy room soon grew almost unbearable with its suffocating atmosphere. The bundles of entries offered at the five windows were enough to carpet the floors of the custom-house. The clerks were fairly buried beneath them, and the big waste baskets into which they were thrown after being numbered were constantly taken away, emptied, and returned.

Under the new law, which requires every custom-house broker to be licensed, 300 brokers were licensed yesterday. A good many more licenses were taken out today. Most of the brokers had entries for withdrawal to the number of from 100 to 300. The ordinary withdrawal business of a day is from 150 to 200 entries. It was computed that as much business was done today as in the whole of the year passed. As to sugar, which goes on the taxable list, in the raw state formerly free, there was great interest felt today. Raw sugar is under the new law taxed at 40 per cent ad valorem. To this for refined sugar is added ⅛ of 1 per cent. Deputy Collector King said there were no unusual withdrawals of sugar from bond. Everything that is due is now in port and in this one item less interest was felt by brokers than in whiskies, wines, tobaccos, and ales.

At the close of the day Deputy King estimated that 7,000 withdrawals had been entered, but not one-quarter of them were passed. Baskets of papers were left to be worked upon at night by fresh relays of clerks. The Naval Office, through which all withdrawals must pass for certification, was swamped almost out of sight. As a result of the overwhelming rush and confusion the receipts of cash were not extraordinary. Cashier Bostwick took in $512,344.

Wool holds the place of honor at the head of the list. It was first to pass through under the new tariff law and leads the free list as well. It came to the house of Oelrichs & Co. Mr. Oelrichs proudly exhibited the permit for the country's first bale of free wool and had the document photographed.

One of the technical points which came to light today was in regard to the tax on playing cards. The laws says that each pack containing not more than fifty-four cards shall have a two cent stamp affixed. The number was made fifty-four, as some packs contain two "jokers" besides the regular fifty-two cards. But in fixing this number an easy loophole was left for the manufacturers. A pack containing fifty-five cards would not be dutiable, and it may come to pass that five ace decks will put in an appearance.

Suit will undoubtly be brought by importers who have paid duties during the last month to test the first paragraph of the bill which says that "on and after Aug. 1, 1894, the following rates of duty shall be levied, etc." Judge Phelps, Chief of the Law Division, said today claims would be made for refunding of duties on the ground that the law should have gone into effect Aug. 1 instead of Aug. 28. Inasmuch as Congress did not pass the bill until after Aug. 1, the government holds that a law cannot be made retroactive.

A ship loaded with wool from Montevideo arrived here late Saturday night. The duties on the cargo would have amounted to $100,000. The owners were in despair when the ship sailed into port. There was no time to unload and get the wool into bond. So when Secretary Carlisle's ruling came yesterday that vessels be made temporary warehouses it seemed to have been designed specially for the benefit of the owners of this cargo. They went to the custom-house, saved the cargo, and it will now be unloaded free.

The American Sugar Refining company is about $50,000 out of pocket on a sugar cargo. The Glasgow steamer Holyrood was due here with 3,400 tons of raw Java sugar. The steamer has not yet arrived and sugar is dutiable.

LIVELY STORM OVER CUNARD BENEFITS.

Americans Insist English Seamen's Homes Shall Get Only One-half.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Another phase was developed today in the unpleasantness that began on board the Cunard steamship Umbria last Thursday night over the division of the proceeds of the benefit concert arranged by the passengers. Heretofore the company's rule of dividing the proceeds between the English and American seamen's homes in the proportion of two-thirds and one-third has been respected. On this occasion the passengers decided that instead of turning the money over to Capt. Dutton, Charles H. Adams of Philadelphia, Chairman of the Concert committee, should make the division himself. Today he sent one-half of the proceeds, $51, to the society for the relief of destitute children of seamen on Staten Island, and a check for the remainder to the officers of the Cunard Line in Liverpool, inclosing a copy of the resolutions adopted by the passengers protesting against the unfair rule of the company. A great deal of bitterness has resulted from the quarrel, which nearly ended in blows Thursday night. Capt. Dutton is said to have discharged one of the stewards of the Umbria for having accommodated Mr. Adams with a receipt for the $5 charged for printing the program of the concert, but took him back at the solicitation of the passengers. Mr. Adams, son of Dr. J. Howe Adams, a magazine writer, is coming over on the Umbria Sept. 15, and as he will follow his father's course another storm is brewing. There is a growing determination on the part of the American passengers that the concert money raised on every voyage of these steamers and largely subscribed by Americans shall not be so largely devoted to British orphanages. An equal division is all that is asked.

JEALOUSY CAUSES MURDER IN HOBOKEN.

Paul Gans, Engineer on an Ocean Liner, Kills the Woman He Loves.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Paul Gans, fourth engineer of the steamship New York, murdered Clara Ahrens today in Hoboken because of jealousy. The two had been living together for a year. Gans, upon his return from the latest voyage of the New York, which was last Friday, accused the woman of receiving attentions from others. Gans had evidently prepared to kill himself after murdering Miss Ahrens. A short time before the murder he bought some flowers, which he told the florist were to be used at a funeral which would probably take place Thursday. Then he went to a barber shop and got shaved. He asked the barber if he ever shaved a man just before he died. The barber said he never had and Gans remarked: "Well, I intend to kill myself at 2 o'clock, so please hurry up." Shortly after this the murder was committed, but Gans' courage, which had been fortified with whisky, gave out and he did not carry out his intention to commit suicide.

The man of whom Gans was jealous is Bernard Stensel of No. 131 North Clark street, Chicago, to whom Miss Ahrens wrote yesterday. He was formerly a barkeeper in Hoboken.

SUCCESSFUL TEST OF TORPEDO GUNS.

Projectile Weighing 149 Pounds Sent a Distance of 3,800 Yards.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Today the fifteen-inch guns constructed by the Pneumatic Torpedo Construction company were subjected to a test at the proving grounds in the presence of members of the Board of Ordnance and a number of artillery officers. One of the fifteen-inch guns was loaded with a six-inch "dummy" projectile, the charge of compressed air being 1,000 pounds to the square inch. Supt. Crelman elevated the gun to an altitude of 34½°, decided that all was clear, and pulled the lever. The "dummy" sped from the mouth of the gun through a cloud of vapor, and could clearly be seen describing its course until it fell into the water. The projectile weighed 149 pounds and fell at a distance of 3,800 yards. Capt. Rapieff said the gun could be easily hid by placing it in an excavation so that the barrel only would be visible, and he added: "Even if that were shot away the gun would do considerable execution without it." A number of tests will be made Friday with the eight-inch gun, in which a new breech has been placed.

MUST BE VACCINATED TO ATTEND.

Supreme Court Sustains the Action of School Principal in Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Judge Bartlett of the Supreme Court handed down a decision today in Brooklyn in the suit of Chester A. Walters for a writ of mandamus to compel Principal L. B. Hanaford of School No. 22 to admit Chester A. Walters and Ada Walters to the privileges of the school. The principal had refused the children admission on the ground that they were not vaccinated. Judge Bartlett holds that the principal of a public school has the right to exclude children who did not conform to the school regulations. Education is a privilege and not a right, according to the court, and therefore he denied the application.

TROLLEY CARS IN REAR END COLLISION.

Three Passengers Seriously Injured and a Dozen Cut by Glass.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A rear-end trolley car collision took place on the Newark and New York Electric road, about 300 feet east of the Passaic River, today. At least three persons were seriously injured, and a dozen passengers were cut by glass, bruised, or stunned. There was a dense fog.

Chicago Speculators Hard Hit.

The Wall Street Journal tonight says: Competent judges say Chicago speculators have been roasted without mercy in the last two weeks. The outlook was so bad for corn in Iowa, Nebraska, and Kansas local Chicago securities had become demoralized and the Chicago speculators had made so much money out of New York on short wheat that they made a vigorous demonstration on the New York stock market and piled up what in the aggregate was a large short interest. Almost as soon as they were driven to cover they would put out fresh lines, and this Chicago interest has continued and still exists.

Jarvis-Conklin Litigation.

The charges against Samuel M. Jarvis and Ireland N. Conklin as receivers of the Jarvis-Conklin Mortgage and Trust company were again ventilated in the United States Circuit Court today. The application of Mrs. Elizabeth Garnett of England to have them removed as receivers was moved. There was another motion made calling for an order to compel the receivers to throw open their books for inspection. Decision was reversed on that point.

Wheelmen to Go Into Politics.

The League of American Wheelmen has decided to take an active part in politics in the near future. President Luscomb has sent to the chief Consuls of the Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Maryland, Missouri, Illinois, and Ohio divisions a communication asking cooperation in political work toward securing local and State legislation in favor of good roads and wheelmen's privileges. The Consuls have all signified their intention to join in the work.

Purse Lost on La Touraine.

The French line steamship La Touraine seems to have struck a run of bad luck. Mrs. A. J. Caton of Chicago is still looking for the jewelry which was stolen from her during a recent passage to Havre, and now another theft has been committed. An advertisement which appeared today offered a reward for the return of a purse and draft lost on La Touraine Saturday, evidently by some one who had gone to bid adieu to friends.

Bad Effect of Cleveland's Letter.

Dealers in commercial paper say that the President's letter has cut off a great deal of long-time money on commercial paper. There was a disposition to lend rather freely, but fear of renewed tariff agitation has cut down business accommodation money.

Levi P. Morton Will Probably Accept.

There appears to be no question about Levi P. Morton accepting the nomination for Governor of this State. There was a conference between him and Mr. T. C. Platt today. Mr. Platt said after the conference that Mr. Morton was favorably disposed to the nomination.

To Lay the New Cable.

The Commercial Cable company's steamer Mackey-Bennett has arrived from Halifax. It will proceed at once to lay the shore end of the new commercial cable from Coney Island Point up through the narrows and up the bay to New York City.

ATE PARIS GREEN BUT STILL LIVES.

John Gustafson Insists He Took the Poison as a Stimulant.

John Gustafson lay in his bed last night at No. 62 Wendell street. On a table by the bed was a box of paris green, the contents of which John was leisurely devouring with apparent relish. He had eaten two tablespoonfuls when a friend notified the police that John was trying to commit suicide. Two officers and the ambulance were soon at hand to take the supposed would-be suicide to the hospital, but John surprised the officers by protesting that he didn't care to go with them. "I am in no danger," he said. "It has been my habit for ten years to eat paris green whenever I feel bad. It acts as a stimulant upon me." John's neighbors told the officers that he was in love with a young woman who had jilted him and that he was eating the poison because he was despondent. John, however, indignantly denied this. He was finally persuaded, much against his will, to go to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital. An emetic was given him, and the physicians said that although he had taken more than enough to kill an ordinary person he would recover. It was said that by constant use of the poison an ordinary dose had no effect upon him. Gustafson is 29 years old and a stationary engineer.

MAY BEAT A RETREAT.

GEN. MILES WILL PROBABLY IMITATE M'CLELLAN'S ACTION.

Scheme to Entrap the Enemy to a Disadvantageous Position in Today's Maneuvers—Ambulance and Hospital Corps to Have Practice Under Mrj. Girard—Gossip About That Little Affair with Fists—Welsh Taken to Fort Sheridan Under Medical Surveillance.

Wednesday, August 29, 3 o'clock p. m.—The troops will move upon the field in the usual manner, with a squadron of cavalry, a battery of artillery in front, representing a brigade or division of cavalry; this to be followed by three battalions of infantry, each accompanied by a battery of artillery and each representing a divison of infantry. One battery of artillery will be held in reserve, followed by a squadron of calvary as a rear guard. On each flank will be two troops of cavalry thrown out as flankers. The advance command of cavalry will develop the enemy's position, when the line of battle will be formed on the internal subdivisions. The troops in advance will about face, move on left into line and face to the rear; those in the rear will move on left into line. This will form the line of battle. The infantry will throw out a picket line after the cavalry have fallen back on the main line. The infantry pickets will engage the enemy, then retire, and the whole line will become engaged. In the meantime the cavalry will concentrate in the rear of the main line and make a detour around the right flank of the enemy. The reserve artillery will be marched to the left of the line. After making the detour the cavalry will make an attack on the rear of the enemy's right flank, and this, with the heavy artillery fire on the left, is supposed to break the right flank of the enemy. Then the left will advance, followed by the center and right divisions, which will in turn form a junction with the cavalry command.

Today's maneuvers on the field of Niles will look like a great battle viewed through the wrong end of a field glass. Gen. Miles will split his little army into four divisions or brigades, and each battalion commander will have to carry himself like a Brigadier. The line, which will be something less than a mile long, will maneuver as if it stretched over fifteen or twenty times that much territory. In the detour which the cavalry command makes to fall upon the rear of the enemy's right flank it must be supposed that from five to ten miles have been traveled instead of only half a mile or so. It will make altogether a very complicated action. Gen. Miles said last night he might modify this plan somewhat by ordering a retreat in good order—a movement somewhat like McClellan's sham retreat in the seven days' fight about Richmond, when he let the Confederate line pursue him from White Oak Swamp to Malvern Hill with the idea of getting the enemy into a disadvantageous position, where he could cut him to pieces, as he had.

One feature of today's fight which will be interesting will be the drill of the ambulance and hospital corps under Maj. Girard. Certain soldiers will be toid off to die or be wounded and these will be lugged off after the most approved methods, Maj. Girard wishing to train his men in skill and quickness in evacuating a battlefield and clearing up the wounded, one of the hardest problems of war.

There is still much gossip in the camps about the affair between Col. Crofton and Lieut. Welsh and some officers are still expecting a court-martial to be ordered to try Mr. Welsh. According to what Gen. Miles says, however, there is very remote possibility of any court-martial in the case. Gen. Miles yesterday issued orders that Mr. Welsh, in accordance with the finding of the Medical Board declaring him to have been temporarily insane, should be relieved from all military duties and should return to his quarters at Fort Sheridan, there to remain under the surveillance of a medical officer. This was done yesterday afternoon. There he will probably remain until he is ordered to appear before a retiring board, which it is expected will be soon summoned.

It is not at all likely that Col. Crofton will prefer charges for a court-martial and Gen. Miles says he does not expect to order one. "If one should convene," said Gen. Miles, "the defense, of course, would be the finding of the Medical Board—a plea of insanity—which has the same force in a court-martial as in a civil court. In case such a thing happened the Judge advocate would almost certainly enter a nolle prosequi. I have never heard of a case of this sort where a court-martial was convened."

Yesterday the camps were exceedingly quiet. The Evanston Life-Saving Crew turned out in the morning and gave its celebrated capsizing drill on the lake in front of the General's headquarters. The men whom Uncle Sam hires to kill folks seemed to be much interested in the skillful work of the men whom Uncle Sam hires to keep folks from getting killed.

Orders have gone out that when camp is broken next Monday the artillery and infantry from posts other than Sheridan shall take trains at Evanston. But the cavalry has orders to march back to Fort Sheridan. That means another spell of camp life on the reservation for the men of the Third and the Sixth. Orders for the final disposition of these troops are still withheld and no one knows where they are going.

Lieut. Heard of the Third Cavalry returned yesterday to Fort Riley. He will be back in Chicago again in October to take part in the cavalry pistol competitions. Lieut. Heard is accounted about the handiest man with a six-shooter in the whole army.

about it when the Debs crisis was at its height in Chicago, and he wanted to hurry away to Europe. When the Pullman strike was practically over he sailed, and until word was received yesterday to the contrary it was believed he had succeeded in keeping the Vanderbilt family linen out of the public wash. Cornelius Vanderbilt was not in town last night. It was said at his residence he had left Newport and might sail for Liverpool Wednesday.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt is a Southern woman of the family of Smyths of Mobile, Ala., who are much prouder of their blood than the Vanderbilts are of their millions. She is a handsome woman, with beautiful golden hair and large blue-gray eyes, and, although she is exceptionally exclusive, those who know her say she is gracious and charming to those whom she favors with her friendship.

Mr. Vanderbilt, it is said, built the magnificent steam yacht Valiant to replace the wrecked Alva, chiefly to please her, as she is fond of yachting, and it was to enable her to enter in lavishing attention on another of her pleasures that the famous white marble palace on the Cliffs at Newport was built.

TWO KILLED IN DISPENSARY ROW.

Whisky Constable and a Merchant Are Shot in Blackville, S. C.

BLACKVILLE, S. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Solomon Brown, son of a merchant, and John Gribben of the State constabulary force, were killed here this afternoon, as the result of an old feud growing out of the dispensary law. Gribben was formerly Town Marshal, and when Tillman was a candidate for Governor first Gribben worked for him. A Town Board was elected which would not reappoint Gribben Marshal, Simon Brown leading the opposition. Gribben published a letter reflecting on the Jews, and this widened the breach. Then Gribben was appointed a whisky constable and opened many boxes of goods consigned to Brown, on the pretense of looking for illicit whisky. Today he opened a box of clothing from Baltimore consigned to Brown. Soon after Brown met Gribben and reproached him for opening this particular package, calling it persecution.

The argument waxed warm, and Simon Brown was joined by his three sons, Solomon, Isadore, and Herman. Gribben offered to fight any one of them, and Isadore Brown, a youth 20 years of age, asked him to remove his coat and badge. Gribben struck at Isadore Brown, who knocked Gribben against a wall. Pistols were drawn by Solomon Brown, Herman Brown, and Gribben, and six or seven shots were fired. Gribben was shot through the left shoulder and near the heart, the ball entering the left lung, and staggered into Mr. Still's store, firing at Solomon Brown, who fell half way to the ground at the first shot, which was quickly followed by two or three others, one of which entered the brain, another the right side, and a third perforated the heart. Gribben after being shot walked through Mr. Still's store to the backyard, where he fell and died within ten minutes.

Coroner Dyches, who, it is asserted, fired the shot that killed Brown, impaneled a jury and began examination of witnesses, though the County Solicitor suggested he had better not act. Witnesses were called and the hearing went on, though the Sheriff sent word a Justice should hear the case. Then Sheriff Lancaster appeared and arrested Dyches, charged with the murder of Brown. Justice Hammet then called a jury and a verdict was rendered that Brown killed Gribben. The Brown inquest will be held tomorow.

Neptune's Lofty Vigil.

The god of the deep is sleepless. From his lofty column he scans the wonders of the Fair. The inland sea, a thousand miles away from his domain, unfolds its myriad beauties to his view. Upon the shore, where dash the ocean's waves, sublimer spectacle never met his gaze than here his eyes encounter.

Coadjutor of Columbus, Neptune figures fittingly at the World's Fair. The column bearing his figure is appropriately symbolical of his limitless empire.

ETHEL A. WINS AGAIN.

CONLEY'S GRAY FILLY PLAYS WITH A FAST PACING FIELD.

Drops One Heat to Sidmont in 2:13, but in the Next Wins in 2:11¼, and Thereafter the Race Is Hers—Syrena Wins the Unfinished Star Pointer Race—Ofelius Wins a Six-Heat 2:28 Class—Piletta and Cocoon Each Get a Heat in Another Race.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The unfinished 2:25 pace of yesterday, in which Star Pointer broke down in the third heat, was the first race on the card, with Gazette, who had one heat, a 2 to 1 favorite over Syrena, the winner of the two finals yesterday. Syrena forced the favorite out in 2:13¼ in the opening heat and easily beat him the next heat, which gave her the race.

The 2:28 trot proved to be a cheap race, although the heat winners reduced the records in the long drawn out seesaw race of six heats.

The stake for 3-year-old pacers brought a field of nine fast colts to the post, with the fast and consistent little Iowa mare, Ethel A., an even-money favorite over the field. In the opening round Sidmont shot to the front and was never headed, although the favorite and Quiz gave him a hot chase, forcing him out in 2:13. Sidmont and Quiz again set the pace in the second heat, but the favorite beat them in the stretch and won the heat in 2:11¼. Ethel A. cleverly won the next two heats and the race, although McDowell made a bid for the heat with Rokeby and finished a good second in each heat.

The 2:21 trot brought the largest field of the week to the post, with Cocoon and Piletta each well backed to win. Piletta was unsteady the first heat, although she was well to the front when Cocoon passed under the wire a winner in 2:17½.

The big gray mare was again on her bad behavior, but when on a trot seemed able to step around her field at any point, and easily won the heat from her field. The race goes over until tomorrow, and from present indications Piletta can win. The summaries:

MARY BEST OUTCLASSES HER FIELD.

Wins the Connecticut Purse in an Easy Race—A Listless Day's Sport.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The clip was much faster at Charter Oak Park this afternoon, but the second day of the grand circuit was not much of an improvement on the first in the character of the sport. With $17,000 to be contributed it was to be expected that there would be some close contests, but the three events were decided in straight heats. Even the big Connecticut purse of $15,000 failed to produce anything like a race, for Mary Best had many seconds the advantage over her three opponents. After going two slow heats Goldsmith sent the tall chestnut filly along in the third to distance the field. Mary Best stepped the mile in 2:13¼, but Margrave and Lea were both comfortably inside, and Maud Karr managed to beat the flag by a brisk gallop down the stretch. Under a strict application of the rule she should have been declared out and fourth money awarded to Mary Best.

The 2:15 trotters mustered ten strong and the money would have been on Ora Wilkes if it were possible to speculate on the result. Nellie W., from New York, gave the sturdy black colt strong opposition for two heats. She was steady in the third mile, and coming fast down the homestretch made Ora Wilkes trot in 2:12¾, the best mile of the race.

Paul and Major Wonder had a listless and brief engagement in the 2:10 pace, the chestnut gelding being much the superior animal.

The bay gelding Cephas has been sold to J. R. Keim, a New York fancier, for $2,000, by John Cheney, the Boston trainer, and goes into the stable of John P. Gibbs, at Fleetwood Park. The summaries:

"PA" HAMLIN LOSES ANOTHER HORSE.

Ten Thousand-Dollar Cora Dies from Congestion of the Lungs.

Toledo, O., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Today's attendance at the exposition races was much larger than that of yesterday. The track was rather heavy, but racing fairly good. The Hamlin Village Farm met with a serious loss early this morning in the death of their $10,000 mare Cora, from congestion of the lungs.

D. M. Harris, the owner of that celebrated pacer, Albatross, who has been giving exhibition eighth, quarter, and half miles, under saddle, each day, the pacer being ridden by little 12-year-old Miss Harris, issued the following challenge today:

Toledo, O., Aug. 28.—C. J. Hamlin, Fort Wayne, Ind.—Will match Albatross to pace under saddle, little girl rider, against Robert J. or any trotter or pacer on earth in harness or under saddle, half-mile heats, best two in three, for $1,000, over Indianapolis or any track you may name. Driver Carville with Speculation Gets into Trouble at Bangor, Me.

Bangor, Me., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The weather was cloudy and cold and there was a light attendance at the opening races here today. All the events were pulled off in straight heats. Carville of St. John, owner and driver of Speculation, came on for the second heat, in a condition unfit for driving the race. He scored out of position several times, and the judges, fearing an accident, ordered up a new driver. Carville refused to let any one but himself drive the horse and was sent to the stable. The judges then announced that he was expelled from all tracks of the National Association. The summaries:

WILLIAM LODTMANN IS ACCUSED OF A SERIOUS CRIME.

He Is Said to Have Represented Himself as a Journalist and Under This Guise Induced the Hotel Willard Proprietor to Cash a Forged Draft—His Career—Graham, Murderer of Young Ryan, Is Given Only Fifteen Years in the Penitentiary—Saved from "Con" Men.

Another smooth hotel swindler has visited Chicago and for a small sum of money has placed himself in a position which may lead him to Joliet. He travels under the name of William Lodtmann, representing himself as a journalist contributor to a number of Eastern journals, and then works, with apparent success, the old forged draft racket. Among the hotel men of Chicago who pride themselves on their powers of perception there is none more confident than J. Q. Savage, manager of the Hotel Willard, Eighteenth street and Wabash avenue. But he has now met his match and he wants to see William Lodtmann who registered at the Willard Aug. 20, accompanied by his wife. He had been a guest of the house twice within the last year, paying his bills promptly and giving every evidence of being a journalist. On this last visit he told Landlord Savage he had been engaged by the Forum to write a series of articles on compulsory life insurance, as in vogue in Germany. Last Thursday he produced a letter dated at New York and signed "Charles F. Brush, assistant editor," written on plain paper, but with "The Forum, Union Square," placed by a rubber stamp in the upper left hand corner. It was dated Aug. 8 and addressed to Lodtmann at the Hotel Normandie, Detroit, containing the information that orders for $20 each on the Forum were inclosed, but that there was so much matter on hand his contribution could not be used for the September number. The tall German asked Mr. Savage if he would be so kind as to cash one of the drafts. "Why, certainly, only too pleased," said Mr. Savage. The German wanted to use the money for a two days' trip to Peru, Ill., the home of his wife's parents, and would return Saturday evening. But the instant he received the money he became nervous and fidgety and the landlord's suspicions were aroused. Lodtmann and his wife left Thursday night and have not yet returned. The drafts were placed in the bank for collection, but Mr. Savage protected himself against protest charges. Saturday morning he read a dispatch from Milwaukee in The Tribune announcing that a man named William Lodtmann, representing himself as traveling for Houghton, Mifflin & Co. of Boston, had swindled A. W. Rich of Milwaukee out of $20 on a forged draft. Letters had also been received there saying Mr. Rich was only one of a score of victims heard from so far in various sections of the Northwest. Monday Mr. Savage received a telegram from the Forum declaring the drafts forgeries. The man giving his name as Lodtmann is a blonde German, fully six feet tall, and slender, with a blonde mustache. He is well posted, his manners are refined, and he has a thorough knowledge of journalism. A year ago he married the daughter of Peter Debo of Peru, Ill., against the wishes of the family, and she travels with him.

FARMER SAVED FROM TWO "CON" MEN.

William G. Alexander's "Steerers" Arrested Just in the Nick of Time.

William G. Alexander, an elderly farmer from Slidell, Vermilion County, Ill., had a narrow escape from loss yesterday at the hands of two confidence operators. On the pretext that one of them was the son of N. C. English, President of the Danville First National Bank and a friend of Alexander, they induced the farmer to go to a room on Harrison street. Then a new scheme was sprung. A layout known as the lottery game was spread on the table and was being explained to the victim, who was about to invest, when Detectives Crowe and Cussens arrived. They had been watching the proceedings from the time Alexander was accosted on the street. They surprised the confidence men more than they did the farmer when they placed them under arrest and started to the station. The prisoners proved to be green goods and confidence men, who had worked in Chicago during the World's Fair. The one who pretended to be the son of the Danville banker gave his name at the station as William Davis, and the other said his name was John Curran. In their pockets were found at least $4,000 in bogus greenbacks, neatly wrapped in packages of $2,000 each, and with two or three good bills on the outside. A number of bogus checks and other property of the same kind were found on them, and they will be held and other cities notified of their arrest, as the police think they have been operating in St. Paul, Minneapolis, and other Western cities.

GRAHAM GETS ONLY FIFTEEN YEARS.

Death Penalty Is Asked, but the Jury Declines to Inflict It.

Timothy, alias Frank, Graham was found guilty of the murder of George Ryan yesterday and sentenced to fifteen years in the penitentiary. The case was given to the jury at 11 o'clock Monday night, but the jury did not begin its deliberation until 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Four hours were consumed in the discussion of the punishment. The first ballot showed nine for conviction on the charge of murder and three for conviction for manslaughter. When it was decided the crime of murder had been committed, the matter of the punishment was taken up. Not a juror voted for the death penalty, and only one voted for a life sentence. The vote on the sentence ranged from ten to twenty-five, and fifteen years was finally agreed upon. Graham's face flushed when the verdict was read, and his sisters burst into tears. Assistant State's-Attorney Knight would not discuss the verdict, but he seemed disappointed at the result of the trial, during which he had asked the infliction of the death penalty. The defense entered a motion for a new trial. Graham killed George Ryan, 15 years old, at No. 768 Thirty-first street, July 17, 1893.

MAKE COMPLAINT AGAINST ROLSTON.

Friends of Hackman Bloedel Say His Body Was Not Cared For.

Rolston's undertaking establishment, No. 11 Adams street, the use of which by Cook County is both directed and sanctioned by Coroner McHale, is again the cause of complaint from citizens. A week ago Charles Bloedel, a hack-driver, died suddenly in his room on North Clark street. No friends appeared at once to take charge of the body and it was sent to Rolston's rooms instead of to the County Morgue. Inquiry by friends resulted in the finding of Bloedel's relatives and his sister came to Chicago from Buffalo to care for the remains of her brother. When she visited Rolston's rooms it was found that, although the body had been embalmed, decomposition had so discolored and swollen it that identification was absolutely impossible. Bloedel's friends were told the condition of the body was due to the fact that it had not been packed in ice, that commodity not being used at that establishment. One of the dead man's friends said: "The Cook County Morgue is provided with refrigerator receiving boxes for bodies held for identification, and a body may be kept in perfectly good condition for weeks. If I had not known Bloedel's body was at Rolston's his sister would not have been able to identify him." The hack and cab men who stand at Clark and Madison streets who knew Bloedel are incensed at the manner in which the body of their friend was treated and will make a protest to Coroner McHale.

LIVELY ROW BETWEEN SAD SEA DOGS.

Commodore Cregier of the Chicago Navy "Passed At" by a Delegate.

The annual meeting of the Chicago Navy, three times postponed, was held at the Clifton House last night and was lively. Preliminary to the calling to order Commodore Dewitt C. Cregier Jr. of the navy was knocked out in the first round by Delegate William Weinand of the Delaware club. The delegates from the ten clubs were talking about the regatta of 1894 and the $3,500 deficit. Mr. Weinand accused the Commodore of misrepresenting the financial condition of the fund prior to the regatta. The Commodore denied the assertion, and defied the asserter to present his proof. Delegate Weinand weighs 200 pounds, and became proportionately angry. The Commodore is a featherweight. Delegate Weinand arose and said: "Do you call me a liar?"

The Commodore sat in his chair and retorted that the statement was a lie.

Delegate Weinand struck at the Commodore with a strong sweep of his long arm. The Commodore "ducked," and Weinand's fist "feathered" on his head. The Commodore's chair tilted and carried its occupant to the floor. A delegate from the Fearless club ran out of the room in the excitement and watched the further proceedings of the navy from the Monroe street curb of the Palmer House. There was no attempt of the belligerents to follow up the proceedings in like manner, and the navy got down to business.

Fred and Frank Pratt, managers of the regatta at Lake Geneva, reported that since the June meeting they had been unable to collect any of the subscriptions to the fund and that the medals still reposed in the vaults of the DeLacy company in default of the payment of the $900 due on them. The navy passed a resolution to notify the winners of the medals that their delivery was delayed by no fault of the navy, as the managers could not complete collections. An attempt was made to enter into the election of officers, but the delegates concluded that until the debts were paid the navy would be under a cloud and no officers should be elected.

War of Poetesses Is Over.

Justice Kersten was confronted with letters yesterday when the charge of disorderly conduct brought by Mrs. E. Galbreath, No. 5158 Wentworth avenue, against Mrs. Laura Webb, who lives at the Grand Palace Hotel, was called. The disorderly conduct was alleged to have occurred in St. James' Church, at Cass and Huron streets. Mrs. Galbreath desired to shake hands with the blind organist of the church and Mrs. Webb was claimed to have prevented her. Mrs. Webb presented Justice Kersten with a written statement of the case contained in thirty-seven pages of "copy" paper. It included a history of the defendant's life and works as a poetess. Justice Kersten wearily discharged the defendant and the war of the poetesses was over.

Gives the Club a Bowl.

The Newspaper club of Chicago yesterday received a present from William Randolph Hearst, proprietor of the San Francisco Examiner and a son of the late Senator Hearst of California. Mr. Hearst was several weeks ago the guest of the Newspaper club on the occasion of an informal reception while on his way East. Upon his return to the West passing through Chicago yesterday he presented the club with a beautiful and costly glass punch bowl, heavily mounted with silver, and a heavy silver ladle. The bowl and ladle are of special design and are appropriately engraved. It is one of three, another of which is to be presented to the San Francisco Press club on his return home.

Martin and Heaton Arrested.

W. H. Martin, who claims to be President of the International Homestead Association, with offices in the Security Building, was arrested yesterday on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. Ernest Heaton, who says he came recently from California, is complainant. Martin was admitted to bail and then caused Heaton's arrest on a charge of blackmail. Heaton says he invested $500, upon representations by Martin, in a California colonization scheme. He says Martin's representations did not hold good, and when he tried to get his money back Martin would not return it.

Mrs. C. M. Palmer in Police Court.

Mrs. C. M. Palmer was arraigned before Justice Doyle at the Desplaines Street Police Court yesterday morning charged with obtaining money by false pretenses. Miss Belle Harris of the Western Newspaper Union appeared to prosecute. She alleges that Mrs. Palmer came into the office of the Western Newspaper Union two weeks ago and succeeded in cashing two worthless checks. Mrs. Palmer refused to make any statement and asked to have the case continued, as she was not ready for trial. The hearing was set for Tuesday.

Hit by Electric Cars.

While P. H. Walthal and wife, No. 4912 Atlantic street, were driving along Forty-seventh near Frazier street, yesterday afternoon, their buggy was run into by an electric car. Mr. and Mrs. Walthal were thrown out and escaped with several slight bruises, but the buggy was demolished. Robert Mercer and Nicholas Gandorf were riding in an ice wagon at Forty-seventh street and Center avenue yesterday afternoon when the wagon was hit by an electric car. The men escaped injury, but the wagon was badly shattered.

Chinaman Weds a Siamese.

Wong Suen, a Chinaman who possesses a fairly good command of English, dropped into the County Clerk's office yesterday and got a marriage license. He had wooed and won Louise Dollie, one of the prettiest daughters of Siam. It is presumed they were married yesterday, but the residence—No. 333 Sixty-third street—that Wong Suen gave in his application was incorrect. In fact, that number is now occupied by an undertaker. The groom of this alliance is 27 and the bride 26 years old.

Russian Officers in Town.

Commander V. Behr of the Russian cruiser Kreisser and Lieut. Istomesen of the Russian cruiser Rynda passed through the city yesterday. They are en route from Corea, where they were in the Siberian squadron, having been recalled to take commands in the battle squadron. The officers left Nagasaki, Japan, on the day war with China was declared, and sailed on the boat with Kurino, the new Japanese Minister, and Admiral Skerrett of the United States Navy.

He Found a Dog.

An officer of the Englewood Police Station called at Justice Frank Becker's, No. 5628 Sangamon street, Monday, while looking for violators of the dog license law. The Becker family was not at home, and the officer was received by the Justice's big St. Bernard dog, which held the policeman a prisoner in a shed for three hours until Mrs. Becker returned and satisfied the dog that the intruder was of good character.

Senator Wolcott Here.

Senator E. O. Wolcott of Colorado spent several hours in Chicago last evening on his way home. With Mrs. Wolcott he arrived at the Grand Pacific in time for dinner. After dinner he chatted a few moments with Senator Cullom, and then entered a carriage with his wife for a drive to call upon several friends. He left for home on the 9:30 o'clock Rock Island train.

Tony Nicker, No. 216 West Twentieth street, was injured yesterday by the collapse of a two-story brick building at Polk and Clinton streets, owned by M. Seigel, No. 125 Henry street.

Judge Goggin yesterday issued a writ of habeas corpus for William Scharf, Gustav E. and Caroline Nelson, and Josephine Herlitz, who are held in the county jail on a charge of arson preferred by Fire Inspector Conway.

Frank Leonard was arrested on Custom-House place, near Polk Street Depot, yesterday. He has been wanted for two years on a charge of murder. Jan. 24, 1892, he stabbed and killed D. Golder in a saloon at No. 59 Taylor street.

John Kane is wanted by the police on a charge of murder. He was held to the Criminal Court some time ago in $500 bonds by Justice Wallace, charged with assaulting Joseph Schurtz, No. 3801 Honore street, who has died from the injuries inflicted.

Emmanuel Selz of the firm of Selz, Schwab & Co., boot and shoe manufacturers at Superior and Robert streets, was tried in Justice Kersten's court yesterday afternoon on a charge of violating the new factory law. A plea of guilty was entered and the court imposed a fine of $5 and costs in each of five cases.

A committee of residents from Perry avenue last night waited on Lieut. Tearney at the Englewood Police Station and complained that a dead horse has lain in a lot at No. 6832 Perry avenue for the last eight days. The committee told Lieut Tearney the matter had been reported a score of times to the Street Department.

Harvey R. Newman was declared sane yesterday by Judge Scales, who set aside the verdict which found Mr. Newman insane two months ago. The petition upon which Mr. Newman was tried was filed by a brother, the charge being made that he was spending money in such an extravagant manner as to indicate insanity.

LAKE SHORE ROBBERS.

GRISWOLD AND LAKE IDENTIFIED AS THE MEN.

Conductor Nichlass and Brakeman Potter See the Two Prisoners Who Went Through Them Aug. 13—Began in Illinois and Ended in Indiana—Former State Will Assume Jurisdiction—Patrick McGrath Dies from His Injuries—Credit for the Capture.

Train robbers Griswold and Lake were positively identified yesterday afternoon as the two men who boarded a Lake Shore freight train at the Indiana State line at 10:40 o'clock on the evening of Aug. 13, cut the caboose from the train, and at the point of their revolvers robbed Conductor W. A. Nichlass and Brakeman H. H. Potter of their gold watches and chains and a small sum of money. Ever since Griswold and Lake were captured Capt. Rehm, under direction of Inspector Schaack, has been working on the theory that the two desperadoes were connected with the Lake Shore robbery. Yesterday afternoon Conductor Nichlass and Brakeman Potter, with James Mullaney, chief of the Lake Shore detectives, called at the West Chicago Avenue Police Station and were allowed to see the two prisoners. The identification established by them was complete, the size and general appearance of Lake and Griswold tallying in every particular with the description given of the men who robbed them. When the two robbers boarded the train it was in Illinois, but when they jumped from the caboose it had gone some distance into Indiana. It is thought, however, the Illinois courts will have jurisdiction in the case. Inspector Schaack said last night that as the robbery was begun in Illinois he thought the Illinois courts would retain jurisdiction over the case.

Special Officer Patrick McGrath of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, who was wounded during the chase Saturday which ended in the capture of the train robbers, died at 6 o'clock last evening at his residence, No. 1025 Walnut street, where he had been taken from St. Luke's Hospital.

Griswold and Lake are still confined at the West Chicago Avenue Station awaiting the arrival of the Lake County authorities, who will take them to Waukegan, where they will be tried for the murder of Officer Patrick Owens. In view of McGrath's death they may be held for trial in Cook County.

A dispute among police officers in regard to the proper person upon whom shall rest the credit for the capture of Griswold and Lake was called to the attention of Chief Brennan last night. It is claimed Capt. Rehm deserves the credit for the plan which resulted in their capture, and that he has not received the credit justly due him. Chief Brennan's comment was brief. He said:

A good police officer never seeks credit or notoriety in his work, but it is, of course, well he should receive it when it is due, but not at his own hand. As far as the plan of capture is concerned I suppose a gang of farmers with guns could have surrounded the place and caught or killed the fugitives if given time enough. I have not read the official reports in this case, and really I am not worrying much about where the credit lies. Whether Capt. Rehm is worrying I have not heard.

NOT A BAD SHOWING.

BURLINGTON OFFICIALS SATISFIED WITH JULY EARNINGS.

But for Heavy Passenger Earnings Last Year on Account of World's Fair Travel, There Would Have Been an Increase in Net Earnings of Over $300,000—May Run Cheap Excursions from East St. Louis to Chicago and Return—Irregular Tickets in the Market.

Burlington railroad officials are well satisfied with the result of their operations for July, 1894. The decrease in net earnings for the month amounts to only $57,154, which is a much better showing than was looked for. But for the fact that passenger earnings for July last year were unusually large on account of the heavy World's Fair travel there would have been an increase in net earnings of over $300,000. Freight earnings show a decrease of only $111,313, but the passenger earnings, for the reason above stated, decreased $364,214. The decrease of $492,778 in gross earnings is offset by a decrease of $412,743 in operating expenses. As freight business has much improved lately and continues to grow better every day, the company expects soon to show an increase in net earnings. The following statement gives a detailed account of gross earnings, expenses, and net earnings for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy system of railroads, including the Burlington and Missouri River railroad in Nebraska, for the month of July, 1894, and the seven months ending July 31, 1894, compared with the corresponding periods in the year 1893:

	Decrease.
July, 1894—

MAY RUN CHEAP EXCURSIONS.

Action Taken by the Western Passenger Association.

At a meeting of the General Passenger Agents of the roads in the Eastern committee of the Western Passenger Association held at Chairman Caldwell's office yesterday it was resolved that the lines in interest be permitted to agree between themselves to run a cheap excursion from East St. Louis to Chicago and return, on some Saturday to be agreed upon, at a rate of $5 for the round trip; tickets to be good for going passage only on regular trains, or extra sections thereof, leaving St. Louis and East St. Louis Saturday evening after 5 p. m., and good for return passage only on regular trains, or extra sections thereof, leaving Chicago the Sunday night following.

A resolution was also passed that the regular meeting of the Eastern committee of the Western Passenger Association, which was to have been held Tuesday, Sept. 4, be postponed with the understanding that the same will be held upon a date to be fixed by the Chairman, and immediately following the next regular meeting of the General Association, to convene the second Tuesday in October.

It was also decided that in conformity with the suggestions of interested lines members of the Chicago Eastbound committee a joint conference of Trunk Line, Central Traffic, and Western Passenger Associations be arranged to be held in connection with the meeting of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents, to convene at Quebec Sept. 18, for the purpose of reaching an adjustment of the question of divisions growing out of the demand of the Chicago and Buffalo lines for an excess mileage between those points in the apportionment of through fares. A committee was named consisting of Messrs. Thoull, Heafford, Charlton, Townsend, Crane, Lord, Wakely, Boyd, and Caldwell, the latter to act as Chairman.

ARE MAKING SLOW PROGRESS.

Proposed Agreement to Cover All Trans-Missouri Territory.

Little progress was made yesterday by the General Passenger Agents of the trans-Missouri and transcontinental lines. The committee appointed the day previous to draw up a form of agreement for a new transcontinental association appeared before the meeting yesterday and asked to be instructed as to what territory and business should be covered by the proposed new agreement, as the committee could make no progress until that question had been decided. After some discussion it was decided the new agreement should cover all competitive passenger business to and from or through the old Transcontinental Association's terminals and Pacific coast terminals; also all intermediate competitive passenger business. This means that the proposed new association is to cover all the territory between the Missouri River and the Pacific coast and St. Paul and the Pacific coast. An adjournment was then taken until 2:30 p. m. today, when the committee is expected to be ready to submit a report.

Irregular Tickets in the Market.

Investigations made at Kansas City indicate that there not only were a number of orders issued by the Macon and Northern railroad in brokers' hands calling for Pacific coast tickets, but that tickets of that company's issue reading eastbound over certain Kansas City lines purporting to be the return portions of round-trip tickets sold to Western points have appeared in the market there. Chairman Caldwell thinks the situation is such as to warrant Western Passenger Association lines in declining to honor any tickets of that road's issue and in calling upon the issuing line for full local in the settlement of all tickets of irregular issue which may thus far have been honored.

In Memory of France Chandler.

At a meeting of the Eastern committee of the Western Passenger Association yesterday the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the General Passenger and Ticket Agents of the railway lines members of the Western Passenger Association, in meeting assembled, do hereby record an expression of regret at the loss of an esteemed friend and valued associate in France Chandler, late General Passenger and Ticket Agent of the Wabash railroad, and appoint Mr. D. B. Caldwell to convey to the relatives of the deceased the expression of their sincere sympathy with them in their affliction.

Will Not Be Heard Till September.

The hearing in the matter of the proposed reduction in the passenger rate from East St. Louis to Kansas City, which was to have been held at Chairman Caldwell's office yesterday, has been adjourned till a future date with the understanding that it will be held about the middle of September at St. Louis. The adjournment was made in deference to the wish of one of the lines directly interested, owing to the inability of that company to be represented as desired at the hearing appointed for Aug. 28, all other lines directly interested consenting thereto.

Nebraska Stations Closed.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The failure of the corn crop has necessitated the closing of three stations on the Burlington in Nebraska. The stations abandoned are Cheney, south of Lincoln; Farwell, between Central City and Greely Center; and Elyria, north of Greely Center.

Railroad Notes.

It was reported yesterday that the Santa Fé has issued a tariff on packing-house products over the Erie lines from the Mississippi River to New York, naming a rate which is six cents less than the agreed tariff.

A majority of the bondholders of the Evansville and Richmond railway company have assented to the plan proposed for the readjustment of the company's indebtedness. The time within which non-assenting bondholders may accept will expire at 5 p. m. Aug. 31.

A petition for a receiver for the Washington and Columbia River railroad, the Hunt system, has been filed in the United States Circuit Court at Portland, Ore. A similar petition was filed in Tacoma and W. D. Taylor was appointed receiver. The main line is from Pendleton, Ore., to Walla Walla, Wash., and the line with its branches comprises about 250 miles of road.

Chloroformed and Robbed by a Friend.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—John Gibson was chloroformed and robbed by a friend known as McArthur at his rooms on North Second street early this morning. Gibson is in a dying condition. McArthur has disappeared.

American railroad stocks were low, closing at the lowest. Grand Trunks were exceptionally strong. Silver was firm at a decline. Yesterday's sharp rise was due to a special mintage order for the colonies. Gold is going in small amounts to the continent, but nothing like a drain is expected.

May Make It a Test Case.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The various firms of Lloyds here are somewhat interested in what action the Manufacturers' Lloyds of this city will take in the arrest of one of their employés, E. C. Gay, at Kalamazoo, Mich. Gay was arrested for soliciting insurance without permission from the State authorities, and it is now reported the Manufacturers' Lloyds will make the arrest a test case and carry it to the highest courts. Two of the firms of Lloyds here who did not report their amount of premiums to the New York Board of Fire Underwriters at the time the law requires have since done so and paid their fire patrol assessments. There are now only two firms which have failed to report.

INSURANCE AFFAIRS.

CHARLES COUNSELMAN'S IDEA OF OUTSIDE PROTECTION.

He Takes a Large Party of Agents and Managers to South Chicago and Shows Them How to Flood an Elevator Inside and Outside—His Arrangement Is Approved and Said to Be Almost as Perfect as Can Be Managed—General News of the Insurance World.

More water was thrown through nozzles in South Chicago yesterday afternoon than enough to float a battleship. Two immense structures were bombarded with powerful streams from every direction, and for a day or two, at least, in their history they will prevent a cleanly and spotless exterior. It was an exhibition test of the only outside system for fire protection in Chicago.

For months Charles Counselman has been thinking over the probable success of his pet project. He had conceived the idea of constructing a perfect grain elevator, with absolute protection against fire, and he was carrying the idea into practical results by erecting such a plant. The plans were perfected and the immense building erected just across the slip from his Elevator D, in South Chicago, and the new structure was christened Elevator C. As the latter was being built he carried out the plans for fire protection. The building was equipped with sprinklers at every eight square feet, on the ground floor were set nine lines of hose, and on each other floor were four lines. Outside protection was elaborately arranged, and then Mr. Counselman determined to make a public test before the insurance men of Chicago. Invitations were issued by Mr. Counselman to the fire insurance representatives of this city to assemble at the Rock Island depot yesterday at 12:30 o'clock and ride out to South Chicago to witness an exhibition of his system.

The train arrived at the elevator yards near the South Chicago Station, and the exhibition began immediately. The two elevators are separated by a slip 100 feet wide, and on the outer side are well stocked lumber yards. At the head of the slip is a fire stand, equipped with a three and one-half inch Niagara hydrant, while at the outer extreme right and left of the two elevators are two elevated three-inch hydrants, arranged so that a stream can be thrown regardless of a yard full of freight cars. In the engine-room containing the power for operating Elevator C, which has a capacity of 1,500,000 bushels of grain, are the electric light plant and a pump to be used in operating the sprinkling system, and can be used in conjunction with the hydrant apparatus. The latter consists of a pumping plant to be used only in case of fire. The pump has a capacity of 5,000 gallons a minute, and the water supply is unlimited, being drawn from the slip fifty feet away.

The exhibition began with the elevated hydrant at the right, when thousands of gallons of water were thrown over the big Elevator D. Then the big central hydrant, operated under the double pressure, threw an immense stream with terrific force over the highest point of Elevator C, forming a complete deluge. The hydrant at the right played on the lumber yard and the tall smokestack, and then the fireboat Chicago, stationed a quarter of a mile away, steamed into the slip and deluged things generally. The hydrants were again tried, and then an alarm to the nearest city engine-house was turned in by Marshal Smith. Engine 47, at Ninety-third street and South Chicago avenue, responded. A fast run was made, and a stream was on the elevator in five and a half minutes from the time of call. Then the inside pipe lines in both elevators were exhibited, streams pouring from every window of the immense structures. Elevator C is equipped with a complete sprinkler system, with two 4,500-gallon tanks on the top floor and with eighty pounds air pressure, but no exhibition could be given, as there are 1,350,000 bushels of grain now in the elevator. The test was satisfactory in every way, and the insurance men and fire experts agreed they had never seen such perfect and complete elevator protection.

DECISION AFFECTING LIFE POLICIES.

Court Holds a Corporation Cannot Be Made Beneficiary of the Assured.

A decision has just been rendered on an important question affecting the right of a person to make a corporation the beneficiary under a life insurance, and the decision is against such practices. The case was one in which Trinity College, a Southern institution, was the plaintiff and the Travelers of Hartford the defendant. A policy was issued by the insurance company mentioned on the life of Edward S. Scheppe, and the college was named as beneficiary, it being the idea for the insured to pay the premiums and in case of his death the institution was to reap the benefit. The question was raised as to whether the college had an insurable interest in the man's life, and this policy was issued and then the suit brought for some of the year's unearned premium to test the case, before quite a number of applications for similar policies would be made out. It is a conceded fact that a man can take out a policy on his own life and leave the proceeds to any person or institution he pleases by will, but the question as to whether he could, in the eyes of the law, make a corporation the direct beneficiary was a mooted point. Hence this test case. The decision was in favor of the defendant, thus creating the precedent that a corporation or other party in similar cases has no insurable interest in the life of a person who might choose to seek to benefit it by means of direct life insurance.

To Become Union Managers.

It is probable the Lancashire and North British and Mercantile will become members of the Western Union. Manager Gilbert of the Lancashire has practically announced his intention of entering the union. The company was a union one under P. B. Armstrong. After his retirement Dan Winslow was appointed Western manager. Mr. Winslow did not become a union manager, but he was in charge of the Western department only a short time. His successor, Mr. Gilbert, is known to be in sympathy with the aims and methods of the Western Union. No official statement has been made of the intentions of Manager Littlejohn of the North British, but union managers are predicting he will become one of them.

set a hot pace up the backstretch. To the quarter the pair rushed in 24 seconds and to the half in 49 seconds. The mare was gradually creeping away at this point and swung into the stretch an open length to the good. Once straightened out, the colt went after the flying mare and the result was a sensational finish. At the distance it looked as though he would win, but Sister Mary, answering Weber's call gamely, won by a nose. Somersault was third.

Weber Rides Three Winners.

Charley Weber rode three winners, one of them Patrick, showing a phenomenally fast mile and a sixteenth. He was in the second race, and was really third choice in the betting, Sull Ross being the favorite, with Chiswell second choice. Whatever chance the latter had was destroyed by the ride Cassin gave him. Evanatus was the pacemaker up the backstretch and to the half, where he began to tire, and Sull Ross, moving out around the last turn, piloted the field into the stretch. There he began to come back to Patrick, who, coming from behind, won as he pleased. Sull Ross was second and Evanatus third.

Woodlight took the opening race for maiden 2-year-old fillies. It was a wretched lot that faced the starter. Bonnie M. was made favorite, while Woodlight was backed from 8 to 4 to 1. May Rose was the pacemaker to the stretch, where Woodlight, always in a good position, got her and won easily. Sweetheart was third.

The third race, a split of the first, drew out a fair lot. Boon R. was the favorite, while Sallie Calvert was singularly neglected. When the flag fell she rushed to the front and nothing ever got to her head afterwards. Boon R. was second and Sue third.

Alary Wins from Hasty.

The fourth race, a split of the second, had a fair lot in. Hasty was made the favorite and ran as though a trifle short. He seemed to have the race won at the eighth pole, but Alary, the heavily played second choice, was plucky, and coming on, was ridden out by a length and a half. Hasty was second and Wahatchie third.

The last race resulted in a dump. Nephew was the favorite, but after a strong bluff around the last turn died away to nothing, and Commission, at 7 to 1, and King Charlie, the second choice, drew out. Carr outrode Fisher and landed his mount a winner by a head. Little Cripple was a cheap third.

The pacing race produced a close finish. The favorite won and so the public was satisfied. Rocker won by a head from May Marshall, with J. H. L. third. The time was 2:16¼.

DUCAT'S MILE IN 1:39.

CHIPS THREE-FIFTHS OFF THE SHEEPSHEAD RECORD.

Equals Arab's Time in a Race Which He Wins by Three Lengths Hard Held—Dorian Takes the Twin City Handicap from Saragossa and Dobbins—Brandywine Wins the Dash and Hurlingham, Dr. Garnet, and Marshall Take the Other Events—Favorites Have a Day.

New York, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Speculators who followed the money at Sheepshead Bay this afternoon should be on Sunshine avenue the remainder of the meeting. Six favorites won off the reel and the seventh race fell to the lot of a well-backed third choice. The attendance was large, the weather pleasant, and the track so fast that Ducat smashed the mile record for the course of 1:39 3-5 three-fifths of a second. The track record was established by Major Domo, carrying 116 pounds, two years ago. Today Ducat picked up 113 pounds and admirably ridden by Simms romped home a three-lengths winner.

Stake features today were the Twin City Handicap and the dash, the former for all ages at one mile and a quarter and the latter for 2-year-olds at five furlongs. Sir Walter, Henry of Navarre, Bassetlaw, Faraday, and Candelabra scratched from the Twin City, leaving The Pepper, Dobbins, Dorian, Saragossa, Hornpipe, and Chant as field fillers. Dorian was installed favorite at 8 to 5, with Dobbins second choice. While Dorian held firm Dobbins went back and at post time he was 7 to 1. All except the favorite were at attractive prices. Hornpipe made the running, accompanied by Saragossa with the field in close order to the stretch turn. There the proverbial blanket would have covered the six. While Saragossa kept Chant on the rail in the stretch Dorian and Dobbins came down the center of the track and Dorian won easily by a neck from Saragossa, a length and a half before Dobbins, a head to the good of the unfortunate Western colt, Chant. The time was 2:08 1-5.

The presence of Brandywine, who ran second to The Butterflies in last Saturday's Futurity, frightened The Commoner, Gennett Edwards, Agitator, Sadie, Havoc, Cockade, and Sallie Woodford out of the dash. The Morrises added Phoebus, The Swain and Strauss McKee. The crowd plumped upon Brandywine at 3 to 5, making Leigh's fleet filly Handspun second choice. Lissak, Sir Galahad, Dolabara, and the added ones received faint support. Up to the final sixteenth the race was an easy one for Brandywine. He showed the way from Handspun, Phoebus, and McKee. Beginning the last hundred yards McKee caused Clayton to shake up the favorite, but in the end he won handily by a neck in 1:01 3-5, a length and a half separating McKee and Handspun.

Hurlingham at 4 to 5 won the opening five furlongs scramble, with pounds in reserve, from Melba and Panway, and Hugh Penny, backed down from 3 to 5 to 9 to 20, played with his company in the second. The third was a "cake-walk" for Dr. Garnett, Antipode beating the second choice, Indra, for the place.

Ducat was at all times the popular fancy for the fourth at even money. Candelabra was the only one thought to have a show to beat him. Jack of Spades cut out the pace to the stretch turn, when the favorite went to the fore and won hard held by three lengths, negotiating the mile in 1:39. Prig, Jack of Spades, and Candelabra finished heads apart in the order named.

McCafferty's old Nero and the Belmont gelding Song and Dance were equal favorites at 9 to 5, for the closing event, one mile on the turf, Clarus made the running for a time and then the race resolved itself into a duel between Marshall, a 6 to 1 shot, and Nero. They ran as a team throughout the stretch and Marshall secured the verdict by a short head in 1:43. Leonville finished a moderate third.

MARKSMEN AT CAMP DOUGLAS.

Good Scores Made at the Preliminary Contest—Figures of the Day.

Wisconsin Military Reservation, Camp Douglas, Wis., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Today marks the beginning of the preliminary shooting of the week's competition. The interest manifested in the contest by the men lends to the work a business-like air, which in many respects has been wanting in the regimental contests during the encampment. The work of the range officers and that of the Statistical Department is performed in a creditable manner under the charge of Col. Winsor. Lieut. Buck of the Third United States Infantry is here for a few days to witness the rifle shooting, in which he is deeply interested. The sky is brightly illuminated tonight by fierce fires burning upon the crown of "Castle Jessie Bluff." The rocky eminence is named after the wife of Capt. Reade. The air still continues to be smoky and interferes considerably with the shooting of the men, but some very good scores were made. The following is a list of scores made today:

IS TAKEN FOR A CONFIDENCE MAN.

Detectives Sure a Prominent City Official Is an Old-Time Crook.

Detectives Regan and McCaffrey mistook a prominent city official for a confidence man yesterday and only when they threatened to lock him up in the "coop" did the city official tire of the joke and presented Regan with his card. The city official and Mr. Blondin, manager of the Stock Exchange restaurant, met at La Salle and Washington streets last night. They noticed two farmers' boys coming down Washington.

"Let's have fun with them," said Blondin.

"All right," assented the city official, whose office is not far from the City Clerk's desk.

Blondin asked which way Clark street was. The young man said "one block this way," at the same time pointing east. Blondin appeared to be astonished and told the young farmer he was a stranger in the city. He had asked the other gentleman where Clark street was and he had told him it was four blocks in the opposite direction. The young farmer became anxious for Blondin's safety.

"Have you any money with you?" he queried.

"Yes, I have $18,000," responded Blondin.

"If you have," gasped the countryman, for heaven's sake keep away from that man in the light suit, he is a confidence man," pointing at the official.

The city official proposed that they all have a drink. At the bar-room he took the two farmer boys aside and promised them half the booty, $9,000, if they would not interfere. But the honest grangers tried their best to guide Blondin from his supposed danger. At last, when all efforts failed, one of them hastened to the Central Station.

"Are the detectives here?" he asked. "There is a big swindler across the street who is trying to rob a man. Send a man over with me quick." Sergt. Broderick sent Regan and McCaffrey. As soon as they saw the city official they concluded he was an old timer.

"Come along," said Regan, "I want you."

"But I don't think you do," said the official. "I have done nothing."

"O, I am onto you, you just come with me. You are one of those smooth ducks, but you can't fool me."

Before entering the Central headquarters the official showed Regan a gold medal with the city shield in the center and gave him his card.

"I guess we were mistaken," said Regan.

PLACE LITTLE FAITH IN THE YARN.

Commission Men Do Not Think Nathaniel Thayer Will Be Deposed.

Commission men at the Stock-Yards place but little faith in the story sent on from Boston that Nathaniel Thayer Jr. will be deposed and a successor appointed at a meeting of the directors of the Chicago Stock-Yards. Stock-Yards people think a successor to Charles Francis Adams, President of the Junction company, whose death a short time ago made the place vacant, is meant instead of Mr. Thayer. The latter's friends claim he is not a stockholder in either the Junction company or Stock-Yards company, but is a heavy bondholder. The annual election of the Junction company will be held in October, but the Union Stock-Yards company, of which Mr. Thayer is President, will not meet in annual session until Jan uary.

Quaker City Team Gets Enough Runs to Win the Game in the First Two Innings and Then Touches the Rubber Six Times to Clinch Matters—How Hamilton Helped the Visitors—Brooklyn, New York, Baltimore, St. Louis, and Washington the Other Winners.

The National League games yesterday resulted in closing up the ranks in the percentage column, but they did not change the relative standing of any of the clubs. Boston has but to lose two games and Baltimore win two to put the latter club in the lead. The standing of the clubs is as follows:

Clubs.	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Per ct.
Boston	104	68	36	.654
Baltimore	102	66	36	.647
New York	105	67	38	.638

Chicago	105	47	58	.448

St. Louis	105	43	62	.410
Washington	104	35	69	.337
Louisville	104	32	72	.308

Games scheduled for today are: Pittsburg at Brooklyn, Cleveland at New York, Cincinnati at Washington, Louisville at Baltimore, Chicago at Philadelphia, St. Louis at Boston.

PHILADELPHIA WINS IN TWO INNINGS.

Bat Terry Hard and Prove Victors by a Wide Margin.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—There was nothing wrong with the play of the Philadelphia team today, Anson's lively Chicago Colts being taken into camp to the tune of 16 to 6. Taylor and Terry did the pitching and both were touched up pretty freely, but the latter got the worst of the deal.

The result of the game was early settled. A base on balls to Hamilton, Boyle's sacrifice, a two-bagger by Cross, Turner's force, Thompson's triple to the centerfield corner of the grounds, and Hallman's single yielded three runs in the first inning. Four more men scored in the second inning on a double by Taylor, Dahlen's excusable miss of Hamilton's grounder, two steals, Hamilton purloining both second and third, singles by Cross and Turner, and Thompson's double. This made seven runs, which proved enough to win, but six additional runs were tallied later, just by way of clinching the victory.

Chicago counted twice in the second inning, when Hallman muffed a thrown ball instead of making a double play. Hallman partially made up for his error by making a splendid play on Parrott's grounder in the same inning and by accepting all of the nine subsequent chances offered him. Two hits and a base on balls gave Chicago a run in the third inning, and another was scored in the fifth on a single by Lange, Turner's double, and Irwin's double. In the sixth inning singles by Schriver, Dahlen, and Decker and a wild pitch yielded the last two secured by the visitors.

Lange's catch of Hamilton's fly off the center field fence was the prettiest play of the game. Taylor was on first base when the hit was made, and thinking he would surely be safe the tall pitcher sprinted for second and had passed that base when the catch was made. He then tried hard to get back to first ahead of the throw, and was making such good time that it seemed possible for him to do it, when Hamilton, who had slowed up after the catch, coolly headed off the ball and caught it on a long bound. The umpire, of course, promptly declared Taylor out. Attendance, 2,100. The score:

JAPAN'S PEOPLE AND ITS FUTURE.

Prof. Fukushima Talks of His Nation and What the War Will Accomplish.

Prof. T. Fukushima of Tokio delivered a lecture on "Japan of Today" at Recital Hall in the Auditorium last night under the auspices of the Chicago Japanese Association. All of the local Japanese colony was present with many Americans. Mr. Fukushima, the lecturer, looks more like a German musician than the traditional Japanese. His lecture dealt with the civilization, natural conditions, manners and customs of the empire, and wound up with a strong appeal for sympathy in the cause of Japanese civilization against the barbarism of the Chinese foe. He said:

In forty years Japan has developed into one of the most progressive nations of the world, and entirely through the kindness of America. Our people, blessed with every advantage of climate and location, were easy subjects for a civilizing agency. Their descent and origin are unknown. They may be of Chinese ancestry or they may be Tartars, but they are superior to either nation in capacity and receptive ability. Their strength of character is shown by the fact that Japan—a nation when Greece and Rome were young and Egypt was in its glory—has survived all the shocks of time.

Most people think that Japan is a feudal despotism, ruled with iron sway by the Mikado. Not so. The government is identical with that of England, even to the House of Lords and House of Commons. The laws have been altered and modernized. There is a disciplined army of 50,000 men and a navy of thirty-seven ships. There are 408 banks, several railroads, and 400 telegraph stations. The editor is everywhere—there are 766 papers and magazines. Our alphabet, by the way, came from China through Corea. We have 30,000 common schools and 4,000 colleges and universities, with a school attendance of 85 per cent of our children.

As to our present war with China, I can only say it is not a war of conquest, but a stand in defense of treaty rights. After the Corean insurrection of 1885 China and Japan both recognized Corea as an independent nation, and the civilization of Europe was introduced into the country by Japan. It is now a war, not of ambition and aggression, but of civilization against Orientalism—of the progressive thought of new Japan against the ancient barbarisms of Pekin. Let us hope the war may open China's eyes—that the Yellow Kingdom may yet share in the triumphs of freedom and civilization, and that over the mossy ruins of the Chinese wall may yet shine the progressive light of modern day.

A set of views of Japan—scenes, people, and customs—was the concluding number of the entertainment.

NUT FOR BRADWELL TO CRACK.

Inspector Shea Scores Him for Letting "Kid" Murray Go Unpunished.

It is Justice Bradwell's move. Inspector Shea yesterday issued the following written statement in reply to Justice Bradwell's remarks Monday: "Justice Bradwell is in error. The man Richard Dean, referred to by him, is a well-known shell worker, and when arrested on a charge of vagrancy was fined $100 by Justice Foster. The man I referred to in my letter to Chief Brennan was the well-known safe blower, Reilly, alias 'Kid' Murray, a partner of Stratton and Bolan. Now if the Judge thinks it is better to let a man like Reilly go unpunished or wait until he gets his gun loaded and does to some police officer what was done to Pat Owens he is entitled to his opinion and his own construction of the law, but in my opinion it is bad judgment, even if it is police court law."

WRENN IS CHAMPION.

CHICAGO MAN DEFEATS GOODBODY AFTER A HOT FIGHT.

After a Brilliant Beginning the American Weakens and the Irishman Plays Strong and Aggressive Tennis Only to See His Opponent Wake Up for a Dashing Finish—The Winner Surprises Even His Friends—E. Wrenn Easily Defeats Bostwick in the Consolation.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Wrenn, the champion, and Goodbody, the challenger, were the central figures in the battle waged this morning across the white net on the Casino court. It was the closing contest in the long series and its issue was to determine the question which for days had filled and disturbed the minds of the tennis world—could the all-conquering foreigner be staid in his triumphant march, even by the hand of the champion, or would he add the last supreme honor to his already long list of victories?

Play opened at 11. Wrenn had the service and followed the ball at once to the net, where he killed the return. On netted balls and one well placed stroke the champion had the first game easily, but was not quite able to take the second. Then for four consecutive games he played perhaps the best—at once the most aggressive and brilliant and the most careful and sure game seen on the Casino grounds in years. Goodbody is certainly a clever player and his scheme to win matches equally so. Soon Wrenn began to weaken. Then, as in the preceding matches, when he saw the first signs of falling off on the part of his antagonist, he dropped his defensive tactics and commenced to force the play. Wrenn had not gone to pieces, but he had fallen so far short of his early standard that against the better work of the visitor he could not score a game. Soon Wrenn captured the odd game and the hopes of the rooters for the American rose. The Chicago man then lost two games and the set.

A rest of ten minutes was allowed and when the second set opened the champion made a great reach and reeled off three more in quick and splendid shape, thus winning the match and the national championship. The summary:

Championship singles—Wrenn beat Goodbody, 6—8, 6—1, 6—4, 6—4.

Consolation finals—E. Wrenn beat Bostwick, 6—0, 6—3.

BUYING UP IRON HALL CLAIMS.

Sensation in Indianapolis Caused by Announcement of Those Engaged in It.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—A sensation in Iron Hall circles was created today by the announcement of J. W. McKinnon of Boston, agent of the Columbian Loan company, that he had been sent here by his company to work with Charles Martindale, President of the School Board, in buying up Iron Hall claims. That there was a lot of speculation in Iron Hall funds has been alleged, but it could not be fastened upon any one connected with the control of the fund. The exposure, it is reported, will raise such a protest an investigation will result. The speculation is believed to have begun immediately after the final order of the court in May, and it is declared the needy class who originally invested stand to lose hundreds of thousands more. It became plain early in the year that the Indianapolis receiver would secure control of the funds of all the Eastern States, bringing the total sum to be disbursed up to nearly $2,000,000. The enormous fees to lawyers and receivers allowed during the litigation in the several States made a hole in the funds and raised a protest. The members of the order were those who needed what little of their savings they could recover and the threats that the affairs might be tied up for years forced them to let things take their course. The reports of the receivers in Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York, and Massachusetts having been turned over to Receiver Failey, he alone is able to figure the per cent which the Iron Hall will pay on its membership stock. Although the order has been defunct nearly three years only one dividend of 10 per cent on a limited number of claims has been declared. All this time the receiver has had never less than $750,000 deposited here in the Merchants' National Bank. To what amount this sum has been increased the members of the order are not aware. Nearly $1,000,000 additional was recovered from the receivers in other States. John P. Frenzel, President of the Merchants' National Bank, is credited with having secured the appointment of Receiver Failey, who is a large stockholder in the bank. Charles Martindale's close business relation with Mr. Frenzel is what has caused the sensation by the announcement of the Boston agent.

Touncey, General Manager of the New York Central. The train will stop on the way in order to bring any directors of the Lake Shore who may be able to attend the funeral. A delegation of manufacturers and capitalists from Youngstown, O., is also expected.

Arrival of the Family and Remains.

The special train bearing the remains of President Newell arrived at the Lake Shore depot at 8:10 a. m. It consisted of three private cars, a Wagner sleeping car, and a Lake Shore coach. The remains were in Mr. Newell's private car, in which he had traveled many thousand miles during his life time, and in which he was stricken with the illness which proved fatal.

In the car was Mrs. Newell. With her were Miss Anne Newell, Mr. Newell's married daughter, Mrs. James R. Garfield; James R. Garfield, her husband; John Newell Garfield and James A. Garfield, their children; Mrs. James A. Garfield, widow of President Garfield, and John E. Newell, Mr. Newell's son. Mr. Newell's eldest son, Ashbel B. Newell, arrived last night from Kingston, N. J. Mr. Newell had gone on a vacation and intentionally omitted to leave his address, but was finally located yesterday and immediately telegraphed Mr. Canniff he would leave on a special train.

In the two other private cars were General Superintendent Canniff and Assistant General Superintendent Blodgett. They were accompanied by the following officers of the company: E. A. Handy, General Passenger Agent A. J. Smith, General Baggage Agent J. L. Freeman, General Freight Agent J. G. James, Superintendent of Motive Power G. W. Stevens, Assistant General Master Car-Builder A. M. Waitt, and Division Superintendents T. F. Whittelsey, S. S. Hand, J. M. Watts, Tracy W. Niles, A. H. Smith, and J. E. Russell.

Carriages were in waiting at the depot and the family was taken to the residence at No. 348 Ontario street. The casket was taken in the house and there were many callers during the day.

General Managers' Association Meets.

The General Managers at a meeting held in the association's rooms yesterday morning decided to attend the funeral in a body. The meeting was presided over by General Manager E. St. John of the Rock Island. In calling the meeting to order Mr. St. John said:

A few short months ago we were called upon to contemplate the suddenness of death by the removal from our number of an old and valued associate, whose death was a shock to all. and today we are again assembled to consider the loss of another, whose death occurred at Youngstown, O., at 2 p. m. Sunday, Aug. 26—John Newell, President and General Manager of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway company.

It seems impossible that he, who but a few short weeks ago formed one of the number that came almost daily to our meetings, is no more; that the angel of death suddenly, yet gently, has touched the form of our friend and bade him surrender his labors on earth. Those of us who but a few days since saw and talked with him can hardly realize that he has gone from us, never to return. Seemingly to us he should have lived many additional years. What a record he made for himself, and in may respects what a remarkable man he was.

Born in 1830 at Newburyport, Mass., at the age of 16 years we find him engaged in railroad service on the Central Vermont railroad as rodman and assistant engineer. Passing from that position in 1851 to that of engineer of various lines, then to Superintendent of Construction of the Winona and St. Peter railroad, President of the Cleveland and Toledo, engineer and Superintendent of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad, Vice-President of the Illinois Central, then President of the same company, General Manager of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway, then President and General Manager; and added to these duties came the Presidency of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie and Toledo and Ohio Northern railroads. Surely enough, if we may not say too much, for a man of his age, and yet he seemed equal, both physically and mentally, to the task assumed and doubtless so considered himself.

The result must come as a warning to many. Shall it be heeded? He shirked no responsibility; was faithful to his trust; honest and conscientious in the performance of every duty he leaves behind him a monument, in the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway of today, more enduring than granite, and to which his name shall ever attach itself. We mourn our loss, and to the family of our departed friend we will extend heartfelt sympathy.

Death finds us 'mid our playthings—snatches us,
As a cross nurse might do a wayward child,
From all our toils and baubles. His rough call
Unlooses all our favorite ties on earth;
And well if they are such as may be answered
In yonder world, where all is judged of truly.

Resolutions Which Are Adopted.

The following resolutions were drafted by a committee composed of H. H. Porter, A. J. Earling, J. M. Whitman, J. T. Harahan, George B. Reeve, W. F. Merrill, R. B. Campbell, and H. B. Ledyard:

WHEREAS, John Newell, the President and General Manager of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway, has been taken by death from our councils; and

WHEREAS, In view of the loss we have sustained by the death of our friend, colaborer, and associate, and in view of the heavier loss that has been sustained by those who were nearest and dearest to him in life, it is meet and proper that we should place on record our appreciation of our loss and of the loss of the world by the death of this man. Therefore be it

Resolved, First—That in the death of Mr. Newell we feel that the railroad world has suffered a loss irreparable; this association has suffered a loss that it will feel for all time, and that each member of the association justly and rightfully feels that he has suffered a personal loss and has a personal grief that time alone can assuage.

Second—That it is but a just tribute to the memory of the departed to say that in regretting his removal from our midst, we mourn for one who was, in every way, worthy of our respect and regard.

Third—That we sincerely condole with the family of the deceased on the dispensation with which it has pleased divine providence to afflict them, and commend them for consolation to him who orders all things for the best, and whose chastisements are meant in mercy.

Fourth—That this heartfelt testimonial of our sympathy and sorrow be forwarded to the family of our departed friend by the Chairman of this association, and that a second copy be furnished the railway company which Mr. Newell served for so many years.

FULLER PLAN REFERRED TO JUDD.

County Attorney to Give an Opinion on the New Building Proposition.

Castles in the air were built by members of the Public Service committee yesterday while they discussed the plans of the George A. Fuller company for a new county building, and advanced their own ideas as to what is needed and how to secure it. The upshot of the matter was a reference of the Fuller plans to County Attorney Judd, with instructions to submit an opinion as soon as possible. Commissioner Kunstman thought the board should first have an opinion from the attorney as to the rights of the county to accept such a proposition. Commissioner Hoffman thought the whole matter out of order and moved with Commissioner Cunning that it be placed on file. Commissioner Kunstman said there is a question whether the budget law by which the board is governed applies to the maintenance of a Court-House, and that that question should be decided by the attorney. Commissioner Edmanson was firm that the proper way is to put the question of a $5,000,000 bond issue before the people at the coming fall election and let them decide it. He believed, in case they voted for it, the County Board should advertise for bids and secure the competition of all the architects in the country. When the plans are approved the board should let the contract entire to one contractor and thus save time, money, and the opportunity for boodling that might arise from such an immense undertaking. Several of the Commissioners thought the present building good enough for twenty years, and thought an expenditure at the present time, except for an improvement of the sanitary condition of the building and the necessary repairs, uncalled for. Commissioner Allen said the proper move was to consult the city for terms, and then, after purchasing the old city building, repair both and put them in proper shape for the occupancy of the county officers and the courts. This would give the county ample quarters for years to come, with plenty of light, heat, and room, and, with proper repairs, the best of ventilation. The following resolution was then submitted for the consideration of the committee:

WHEREAS, From the report of the County Attorney made to the board it appears that there is little if any question as to the legal rights of the county to the west half of the Court-House block and the building thereon, but that it would be considered inequitable for the county to obtain possession without compensating the city to the value of its improvements; and

WHEREAS, It is necessary that some plan be devised whereby the county can obtain room for the proper accommodation of its courts and various departments; therefore,

Resolved, That the Mayor and Council of the City of Chicago are requested to appoint a committee to confer with a committee from the County Board in regard to the matter, and be it further

Resolved, That President Struckman, Commissioners Cool, Netterstrom, Cunning, and Edmanson are hereby appointed a committee on behalf of this board to present this action to the Mayor and Council and to confer with any committee that may be appointed or designated by the Council for such purpose, and be it further

Resolved, That the committee is requested to act promptly in this matter so as to enable the County Board, if possible, to submit a plan or proposition for raising the necessary funds to the voters at the November election.

President Struckman said the city authorities would laugh at the county committee and that he was confident it would do the county no good. After considerable discussion the resolution was lost by a vote of 5 yeas and 6 nays. This settled the matter and it will for the present rest in the hands of the County Attorney.

Douglas-Boulevarders Threaten Injunction

Capt. J. P. Coan, after a wordy spat with President Moil at a West Park Board meeting yesterday, declared that a majority of the property-owners along Douglas boulevard would get out an injunction against work improving the driveway unless the assessment now in force for that purpose be vacated on the ground that the levy is unfair. The Commissioners said they would be satisfied with such procedure. Action was postponed until the next meeting. The board yesterday agreed to pay the city $5,000 annually for the use of the water in the West Side park system. Heretofore a meter has been employed.

Will Push "L" Smoke Cases.

Chief Smoke Inspector Adams today or tomorrow will deliver to the Law Department the forty cases of smoke violation by the South Side Rapid Transit company on the Alley "L" road, and it is expected suit will be brought immediately. Corporation Counsel Rubens will notify the roads of the city's attitude. The Smoke Department yesterday learned that the Illinois Central road is laying in a supply of coke preparatory to making a test with it as fuel on its locomotives. The tests thus far have been satisfactory.

Must Explain the Delay.

The contract for boring wells and sounding for the Northwest land tunnel from the Chicago avenue pumping station promises to cause the city trouble. W. H. Gray & Bro. accepted the terms of the contract several days ago and furnished the usual bond, but yesterday entered objection to some of the provisions. Commissioner Jones notified the contractors to appear and explain why the work has not been commenced. The engineers are waiting for this work so they can begin their survey.

Will Push Track Elevation.

Mayor Hopkins probably will submit to the first Council meeting a report of the summer's progress in track elevation. Yesterday he instructed Engineer Ellers to hasten the work as much as possible so that there might be a good foundation for a report. The Mayor is expected to submit this fall ordinances for the elevation of the tracks of the St. Charles Air Line, Union Stock-Yards and Transit, Burlington, and Pennsylvania companies.

Zeisler's Resignation Takes Effect.

Sigmund Zeisler, Assistant Corporation Counsel since the beginning of the present administration, yesterday ended his work for the city and left last night for New York to sail Friday on the steamship Normannia for Hamburg. He will return to Chicago to resume his law practice about Jan. 1. Mr. Zeisler has had charge of the chancery business of the city. His successor has not been named.

PARADE OF UNIFORM RANK THE FEATURE OF THE ENCAMPMENT.

Fifteen Thousand Knights in Line, Marching by State Brigades—Supreme Chancellor Blackwell Makes His Report—Stands Firmly Against the Use of the German Ritual—Says the Exclusion of Saloonkeepers and Bartenders Has Worked Well.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—The feature of the Pythian encampment was the grand parade of the Uniform Rank this afternoon. Fifteen thousand Knights were in line, marching by State brigades, and the procession was more than two hours passing the Presidential reviewing stand. Pennsylvania avenue was crowded with more than 100,000 people, a large proportion of them visitors from out of the city.

The President reviewed the procession from a small stand erected on the curbing just in front of the White House. A few minutes after 4 o'clock he emerged from the Executive Mansion in company with Col. Klao, Chief of Staff, representing the Knights of Pythias, and Col. Wilson of the United States Engineers. The President's appearance was greeted with cheers. As he stood up the great crowd again broke into cheers and handclapping, which continued for several minutes, while the object of this attention removed his hat and bowed his acknowledgments. The President seated himself and waited patiently for fifteen minutes before the head of the line appeared. Then he arose, and as the Knights swept past he acknowledged the salutations of the commanding officers by bowing. The scene was a brilliant one. At the head of the line rode the members of the Citizens' committee in black clothes and silk hats, escorted by three crack militia organizations of the city. After them came Maj.-Gen. Carnahan and his staff on horseback. All the Knights were uniformed in black broadcloth frock coats, with silver buttons, red belts, and white or silver helmets with heavy scarlet plumes. Their officers were mounted and richly uniformed. Every division was headed by a band and displayed handsome banners. Maj.-Gen. Carnahan reviewed the line near the Treasury Department on its return march, and the review was not ended until after 7 o'clock. The United States Marine Band gave a concert in convention hall this evening.

Conclave of the Supreme Lodge.

The conclave of the Supreme Lodge was called to order by Supreme Chancellor W. W. Blackwell in Builders' Exchange Hall at 10 o'clock. Great secrecy was observed and the entrances were carefully guarded. The roll-call was answered by delegates from nearly every State and Territory. Supreme Chancellor Blackwell and Supreme Keeper of the Record and Seal R. L. C. White read their biennial reports.

The report of the Supreme Chancellor, W. W. Blackwell, deals with questions rising from what he terms an organized rebellion of certain persons who have persisted in publishing and using a German translation of the ritual of the order despite the refusal of the Supreme Lodge to permit such translations. The Supreme Chancellor makes a strong plea for Americanizing the order. He gives the following as the statistics of membership of the order according to unofficial reports to July 1, 1894: Grand lodges, 54; subordinate lodges, 6,262; total number of members, 465,741, a net increase of 72,025 members during the last two years. The financial condition of the order is, he states, most satisfactory, notwithstanding the failure of the former Supreme Master of Exchequer. The Supreme Chancellor said in substance:

No small amount of friction has been engendered during the last two years, growing out of the action of the Kansas City session, dissolving all connection heretofore nominally recognized as existing between the Pythian Sisters and the Supreme Lodge, and thereby bringing this institution under the ban of proscription through the adoption of a new ritual. A part of my duty has been to rule that no Knight of Pythias could legally join the order of Pythian Sisters or any other institution using any part of our name and not under control of the Supreme Lodge. This decision had engendered much feeling and some of our so-called Pythian papers and even members of high standing have publicly insisted that the decision be ignored. The Pythian Sisters themselves have taken this matter up, and my correspondence has been multiplied many times endeavoring to pacify their ruffled feelings, with but very slight, if any, success. My opinion is we can best guard our interests by permitting the edict of Kansas City to stand; but, in view of the fact that the Supreme Lodge, at its Cincinnati session in 1888, granted the present organization of Pythian Sisters the right to use the name of our order, and nominally to take in our members if they wished, I am of the opinion we are in honor bound to lift the ban so far as our present obligations proscribe the Pythian Sisters, and permit our membership to join if they desire so to do. This can be done by special edict, making an exception so far as the operation of the law may affect them and let it stand as to all other organizations.

The German Question.

Under the head of the German question, it becomes my duty to record a list of facts, a series of acts, and an experience in the attempt to handle an element in our membership whose chief delight seems to have rested in the desire to stir up as much discord, confusion, and disloyalty as possible. With the publication of the fact that the Supreme Lodge had, at its Kansas City session, refused to permit the translation of the new ritual into any foreign language, commenced a system of opposition, particularly on the part of our German membership, which at first took form in the shape of protests, later in expressions of disloyalty and secession, and finally culminated in such a dishonorable disregard of assumed obligation as to take shape in an organized rebellion, having for its main object the riding down of all law, rule, or regulation set for government, and exhibiting the spirit of determination to "rule or ruin." As an organization, we are now brought face to face with the fact that a minority element in our membership are in open rebellion. Immediately following the close of the Kansas City session the German lodges commenced pouring into my office a series of protests It was claimed the German membership in our order numbered 75,000 to 100,000, and that if they seceded in a body, as was probable, the prediction was ventured that it would destroy the order. My investigation demonstrated the membership in German lodges, all told, does not exceed 13,000 men at this time. Another claim set up was the "utter inability of the German lodges to use the English language." My investigation has demonstrated that it is not a question of inability, but a hard-headed and determined "don't want to." This feeling finally culminated in a call for the representatives of all German lodges in the order to meet in revolutionary convention for the purpose of organizing and defying the authorities. A meeting was held in Indianapolis, Ind., June 12 and 13, 1893.

"Every single participant in that Indianapolis meeting," says the Supreme Chancellor, "was reeking with treason and guilty of a malicious and fully conceived falsehood and no one was better acquainted with these facts than Past Supreme Representative Henry Wellenvoss of Kentucky. I take the broad ground that the English language is a language of necessity in the United States and Canada, and that a reasonable knowledge and understanding of the same is a necessary adjunct to good citizenship, and that no man is a good enough citizen to become a member of the order in this country until he does understand our language."

Under the title of disloyal Past Grand Chancellors I wish to refer you to Charles T. Loehr, Richmond, Va.; Henry Wellenvoss, Louisville, Ky.; and Fred Buchmann, Chicago. I charge each with having aided, abetted, and, by their conduct and presence, with having encouraged the German insubordinates to greater acts of disloyalty, and, in so doing, of having violated every principle of honor in connection with these higher obligations, thereby proving themselves totally unworthy of the high honors heretofore conferred. Believing that an example should be made of these disloyal members that it may stand as an object lesson, I am constrained to ask that steps be at once taken looking to the expulsion or suspension of these three individuals from further membership in the Supreme Lodge.

Saloonkeepers and Bartenders.

Some years ago this body granted permission to the grand lodges to locally legislate as they might desire upon the saloon element question and the eligibility of owners and tenders thereof to membership in our order. Under this permission several grand lodges have since declared saloonkeepers the bartenders ineligible to membership. The grand lodges which have taken hold of this question and legislated to exclude this doubtful material have not only succeeded in securing the best material, but they also stand as the most active and progressive among the grand jurisdictions. So strongly am I convinced that the step is one in the interest of law, order, morality, respectability, better citizenship, and a higher knighthood, that I am constrained to conclude that the time has come when we, as a great fraternity, should put aside policy, expediency, or any other question of doubt that may stand in the way and declare ourselves the leaders of reform by manfully facing this important question and declaring that no saloonkeeper, bartender, or professional gambler shall hereafter be considered as eligible to apply for membership in any lodge of this order.

The Supreme Chancellor recommends that suitable provision be made for erecting a monument over the grave of the founder of the order, Justus H. Rathbone, in Forest Hill Cemetery, Utica, N. Y.

The report of the Supreme Keeper of Records and Seal, R. L. C. White, says:

Dec. 31, 1893, the total amount in the treasuries of the Grand Lodges was $190,899.10, and the amount in those of the subordinate lodges was $1,883,443.58. The total amount of the assets of subordinate lodges at the same date was $7,068,054.47. The amount disbursed for relief by subordinate lodges during the year 1893 was $1,205,135.98, while for the two years 1892 and 1893 it was $2,379,374.13.

Much bitterness is already manifested regarding the application for recognition from the Order of Pythian Sisters of the World, who want to stand toward the Supreme Lodge much as the Women's Relief Corps stand toward the Grand Army. The chief element of opposition is the Pythian Sisterhood, a weak organization composed of seceders of the "Sisters." Efforts will be put forth this week to bring about a reconciliation, and unless this is accomplished it is probable that the Supreme Lodge will withhold the desired recognition until the women have ceased their quarreling and have determined to be at peace with each other and the world.

Much of the time of the Supreme Lodge will be taken up with the consideration of the new constitution, prepared by the Constitutional Commission appointed by the last convocation, with Gen. W. D. Kennedy of Chicago as Secretary; Congressman George B. Shaw of Eau Claire, Wis., as Chairman; and George B. Seay of Gallatin, Tenn.; John H. Alexander of Leesburg, Va.; W. A. Radcliffe of Henderson, Ky.; and M. C. Stevens of New York as active members. The report will recommend sweeping changes and a complete revision of the constitution. The titles of the officers will be changed, and they will be designated simply as President, Secretary, etc. The new constitution is an application, as far as possible, of the simplicity of the United States Government to a secret organization. The executive power is in the President, the Senate will be the governing power, and there will be a tribunal of judges. It will also be recommended that members in arrears for non-payment of dues, instead of being suspended or expelled, shall be transferred to a separate class to be called the non-beneficiary members. This will give them the right to attend lodge meetings and receive the pass-word, but not to vote or receive care while sick.

At the meeting of the Supreme Lodge the Idaho delegate, J. W. Daniels, presented Supreme Chancellor Blackwell a gavel of silver and mahogany, and Delegate Walker of Montana presented him a gold and silver jewel. Indianapolis will probably be the city chosen for the next encampment.

EDISON COMPANY FIGHTS A RIVAL.

Sues the Superior Light, Heat, and Power Company for Alleged Infringements.

The Edison Electric Light company filed two suits in the United States District Court yesterday against the Superior Light, Heat, and Power company of Chicago, operating a plant for incandescent and arc lighting in the basement of Nos. 213 and 215 State street. Emil W. Ritter, President, and Emil L. Opperman, Secretary, are made defendants with the company. The suits are for alleged infringement upon the Thomas A. Edison patents for incandescent lighting and device for the distribution of lighting. The defendant company is charged with having secured a number of the patrons of the Edison company by furnishing them with light at less cost than does the Edison company. Attached to the bill is an exhibit reviewing a similar suit against infringers on the patents decided in favor of the Edison company by the Circuit Court of Appeals of the United States. Similar suits have been begun by the Edison company all over the country where rival companies are furnishing incandescent lights.

Court Notes.

The will of Daniel Booth was probated yesterday by the executors, Daniel Booth Jr. and Charles Booth. The personal estate is valued at $17,000 and real estate at $170,000.

Judge Hanecy yesterday enjoined the Calumet Electric Street railway from building a track on Ninety-fifth street from South Chicago avenue to Avenue K. Douglas S. Taylor claims the requisite consent of the property-owners was not obtained.

Judge Hanecy yesterday allowed eighty-five stockholders in the Mississippi Valley Homestead and Loan company to file an intervening petition in the quo warranto proceedings brought by the Attorney-General. Reorganization is sought and the revocation of the charter, it is urged, would inflict a hardship on innocent stockholders.
